Committee Will Only Take Cognizance of Wilson's Views—Secretary and He Differ.

BRYAN IS FOR FREE WOOL

While Wilson Is for a 20 Per Cent. Duty—Drafting of Bills Proceeds —Rate Cuts Likely.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—William J. Bryan, the new Secretary of State, will not be permitted to advise Congress relative to the provisions of the tariff bills that are to be enacted at the approaching extra session of Congress. Any advice that the Democratic leaders of the House want on this subject will be sought from the White House and not from Col. Bryan.

The statement is made that the reason for this is that the President and his Secretary of State are not in complete harmony on the tariff. Col. Bryan has been for free wool, and is for it now, according to advices reaching the Ways and Means Committee. He has asserted his position several times. From a member of the Ways and Means Committee came to-day the statement that the bill to be reported by that committee to the Democratic caucus will not place wool on the free list. Representative Oscar W. Underwood, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and President Wilson are represented as being in accord on this subject Consequently, it is asserted, Col. Bryan will have to accept what they decide, unless he swings around to an agreement as to a duty on wool.

In the second session of the Sixty-second Congress Chairman Underwood reported a bill to the House, fixing the duty on raw wool at 20 per cent. ad valorem. Before that bill passed the House President Wilson, then Governor of New Jersey, was in Washington, and, at a luncheon attended by several prominent Democratic members of Congress, expressed his approval of the bill. Before he left Washington Mr. Wilson made a public statement, in which he endorsed the rate of 20 per cent on raw wool.

Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania was present at this luncheon, as was also William Hughes of New Jersey, now a member of the United States Senate, and then a member of the Ways and Means Committee. It is now related that the question as to whether raw wool should be placed on the free list, in accordance with the views of Mr. Bryan, or whether it should remain dutiable at a reduced rate was fully discussed at that luncheon. After this discussion Mr. Wilson came out publicly in favor of a duty on wool.

It is stated to-night that in view of these circumstances the bill for the revision of Schedule K will be practically the same as that which was proposed by the Democrats at the last Congress, and it is expected to have the support of President Wilson. A Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee, who would not allow himself to be quoted, said to-night:

"No matter what the views of Mr. Bryan may be as respects the duty on wool, President Wilson has given this opinion and it agrees fully with that of Chairman Underwood. Do you think under the circumstances that Bryan will attempt to interfere with the programme of Congress on the wool tariff?"

There is widespread curiosity as to whether Secretary Bryan will attempt to influence the Ways and Means Committee in the framing of the tariff bills or whether he will devote himself exclusively to the duties of his position. From conversations with members of the Ways and Means Committee it seems to be their purpose not to consult Mr. Bryan, but direct their efforts to framing of bills that will stand the test of Republican criticism and command the support of President Wilson.

At Work On the Bills.

The Ways and Means Committee is in daily session getting the drafts of the tariff bills ready for consideration by Democratic caucuses to be held as soon as the bills are ready. The bills have been split up into sections so that each member of the committee may have charge of a particular schedule. Chairman Underwood has charge of Schedule K, which covers wool and its manufactures. Schedule A, which includes chemicals, oils, and paints, is in charge of Representative Francis Burton Harrison of New York, who handled the chemical bill in the last Congress. Representative Lincoln Dixon of Indiana has charge of Schedule B, dealing with earthenware and glassware. The steel and metal schedule (C) is again in charge of Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania. Representative Claude Kitchen of North Carolina is handling Schedule D, dealing with wood, lumber, and its manufactures. Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois has charge of Schedule F, covering tobacco, and Schedule G, which comprises agricultural products and provisions. Representative Cordell Hull of Tennessee has charge of Schedule L, dealing with silk and its manufactures, and Mr. Hull is also working on the proposed income tax bill. Representative Andrew J. Peters of Massachusetts is handling Schedule J, dealing with hemp, jute, and flax. Representative W. S. Hammond of Minnesota is in scharge of Schedule M, dealing with wood pulp, paper, and books. Chairman Underwood and Representative Shackleford are handling Schedule N, which includes sundries. Representative Underwood has general supervision over the sugar and other schedules, the free list, and administrative features of the tariff law.

While the committee is not disclosing details as to the progress of its meetings, members interested in various schedules are obtaining a line on some of the rates likely to be proposed. Sugar, it is understood, will again be placed on the free list in the bill to be submitted to the

CUBA VALUES OUR GOOD WILL

Can't Afford to Lose It, Says Island Press, Discussing Gomez's Veto.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, March 10.—The distinctly Cuban newspapers, especially La Discusion and El Dia, in utterances to-day regarding the attiture of the United States to the amnesty bill, although belonging to the political party opposing President Gomez, declare that he considered Cuba's best interests when he vetoed the measure, because the friendship of the United States should not be lost under any circumstanes. La Discusion, the organ of the Conservatives, says:

"In reality it is foolish to view with indifference, from the Cuban viewpoint, any possibility of coolness of relations with the great northern Republic. In treating of a law susceptible of change along lines indicated by the United States, the President's veto is reasonable."

El Dia, another conservative newspaper, comments somewhat sarcastically about Mr. Bryan's professed friendship to Cuba, so often avowed, but ends by saying:

"Cuba cannot under any circumstances allow strained relations between the United States and Cuba."

The sensational press takes an opposite stand, asserting that the United States was determined to wrest the last vestige of Cuba's sovereignty from her. The Spanish newspapers encourage this view, as usual, taunting Cubans that they have not a republic and charging that Americans only wish to exploit them, notwithstanding their humanitarian claims. The newspaper Cuba, Spanish-owned, which recently attacked Mr. Beaupre, is specially vicious toward the United States.

BEG FOR PARCEL POST DOG.

Postal Clerk Who Saved It Gets Letters from All Over Country.

Special to the New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., March 10.—John Keenan, the Post Office clerk who saved a fox terrier from the dog catcher last week by pasting a parcel post stamp upon his collar, is now in trouble over his exploit.

Keenan's trouble isn't with the postal authorities or the dog catcher, but with well-meaning correspondents who are begging him to send the dog to them through the mails. One Buffalo believer in the efficacy of parcel post offered to remit $25 to Keenan upon the arrival of the dog at the Buffalo Post Office.

Miss Billie Brown of Paris, Texas, wants the dog shipped to her. Here's her letter:

> Dear Mr. Keenan: You no doubt will be very much surprised to hear from one so far away, but just read on and you will see. Don't think me forward or that you are about to receive a proposal to marry, for you are not. Being very fond of dogs I am writing to ask if you won't send the dog you saved by a parcel post stamp to me. I will assure you it will find a good home and be known as a licensed dog. If you approve, please send "Pun" to me.

Keenan said to-night he didn't know which one of the numerous bidders for his dog would eventually get it. He said he was quite fond of it and might decide to disappoint everybody but himself.

"MOTHER JONES" DEFIANT.

Miners' Leader, on Trial for Murder Conspiracy, Doesn't Fear Death.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLESTON, West Va., March 10.—"Mother" Jones, who for many years has been leading the industrial battles of the West Virginia miners, is on trial for her life before a military court, charged with conspiracy to murder. If she is convicted she will be subject to the death penalty by shooting. "Mother" Jones says she would not mind. She is making no defense.

"I am 80 years old and I haven't long to live, anyhow," she said. "Since I have to die, I would rather die for the cause to which I have given so much of my life. My death would call the attention of the whole United States to conditions in West Virginia. It would be worth while for that reason. I fear, though, that I shall not be executed."

She made fiery speeches which, it is charged, kindled the courage of striking miners so that they fought with mine guards, a number of whom were killed. She has rejected offers of amnesty made conditional on her leaving West Virginia.

"Mother" Jones is a prisoner in the martial law camp twenty miles from this city, being kept in a private residence under the constant guard of a trooper.

The Military Commission is also trying forty-eight other persons. The main testimony to-day was that guards from a private detective agency, armed with rifles and machine guns, evicted miners from their homes.

RULES FOR HAPPY MARRIAGE.

About to Wed, Divorce Proctor Profits by Others' Mistakes.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 10.—Profiting by his two years' experience as Divorce Proctor, W. W. Wright, who is to be married on April 16, will follow these rules to insure a happy married life:

Continue to court his wife after marriage.

Occasionally take her flowers and candy.

Remember, that the little things which the ordinary man thinks of slight importance, mean much to a woman's happiness.

Spend all his evenings at home and never leave his wife alone, unless business compels absence.

Start the fire in the morning.

Never talk in jest about other women caring for him.

Try not to arouse his wife's jealousy.

Convince her that every bit of his affection is centred in her.

"My observation has been that clothing and food count for little with the right kind of woman, if a husband displays the proper amount of affection and is considerate of her feelings and wishes," Mr. Wright said to-day.

"A man who thinks of the little things that women prize so much in everyday life need never fear that a mother-in-law will come between them."

Mr. Wright and Madaline MacQueen will be married at Salina, Kan.

Three-Year-Old Bronx Boy Beats Many Politicians at This.

After hunting through the Bronx yesterday for three-year-old Edgar Joyce, Jr., who had wandered away from the back yard of his parents' home at 1,971 Clinton Avenue, friends of the little boy's father turned their attention to Manhattan, and at nightfall, after the three-year-older had been missing for ten hours he was picked up, dirty and hungry, in front of Tammany Hall in Fourteenth Street. How the boy got so far puzzled both the police and his parents. All he would say after he had his dinner and was taken home and bathed was that he had a ride on "the choo-choo cars."

NO BACKWARD STEPS IN MEXICAN POLICY

Wilson Administration to Keep Ships and Troops on Guard.

HOPES TO AVOID CONFLICT

Secretary Garrison Plans to Minimize Border Troubles by Establishing Camps Further Back.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The policy of the Wilson Administration in regard to the use of the army and navy in or near Mexico has been made clear in statements by the new Secretary of the Navy and the new Secretary of War. The battleships now at Mexican ports will remain there indefinitely, and there is no intention to order the troops now concentrated on the international boundary back to their posts. In fact, the policy of the United States toward Mexico will remain precisely the same, so far as the show of the strong hand is concerned, as it was under President Taft.

If at any time there had been any other purpose cherished by President Wilson or any of his advisers, their responsibility to public sentiment and to the business interests of the country, it was explained to-day, would have quickly convinced them of the wisdom of continuing the same attitude toward Mexico as the Taft Administration. The Secretary of War has made it his first business to become acquainted with all the details of the problems connected with the maintenance of order along the boundary and the difficulties in the way of enforcing the neutrality laws. He realizes the importance of keeping the troops now employed in patrolling the boundary in their present stations.

Secretary Garrison has, however, sent an order to Major Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, who is in command of the Southern Department, which embraces the entire Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona districts abutting on Mexico, to make a personal inspection of the frontier and report as to the advisability of drawing the United States troops back a reasonable distance at any point, so as to avoid any possibility of a clash with Mexican troops through some slight incident, such as recently occurred at one or two points. Secretary Garrison has left to Gen. Bliss's discretion the selection of places where the troops should be kept stationed close to Mexican territory, but at all others the plan is to move them back so as to avoid brawls.

It is believed that the neutrality laws can be as well enforced with the troops withdrawn some distance from the border, and that the protection of American life and property will not thereby be neglected.

Of late the efforts to get arms and ammunition from this country into Mexico have stopped. There is now an expectation that the friends of the late President Madero may undertake to foster another revolution, and that the attempts to violate the neutrality laws will begin in force before long.

WHO WROTE WILSON EULOGY?

Col. Bryan Signed Mexican Dispatch, but Certainly Didn't Read It.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—There is a mystery in the State Department, a mystery that had its inception in the first few days of William J. Bryan's administration of the international relations of the United States. It pertains to a dispatch sent to Henry Lane Wilson, the American Ambassador to Mexico, which was signed with Col. Bryan's name. This telegraphic message commended Ambassador Wilson and the Embassy staff for the manner in which they had looked after American affairs during the recent critical period in the City of Mexico.

A Washington dispatch printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES last Saturday told of this dispatch and of the failure of the efforts to obtain details in regard to it. To-day it was ascertained that such a dispatch had actually been signed by Col. Bryan and telegraphed to Ambassador Wilson. But Col. Bryan apparently was unaware that he had transmitted such a laudatory message to the American representative at Mexico City, and since he learned that it had gone southward over the wires he has been trying to find out how the thing happened. For presumably—in fact almost certainly—Secretary Bryan does not approve of the eulogistic terms in which the message sent over his signature was couched.

No question of forgery or anything like that is involved in the matter. There appears to be no doubt that Secretary Bryan wrote his name at the foot of the telegram, and that the telegram was not changed before it was placed on the wires. There is just as little doubt that Col. Bryan failed to read the message which made him the eulogist of the Ambassador. The vital question at the State Department just now, a question of more pressing importance than the Mexican situation itself, is: Did somebody "put one over" on the new Secretary of State? This is not the language of diplomacy, but is how the query has been phrased.

Why did not Col. Bryan read the message before he signed it? Was its importance called to his attention? The answer to the first question is that the Secretary of State has to sign hundreds of papers every day, and that only those that are of consequence are indicated so that he may read them before giving his approval to them through attaching his signature. The answer to the second question has not been given. It is said that even Col. Bryan has not been able to satisfy himself on this point.

Col. Bryan to-day refused to discuss the commendatory message to Ambassador Wilson. He said he had not a word to say as to the authenticity of what purported to be the text of the message which had been given out by Mr. Wilson in the City of Mexico and telegraphed from there to the United States.

REVOLT AS HUERTA SEES IT.

Carranza Fleeing, Maytorena Losing Ground, Orozco Coming In.

MEXICO CITY, March 10.—Federal troops are in possession of Monclova, which was occupied a few days ago by the rebel Gov. Venustiano Carranza, the latter moving eastward. He has 500 men, and is apparently headed for Lampasas. Another Federal detachment is proceeding northward from Monterey.

After his defeat near Reata on Saturday Carranza escaped to Monclova with a part of his forces, the others taking to the hills. Federal pursuit was slow, owing to the necessity of repairing bridges burned by the retreating rebels.

The revolt of Maytorena, former Governor of Sonora, according to official report, is not meeting popular support. An

GIVES HIS BLOOD TO SAVE HIS ENEMY

J. J. Lynch Forgets His Feud with Thomas Morris on Hearing He Is Dying of Anaemia.

HAD BEEN FRIENDS ONCE

Business Rivalry Had Separated Them—Lie Side by Side While Contractor Gives Morris Renewed Life.

It was years ago that business differences destroyed the friendship of Thomas Morris, Jr., owner of the Morris Iron Works in Yonkers, and James J. Lynch, Sr., of the contracting firm of Lynch and Larkin in the same town. Mr. Morris was active in obtaining contracts for George T. Kelly, the business rival of Lynch & Larkin, and that Kelly also was an old friend of Morris, did not excuse in Mr. Lynch's mind what he termed his friend's treachery.

From close friends they passed to enemies, feeling so bitter toward each other that they did not speak, though both were members of the Yonkers Lodge of Elks. They avoided each other when this was possible, and when circumstances threw them together they acted as though each were a stranger to the other.

Friends strove to reconcile the men, but as the years passed their bitterness increased, if anything, and long ago their families, relatives, and friends realized that their efforts were futile. They abandoned them then, and for years the name of one man had seldom been mentioned in the hearing of the other.

But recently the name of Mr. Morris was mentioned even in the presence of Mr. Lynch. The ironmaster's health had failed, and it began to be said that he was dying. He suffered from anaemia, and nothing his physicians did seemed to help him. He sank daily, and his friends began to lose hope of his recovery. Mr. Lynch did not show by a single word that he realized the desperate case of his one-time friend or that he felt for him in his danger. Even the statement that Mr. Morris was dying, that even his doctors had abandoned every hope except that of blood transfusion, apparently did not move the contractor.

But Sunday, after mass at St. Mary's Church, Mr. Lynch did not return to his home at 68 Hawthorne Avenue. Instead he walked to the home of Mr. Morris, at 73 Buena Vista Avenue. Mr. Lynch is athletic and was in fine physical condition. His arrival at the house surprised the servant who opened the door so that she was scarcely able to announce him. Mr. Morris's family knew, though, that Mr. Lynch had determined to supply the blood which his old friend needed, and Mr. Lynch waited in the dining room of the Morris home until Dr. E. I. Harrington and Dr. Edward Duffy arrived. Then he accompanied them to the sick room.

Mr. Morris's surprise was written on his face when Mr. Lynch entered the room. He was too weak to express his feelings, and there could be no greeting between the men. Mr. Lynch disrobed by the doctors' orders and lay on the bed beside Mr. Morris. Then the physicians opened an artery in Mr. Lynch' wrist and connected it with an incision in Mr. Morris's side opposite the elbow. Neither was under the influence of an anaesthetic.

As his own blood flowed into the veins of his former enemy, Mr. Lynch watched eagerly to see its effect on Mr. Morris. The latter seemed to improve almost instantly. The physicians said a better subject than Mr. Lynch could not have been found, and his sound, healthy blood acted like a tonic on the sick man.

Mr. Lynch, though weakened by the loss of the blood which he gave, sustained the ordeal well. He was advised to stay at the Morris home all night, but after resting for an hour after the operation he announced that he was quite strong enough to go to his own home and proceeded to do so.

At the Morris home, the encouraged physicians held out high hopes of their patient's recovery. Whereas, they had felt almost no hope three days ago they said last night that Mr. Morris probably would get well.

PASSES 'PHONE BILL.

Assembly Adopts Measure Providing 5-Cent Calls for New York.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 10.—The Assembly, after a lively debate, passed the Larrimer bill providing for a 5-cent rate for any telephone conversation of five minutes between any two points in New York City. The measure was opposed by Mr. Hinman, minority leader, on the ground that it was a matter for the Public Service Commission to investigate.

"The Public Service Commission said that it would require fifteen years to appraise the New York Telephone Company's property with a view of determining what rate it should have a right to charge," said Mr. Leon, the majority leader. "After such a confession on the part of that body it becomes the imperative duty of this Legislature to give the people relief. Let the company take the matter into the courts if it is not satisfied."

The bill has not yet passed the Senate.

SUFFRAGETTES TRY TO REACH THE KING

Five Women Arrested for Attempting to Present Petitions During Progress to Westminster.

BURN TWO RAILWAY STATIONS

New Buildings Near London Destroyed—Elaborate Precautions at the Opening of Parliament.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 10.—The militant suffragettes were on the rampage again to-day. Five of them attempted to present petitions to King George during his progress through the Mall to open Parliament. Others set fire to two small railway stations in the neighborhood of London.

Mrs. Pankhurst in a speech delivered at the Pavilion Theatre this afternoon said that the women who tried to present petitions to the King had no intention of insulting his Majesty, and that their action was perfectly constitutional. Miss Annie Kenney also referred to the matter, announcing that the women who tried to present petitions had been arrested.

The affair caused considerable excitement. Five women, the Misses Dorothy Smith, Kathleen Paget, Gertrude Vaughan, and Grace Stuart, and Mrs. Lilian Dove Wilcox, each armed with a petition rolled up and decorated with the suffragist colors, took up positions in the Mall opposite St. James's Palace. Just as the royal carriage reached the spot they broke through the double rank of soldiers and police. Three of them were caught and held back, but two managed to get close to the royal carriage and attempted to throw the petitions into it, but were stopped. The King and Queen turned their heads to see what was the cause of the unusual tumult, but otherwise gave no sign. A report that the King scowled at the suffragettes is semi-officially denied.

The first report of the affair was somewhat exaggerated. The procession was not delayed a moment, and stories that the crowd attempted to duck the women in the lake in St. James's Park while they were being taken to a police station are without foundation.

"Insult to the King" was a placard issued by most of the evening papers, and this phase of the matter was taken up by Mrs. Pankhurst in her speech at the London Pavilion meeting. "So strange," she said, "is public opinion, or what is called public opinion by the newspapers, that we find that in adopting a perfectly constitutional action we are said to be insulting the King." At this there were cries of "Shame!" and "Rubbish!" Mrs. Pankhurst went on:

"All through the history of this country it has been shown that from time to time persons suffering from grievances, either public or personal, have presented petitions to the reigning monarch, but never until 1913 has the presenting of a petition been described as an insult. [Renewed cries of "Shame!"] When women are denied their constitutional rights very strange things happen, and their actions, even when historically correct when carried out by men, are described in a most extraordinary way." (Laughter and cheers.)

The Petition to the King.

Mrs. Pankhurst read the petition which it had been desired to present to the King. It declared that the militant movement for votes for women was endangering all forms of public and private property and had brought the administration of the law into contempt. All thinking persons, it went on, were eagerly and impatiently waiting to see whether the speech from the throne would contain a promise of legislation by which the suffragists' violence and its consequences could be brought to an end.

"Votes for women," it continued, "is the only cure for militancy. The revolting and futile policy of releasing hunger-strikers and rearresting them, and again releasing them and rearresting them, would simply bring discredit upon the Ministers responsible for it. Such treatment will never break the spirit of the women, though it will very likely bring about a tragedy, for although the women cannot be defeated, they can be killed by persecution. If law and order are to be re-established in this realm, women must have votes."

Mrs. Pankhurst added that, far from the petition being an insult, it was a serious, conscientious attempt to make it clear to Parliament through his Majesty that the only way to remove discontent, widespread and deep-rooted, when that discontent was founded on injustice, was to remove the injustice that caused the discontent. For presenting this petition, she said, five women had been arrested. (Cries of "Shame!") An attempt was being made by members of the Government and other interested politicians to draw the King and Queen into the quarrel that the women had with the Government.

Miss Annie Kenney made a racy speech. Among her best sallies were the statement that, while the public and the press were making up their minds that they did not know what to do with the suffragettes, the latter were thinking of what they were going to do with the Cabinet Ministers. If the Government passed a coercion bill, they had

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Senator Tillman of South Carolina expressed his views to-day on the patronage question. When he was asked about the work of the caucus and patronage matters, Mr. Tillman said:

"It reminds me of the scriptural quotation: 'The wild asses of the desert are athirst and hungry; they have broken into the green corn.'"

Senator Tillman, when he was requested to make a prophesy on the result, responded:

Republicans and Democrats Divide Honors in Municipal Contests.

PORTLAND, Me., March 10.—Republicans and Democrats divided honors evenly in five municipal elections in Maine to-day.

In Bangor, F. O. Beal, Republican, defeated Mayor Charles W. Mullen, Democrat. The Republicans had no opposition in Brewer, where Frank H. Nickerson was chosen as Mayor. The Democrats re-elected Mayor Edgar F. Hanson in Belfast, and chose James S. G. Smith as Mayor in Biddeford.

In Augusta another election will have to be held because E. S. Newbert, Democrat, who polled the highest number of votes in a three-cornered contest, failed to get a majority.

James Dorey Asked Permission of Policeman Before Going There.

"It's a bad evening, Officer. Would there be any objection to my sitting a while in the bandstand?" said a man in Battery Park last evening to Policeman McGinnis of the Greenwich Street station. McGinnis told him to go ahead. Presently the policeman heard a shot and ran to the bandstand. There lay the man who had accosted him shortly before He had a bullet wound over the right ear and a revolver lay beside him.

Dr. McPheeters took the man to the Hudson Street Hospital, dangerously wounded. He said he was James Dorey, a fish dealer of 408 Eighth Street, Newark, N. J., and when the doctor asked why he had shot himself he said he hadn't, that the shooting had been an accident.

METUCHEN, N. J., March 10.—Although 2,400 volts of electricity passed through his body this morning, John Whittis of New Brunswick lives to tell the tale. In fact, after a visit to the office of a physician he was able to walk up and down the station platform and complain because his train was late.

Whittis is a carpenter, and with several others was at work on the Main Street Bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad here when the accident happened. He grasped a live electric cable and it took the combined strength of three men to release him. Great holes were burned in his flesh, and for a time one side of his body was paralyzed, but he will recover.

San Francisco Police Say Thief with $50,000 Loot is Scapegrace Heir.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—The police have identified the burglar known as Frank Dale, who was captured through the bravery of Mrs. Sherman, whose house he ransacked. They found he had registered at the fashionable St. Francis Hotel as Owen Conn, and that he had occupied expensive rooms there for several weeks. In these rooms they found plunder worth $50,000.

They refuse to reveal his real name, but say he is either the scapegrace son of a Western millionaire or the son of a State Senator.

The police say Dale admits having committed one hundred burglaries here and in the East. They also add with an air of mystery that when his identity is announced it will cause a nation-wide sensation.

Ex-Policeman's Testimony Before Grand Jury Expected to Indict Murtha, Hussey, and Thompson.

By the confessions to District Attorney Whitman yesterday of two new graft witnesses, Inspector Murtha, Capts. Hussey and Thompson, both ex-Inspectors; a dozen other Captains, and a score of wardmen and patrolmen have become involved in the police scandal as the collectors and sharers in money paid by gamblers, disorderly resort keepers, and crooked saloon men for police protection.

One of the new witnesses was Mrs. Rosie Hertz, who was convicted several weeks ago of having rented premises for disorderly purposes. She appealed, and her appeal was denied on Friday. Preparations were being made to send her to the penitentiary to serve a year's sentence when she sent word to Mr. Whitman that she would like to see him. Yesterday she was with Mr. Whitman for nearly two hours, and told a story of twenty years of graft paying, of $20,000 wrung from her by blackmailers in eight months, and of $12,000 paid recently through the sacrifice of her jewelry. Jack Sullivan, in the Tombs since July under indictment for the killing of Herman Rosenthal, is accused by her as having received some of this money under misrepresentations.

Her story also implicates some of the employes in the Tombs, an ex-member of Assembly, and a number of politicians. Her story is weak only in the sense that some of the things she told about occurred more than five years ago, so that the statute of limitations prevents criminal prosecutions. In these cases all the evidence gathered will be turned over to the Police Department for action.

The other witness was James E. Wrenn, the retired policeman, who testified before the Grand Jury. His story of graft collecting covers a period of years in the Sixth Inspection District, when that district was under the command of Sweeney, Thompson, Hussey and Murtha.

Wrenn said that his profits were more than $4,000 a year. Indictments against Murtha, Hussey, and Thompson are expected this week.

Capt. Walsh went to Far Rockaway to ask Capt. George Walden, an official of the Inspectors and Captains' Association, why the check he had sent for dues was returned to him. Two process servers went with him. While in the station house Walsh was bitterly reviled by a number of patrolmen, a proceeding which the Lieutenant in charge did nothing to check. Capt. Walden said his standing in the association would have to be settled by the members. The fact seems to be that Walsh was expelled because of his confession to Mr. Whitman.

Senator Wagner, before he left the city for Albany yesterday, said that in all probability the recommendations made in the preliminary report of the Curran Committee would be accepted by the legislative committee.

MRS. HERTZ CONFESSES.

Tells Whitman of 20 Years of Graft Paying—$20,000 in Eight Months.

When Rosie Hertz appeared before Mr. Whitman yesterday morning she was a much changed woman. For thirty years she has lived a disorderly life, first as a white slave and then for twenty years as a keeper of resorts. She had been led to believe that she would not be convicted of the crime of renting property for disorderly purposes, and that all she had to do was to pay the price demanded for bribing Mr. Whitman's assistants and the Judges of Special Sessions and the Justices of the Supreme Court.

Jacob Reich, or Jack Sullivan, as he is known, who is in the Tombs under indictment for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was permitted frequent and uninterrupted communication with her. How this happened Mr. Whitman intends to inquire into and to punish those found guilty of placing the woman at Sullivan's mercy. The denial by Justice Lehman of her appeal on Friday divested Mrs. Hertz of all hope of escape. She despaired. But even then word came to her that she would be better off if she accepted the punishment silently.

She was told that if she "squealed" she would be driven out of the city and that she would never again be allowed to live here. But if she kept her mouth shut, she was assured, all would be well with her. She said that Jack Sullivan told her that he would be at liberty within two weeks, and that he would then procure her discharge from the penitentiary. Asked if she had paid any money for the promised service, Mrs. Hertz replied:

"Within eight months it has cost me $20,000. During the last few months I have paid $12,000. I did not have the money, so I pawned my jewels, all the jewels I had. See, here are the pawn tickets."

$12,000 in Pawntickets.

She took out of her reticule a handful of pawntickets and showed them to Mr. Whitman. He ran over them. They represented precious stones and expensive trinkets of every character. The total sum represented nearly $12,000. Besides this she had scraped together $8,000 in cash. Mrs. Hertz did not pretend to be poor even now. She said she had some real estate. Those who knew her best said that she was worth several hundred thousand dollars.

Asked to whom she had paid this money, she mentioned the name of a prominent east side politician, who also acted as the counsel for an association of disorderly resort keepers. Asked to give the names of the men to whom she had paid protection money during the years she ran resorts, she told a story that, pieced together, ran like this:

"Times were different twenty years ago, when I first began keeping resorts. Then I had to see the Captains or somebody on the outside who was not connected with the police at all. These persons had to get a lot for themselves, and, of course, I had to pay them. Of late years there has been a better system. We only had to deal with the wardmen. They would fix the price, and we paid it and we were let alone. I was never disturbed until lately. I never had anything to do with anybody else."

Asked to give the names of as many of the wardmen and patrolmen as she could remember, she proved that her memory was good by running over the names of a score of them. She also mentioned the names of a dozen Captains for whom the wardmen said they were collectors. She explained that she never ran any resorts further north than Fourteenth Street, east of Third Avenue, and seldom south of Grand Street. All of this section is comprised within the boundaries of the First Inspection District. Mr. Whitman at once set men to work to discover the names of all the Captains and wardmen assigned to this district within the last five years. He cannot go further back than this with any criminal prosecution, for the statute of limitations would intervene. Information concerning the misdoings of policemen before this period that he can gather will be sent to Commissioner Waldo for police action.

Was Told She Would Go Free.

"I had as many as nine resorts at one time," said Mrs. Hertz, "but I had only two when I was arrested. I did not think anything would happen to me, for I had been told that all I would have to do would be to keep quiet, and that I would then get out of trouble all right. But when I found I had to go to the penitentiary for a year my husband, Jacob, came to me and told me I had been double-crossed. He said that the large amount of money I had paid was robbery, and that I must tell all.

"I didn't want to tell, for I was afraid that I would be hurt in some way. Threats had come to me in the Tombs, and I believed they would be carried out, but I don't believe so now, for I don't believe the men who threatened me have any power. They robbed me; that was all they could do."

Mrs. Hertz cried silently for some minutes. Mr. Whitman let her weep. When she had composed herself he chided her for not coming to him before. Then he asked her if she ever had any dealings with politicians. When Mr. Whitman was asked what her reply was to this question he asked to be excused from answering further than to say that when the whole story became known it would be shown that politics played a big part in the protection of her resorts, and that all the money she paid did not go to the police.

She showed Mr. Whitman a letter written in Hebrew, which she said had been sent to her by Jack Sullivan, and which referred to political influence he could bring to her aid providing she kept her mouth shut. She said the letter had been handed to her Sunday night. She also told Mr. Whitman who brought it to her cell. In reply to further questions, Mrs. Hertz said that she had believed politics would serve her, because once when one of her resorts was raided and a policeman stationed in front of the door, she employed a lawyer with political influence and Mayor Gaynor, who was then a Supreme Court Justice, compelled the policeman to go away.

Names Other Resort Keepers.

She gave Mr. Whitman the name of this lawyer, who is now a City Magistrate. Then she told the names of a number of other well-known men who had served her at one time or another, sometimes as counsel and sometimes as an intermediary between her and the police when any friction arose. It was said that she mentioned the name of Max Hochstim as one of the intermediaries. Mr. Whitman asked her to give him the names of as many other keepers of disorderly resorts as she knew. She readily complied, and ran over a dozen names of men and women, all of whom she said had been paying the police for protection. Also she furnished the addresses of them. The moment Mr. Whitman had these he sent men out to find the persons and to order them to call upon him.

When she left the office to go back to her cell in the Tombs she was weeping loudly and was shaking with fear. She asserted that she was afraid to go back there, and said that some harm would surely happen to her.

WRENN MADE $4,000 A YEAR.

His Confession Expected to Indict Murtha, Hussey, and Thompson.

James E. Wrenn, who was retired from the police force last December after nineteen years of service because of trouble with his eyes, confessed yesterday to collecting graft only after he had been threatened with imprisonment for contempt. But when he was finally forced to answer questions he talked freely. From his confession is expected to come within a few days the indictment of Inspector Murtha and Capts. Hussey and Thompson.

Wrenn came to Mr. Whitman apparently under the impression that he could appear before the Grand Jury, refuse to answer questions, and then be immune from punishment. He was accompanied by his lawyer, whose advice he took up to the time when the doors of the Grand Jury room closed upon him. Mr. Whitman was sure that Wrenn would talk without any trouble, but at the last moment he grew ugly and contumacious. The jurors tried to induce him to answer questions, but without avail. Mr. Whitman asked him:

"Do you know John H. Tonjes, the hotel keeper in Harlem?"

"I do," replied Wrenn promptly.

"Did he ever pay you any money for police protection?"

Wrenn refused to answer. He thought he had gained immunity, and he closed his mouth and would say no more. Mr. Whitman was furious. He had Wrenn taken before Justice Seabury. The case was explained. Justice Seabury warned Wrenn that he was in danger of going to prison if he trifled with the Grand Jury and the court.

"I order you," said the Justice, "to reply to the questions put to you. If you do not I shall surely commit you for contempt."

Wrenn's counsel explained that to answer the questions asked would incriminate his client.

"That is not so," interposed Mr. Whitman, angrily.

Wrenn Weakens Under Fire.

Then he turned to Wrenn's counsel and said he had no standing in the case because he was not supposed to know what went on in the Grand Jury room. The Grand Jurors, who had filed into the court for instructions, were then directed to retire to their room to question Wrenn again, and to report to the court if he still declined to answer the questions. But Wrenn was whipped. When he got behind the doors of the room again he was willing to talk.

He said he had collected graft in Harlem for about five years, that he got 20 per cent. on all the money collected and that his income from this source was about $4,000 a year. He explained that prior to five years ago it was not the custom to have protection money collected by the police, but by persons not connected with the department. This solved one of the mysteries that had greatly puzzled Mr. Whitman. He never could go further back in the Harlem district than five years in investigating the collection of graft. Wrenn's explanation cleared away the mystery.

Wrenn said that while he was collecting in the Sixth Inspection District the commanders had been Sweeney, Murtha, Thompson, and Hussey. Wrenn said he was the chief collector.

Police System Pursued Him.

It was also learned that the police system had been pursuing Wrenn relentlessly last week to prevent him from confessing. Large rewards were promised him if he remained silent, and terrible threats were made. He said the threats did not frighten him, but that he was opposed to saying anything to hurt men who had given him a chance to make a lot of money.

Asked if he had served for all four of the Inspectors, he replied that he had Asked if there was any change in his work when there was a change of Inspectors, he replied that his work remained about the same.

Wrenn was also asked if he knew any other collectors for the police. He replied that he did not. He said he worked alone and had nothing to do with any other confidential men of the Inspectors or the Captains.

The trapping of Wrenn was brought about by the story told Mr. Whitman by Tonjes, the hotel man, who said he regularly paid protection money to Wrenn. He furnished enough facts to insure the indictment of Wrenn, but Mr. Whitman decided that he would rather catch an Inspector than to catch a little graft collector. Tonjes gave Mr. Whitman enough information to set him on the trail of other graft collectors. Efforts to induce Wrenn to help along this line failed. Mr. Whitman did not believe Wrenn when he asserted that he knew no other collectors. If he finds that Wrenn lied about this, he will proceed against him for perjury.

When the day's work ended yesterday Mr. Whitman said that he was reasonably sure of the indictment within a few days of Murtha, Hussey, and Thompson; that he had got on the trail of a number of other crooked policemen, and that he thought he would be able to expose a strong political combination that fattened on graft through its influence with the police.

Policemen Revile Walsh.

An interesting incident of the day was the experience of Capt. Walsh, who told Assistant District Attorney Groehl that he had sent his dues as a member of the Inspectors' and Captains' Association to Capt. George Walden, in command of the Far Rockaway Station, and that the money had been returned to him. The Captain was advised to call upon Capt. Walden and ask for an explanation. Two process servers were assigned to go with the Captain, and yesterday morning the trio started on the long journey.

Capt. Walsh is still weak from his long illness, and the process servers had to support him. When they reached the station there were a number of patrolmen standing around and they began to revile the Captain. The Lieutenant in charge calmly observed the proceedings, but did nothing to stop them. If he had known that the Captain had come straight from Mr. Whitman's office and that his companions were in Mr. Whitman's employ the situation might have been different.

Capt. Walden told Walsh that the matter of his standing in the association would have to be submitted to the members, who would decide whether he was a desirable member. Information of the treatment accorded Walsh will be forwarded to Commissioner Waldo.

To-day Mr. Whitman expects a visit from Annie Grey, who kept a resort in the Tenderloin for many years, and who got rich on the proceeds. She will have to come and tell how much money she paid for police protection and to whom she paid it or face an indictment for bribery. Her husband, Robert Ullner, is expected to accompany her as her counsel.

Mr. Whitman has in his possession information to the effect that Mrs. Grey paid $250 a month to the police for many years, and that she was on intimate terms with an Inspector whose name has not yet appeared in connection with the graft revelations.

WOMEN AS CHICAGO POLICE.

For Some Cases Better Than Men, Says Mayor Harrison.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Mayor Carter H. Harrison favors a plan which would make a number of women members of the police force when it is reorganized. Several women might be employed as Inspectors, he said.

"My idea is that we should have a squad of, say, twenty or thirty policewomen," said Mayor Harrison. "I believe they would handle many matters of police work better than men do. For instance, in vice work and in investigating complaints of young women who are held in resorts they could get much better results than men."

ILLINOIS VICE BOARD APPEALS TO NATION

Investigators Coming to New York at Invitation of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

WILL SEE PRESIDENT WILSON

Conditions in Chicago Move Legislators to Advocate Federal Wage Law for Women.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 10.—The Illinois Senate Commission, which is delving into vice conditions in Chicago, continued to-day its investigation of wages paid to women and girls in the big department stores and other institutions where female labor is employed. Representatives of several of the large firms were witnesses, and almost to a man they agreed to the advisability of a minimum wage law for women.

The merchants in most instances signified their preference of a Federal rather than a State law, and practically promised to join the legislators in a joint meeting to establish a minimum wage.

The Senate committee is going to New York at the invitation of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to study wage and vice conditions there. The trip also will include a visit to Washington, where a meeting will be arranged with President Wilson in the interest of a Federal wage law for women.

The Commissoners will leave Chicago for New York on the Twentieth Century Limited train to-morrow afternoon.

Lieut. Gov. O'Hara, Chairman of the committee, has received communications from the Governors of Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio informing him that they will include in their next messages to the Legislatures a recommendation for the appointment of commissions endowed with the same plenary powers as the Illinois body.

Senator Tossey asked if Marshall Field & Co. could increase the minimum wage of women to $2 a day without advancing the prices of goods. It could be done, Simpson said, and without materially affecting the profits of the firm.

George Lytton, Vice President of The Hub, next faced the commission with his ack to the spectators. Lieut. Gov. O'Hara explained that the commission desired to ascertain the relation of low wages to immorality among women. Mr. Lytton said that it was the practice of his firm to give annual presents to its employes. The firm employs 150 women, none of whom receives less than $6.50 a week.

"Do you have to charge more for clothing than others because of higher wages?" asked Mr. O'Hara.

Favors Higher Wages.

"Oh, no."

"Do you believe it is good policy to pay good wages?"

"Certainly," replied the witness.

Mr. Lytton declined to tell what the profits of his firm were.

"It has been estimated that it costs $8 or $9 a week to maintain a young woman," said Senator Juul. "You say your minimum is $6.50. Where do they get the difference?"

"They live at home, and it comes from the parents," said Mr. Lytton.

"Then you take all of a girl's time and skill and expect her parents to help pay her wages?" pursued the Senator.

"We have been considering increasing the minimum wage to $8," said the witness. Mr. Lytton declared he had devoted much time to the wage question as it affects women, and that a woman could live on $8 a week. He promised to give an estimate of the expenses of a working girl.

"What we want," said Senator Juul, "is what she must spend. Never mind the pleasures. I suppose, when we make a law, we'll have to add a dollar or two for recreation and the like."

Aside from its gifts, The Hub has a pension fund and sick benefits. Mr. Lytton was emphatic in saying his firm could well afford a minimum of $2 a day. He said all big corporations could do so. He said, however, that an increase in the minimum wage meant an increase all along the line. The girls already getting $12 must be advanced to $15, the $15 girls to $20, and so on.

Joseph Basch, Second Vice President of Siegel Cooper & Co., said that the wages of women had nothing to do with their morality or immorality.

"I believe that immorality is a state of mind," he said. "I believe our girls are moral. I think a very small percentage of them could be persuaded to take the 'easiest way.'"

The firm employs 1,250 girls, about half of whom received $8 or less a week.

"Promotion is very rapid in the State Street Stores," Mr. Basch remarked. "The woman who comes to us this year at $6 may be earning $18 a week two years hence. The low salaries go to learners, and development is rapid. I wouldn't hire a girl under 16 years of age," he said. "She should be in school."

A minimum wage scale, he said, was a National question.

Saves 5 Cents a Week.

William C. Thorne, Vice President of Montgomery Ward & Co., a mail order house, told the commission that a girl could live on $8 a week, and placed the schedule thus: Room rent, $3; breakfast, (coffee and rolls,) 40 cents; luncheons, 90 cents; dinners, $1.40; carfare, 60 cents, and clothing and incidentals, $1.70. The figures, he said, were the actual expenditures of one of his young woman employes. Another girl in his store disbursed her wages as follows: Room and board, $3.50; laundry, 20 cents; carfare, 20 cents; clothing and incidentals, $3.80, and savings, 25 cents.

The statement fails to account for a surplus of 5 cents, but Senator Beall remarked that the girl probably spent it frivolously.

Senator Juul told Mr. Thorne that many girls had been on the stand in the secret session of the inquiry and testified to having gone astray because they could not make a living otherwise.

"We want you merchants to jump in and help us stop that sort of thing," said the Senator. "I tell you its an awful situation—"

"Oh, yes, but for the most part I don't believe those yarns," interrupted Mr. Thorne.

The earnings of Montgomery Ward & Co. for the last fiscal year were $2,370,000, Mr. Thorne said. Senator Juul produced figures to show that the expenditure of $75,000 more a year would increase the salaries of the $5, $6, and $7 girls to $10, and asked the witness if he did not think the money might be well spent in that way.

Mr. Thorne said that in his opinion a minimum wage scale of $12 a week for women would drive half the factories out of Illinois and cost half the women their jobs.

Mr. O'Hara asked if word had been passed among members of the State Street Retailers' Association not to disclose their profits, but each witness denied any collusion.

CUTS WOMEN'S WORK HOURS.

Senate Passes Bill Directed at Night Labor in Factories.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 10.—Without debate the Senate to-day passed the bill of the special Factory Investigation Committee which prohibits the employment of women in factories between 10 o'clock P. M. and 6 o'clock A. M.

When the Senate was asked to advance to the order of passage the Boylan bill limiting the working hours of grocery clerks to eleven hours on every weekday except Saturday, Senator Walters of Syracuse said the United States Supreme Court had declared a similar law unconstitutional. He said he did not oppose the object of the measure, but thought it was useless for the Legislature to spend its time on bills likely to be annulled by the courts.

Senator Wagner said the point of view of the courts was changing. He declared the bill limiting the hours of labor of women was similar to a bill declared unconstitutional several years ago by the Court of Appeals. The Senate decided to lay aside the Boylan bill temporarily.

effort to raise 200,000 pesos in Guaymas resulted in his obtaining only 60,000.

Pascual Orozco, Jr., who was expected to arrive at the capital to-night, and in whose honor a great demonstration had been planned by various organizations and friends, will not reach here before to-morrow.

Gen. Felix Diaz dropped from sight to-day. It is announced that he has gone to a nearby ranch for a period of rest and recuperation. The health of Gen. Diaz has been affected by the strain of the past few weeks, but his condition is not regarded as serious.

ULTIMATUM TO ZAPATA.

Governor of His State May Be Removed to Conciliate Bandit Chief.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, March 10.—The Government sent an ultimatum to Zapata to-day. It is possible that a new Governor of the State of Morelos may be named to replace the official against whose continuance in office the rebel chieftain has protested. Ramon Olivera, who carried the message, will probably be the man.

The land owners of the States of Morelos and Mexico have offered to pay the Government $1,500 daily for the support of troops with which to clean the bandits out of those States. A movement has been set on foot to raise money for the Government by public subscription. A meeting has been held, at which great enthusiasm was shown.

Gen. Diaz to-day denied the report that there was friction in the Cabinet, and said that everything was going well and that there was a good spirit among the Ministers.

Gertrudis Sanchez, commander of the Maderista force of rurales, rose in arms several days ago at Coyuca de Catalan, State of Guerrero. Seven hundred rurales captured Teloloapam, defeating the small garrison there, committing many depredations, and carrying away ten young girls of prominent families. The rising was not unexpected, as Gen. Reynaldo Diaz stated before leaving here that he believed Sanchez would revolt.

The probable action of Almazan, Salgado, and Radillo is doubtful. The Government states that they expressed an intention to surrender, but they continue fighting. Almazan, while revolting against Madero, was formerly engaged to marry Mercedes Madero.

The Government reports to-day stated that the situation in Sonora was serious.

Several uprisings are reported in that State, and American filibusters are gathering near Douglas to assist the rebels.

Querido Moheno, an independent leader of the Chamber of Deputies, stated to-day that he knew the revolt was being fostered by a well-known American corporation. He said the men in the field in Sonora were not revolutionists but traitors to the country. The Government states that it will send large forces to Sonora. Troops will soon be available from the Coahuila campaign.

Abraham Gonzalez, former Governor of Chihuahua, has not been brought to the capital, as he is wanted by the local authorities on charges not published here.

At a heated session the Chamber of Deputies to-day passed the amnesty measure amended to include only rebels in arms before Feb. 20. The measure now goes to the Senate.

Señor de la Fuente arrived here to-day and called on the President. He takes the oath as Minister of Communication and Public Works to-morrow.

It is stated that the Orozco affair is practically arranged, except some details to be settled on the arrival of Orozco to-morrow.

HUERTA LOSES AGUA PRIETA.

Ojeda Yields for "Fear of International Complications."

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 10.—Five hundred Federal soldiers to-night are preparing to evacuate Agua Prieta and leave it in the possession of the 800 or more Constitutionals encamped about the town. Gen. Ojeda, commander of the Huerta garrison, said late to-day that fear of international complications in the event of a battle between his and the rebel forces so near Douglas had brought about his determination to move westward along the Arizona border line with his entire command.

Refugee Federal troopers from Nacozari and El Tigre, two border towns captured yesterday by the State troops, reached Agua Prieta to-day and joined Ojeda's command. One hundred and seventy-five Federals were driven from Nacozari after a two days' fight, beginning Saturday morning.

El Tigre, a mining camp forty miles southeast of here, was attacked last night by a force of 100 rebels, and the garrison of 160 men surrendered. One hundred Federals eluded the Constitutionalists with their arms and ammunition. A band of rebels overtook them and after a sharp skirmish succeeded in disarming them.

Word was received here to-day that the conquerors of Nacozari and El Tigre were marching on Agua Prieta and Nogales, Sonora. Americans of Douglas and Agua Prieta appealed to Gen. Ojeda to avert the battle, which they believed would mean destruction of American life and property both here and in Agua Prieta.

Gen. Ojeda was told that the opposing force in the morning would number more than 1,000 well-armed troopers, equipped with machine guns. Ojeda decided to give up Agua Prieta and march to the defense of Nogales and Naco, where small Federal garrisons are now stationed.

Rebel reports give the number of Constitutionalists wounded at Nacozari as only nine. Lieut. Col. Lopez, the garrison commander, who was brought here with the other Federal wounded, died late this morning on the way to a hospital on the American side. He was shot through the neck.

CANANEA, Sonora, March 10.—This mining town, with its many American residents, is again isolated from railroad communication with the Arizona border. Manuel Diguez, a former Mayor of Cananea, with 400 Constitutionalists, has cut telegraph lines and taken up rails on the branch of the Southern Pacific connecting Cananea with Naco, on the border. The State troops also hold the town water station, but have promised not to cut the supply nor to burn any bridges on the railway.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, March 10.—Gov. Venustiano Garranza of Coahuila has taken possession of the Mexican National Railway at Monclova, 150 miles south of the border, according to refugees who arrived at Eagle Pass to-day. The refugees say that 3,000 rebel troops are encamped at Monclova.

It is reported that 500 railroad employes have volunteered to enlist under the Carranza standard.

MADEROS ONLY WANT PEACE.

Ernesto Makes Formal Statement for Family and Cables It to Huerta.

Ernesto Madero, former Secretary of the Treasury in the Mexican Cabinet and uncle of the late President, issued a statement yesterday saying it was the intention of himself and the other members of the Madero family to refrain from participation in the politics of Mexico. He said he was authorized to speak for the family. The statement was a reaffirmation of the views expressed by Mr. Madero in an exclusive interview given to THE TIMES on Saturday.

"Before leaving Mexico City," said Mr. Madero, "we assured the officials of the present provisional Government that it was not our purpose to take any part in Mexican politics. We told them that we purposed to proceed to the United States and to remain there until political conditions in Mexico should become settled. There will be no change in this policy.

"It is not true, as has been reported, that any member of the Madero family contemplates organizing any movement against the present Government of Mexico or taking any part in such a movement. It is the sincerest desire of myself and of every member of the Madero family that peace will soon prevail again throughout Mexico. We hope that all good people in Mexico will co-operate toward this end."

Rafael Hernandez, Minister of the Interior in the Cabinet of the late President, indorsed the statement made by Mr. Madero. It was said last night that because of the many false reports which have been circulated Mr. Madero and Mr. Hernandez have sent telegrams to President Huerta and members of the Mexican Cabinet setting forth the main features of the statement made by Mr. Madero.

SODDEN TROOPS DRYING OUT.

Special to The New York Times.

GALVESTON, Texas, March 10.—A bright sunny day, the first in weeks, gladdened the troops in Galveston and Texas City to-day. At Texas City, in particular, was the weather change welcomed; but even if it keeps clear for a week, it is doubtful if that camp will thoroughly dry out. No more cases of spinal meningitis were reported to-day, and the medical officers believe that there is no danger of an epidemic.

The reports coming to Galveston from the points on the Rio Grande are of serious conditions at various points on the Mexican side. It is said that there is no chance of the border patrol being reduced at any time soon, and the entire Third Cavalry is held at San Antonio ready to go on duty the moment such an order is issued.

something up their sleeves to cope with it.

"The Government can't do anything with us," was Miss Kenney's triumphant declaration.

Railway Stations in Ruins.

The two railway stations burned to-day were Saunderton and Croxley Green. Both are heaps of ruins. Two placards were found at Saunderton reading, "Votes for Women" and "We are burning for the vote."

It is a curious circumstance that the return journey of the King and Queen to Buckingham Palace after the opening of Parliament was marked by a man's attempt to present a petition. He broke through the crowd and guards and ran, the petition in his hand, to the royal carriage. He tried to give the petition to the King's coachman. Like the suffragettes in the Mall, he was arrested. He is Simon Cohen, a retired baker who has achieved some fame as a speaker in the East End. He has written letters to the sovereign and to politicians and is the proud possessor of letters of acknowledgment which he has published in a brochure. A few years ago he caused a scene in the House of Commons by flinging from the gallery a number of handbills outlining a scheme for raising millions for the unemployed.

A Suffragist Note.

LONDON, March 10.—The militant suffragettes this evening issued the following note:

> The presentation of a petition to the King and Queen was out of no disrespect to their Majesties, but to call their atetntion to the fact that there are in power Ministers who are incapable of dealing with the very serious situation which has arisen and who are quite out of touch with the popular feeling of the country in continuing to deny to women the elemental rights of citizenship.

In connection with the opening of Parliament special and elaborate precautions were taken to prevent any interference by militant suffragettes or their male supporters. The time-honored ceremony known as "searching the vaults" beneath the House of Commons and the House of Lords, which has been carried out since the attempt by Guy Fawkes in 1605 to blow up the King and all the Members of Parliament, which in recent years has been performed in a most perfunctory manner, was again undertaken seriously.

A party of Yeomen of the Guard from the Tower of London, who are better known under the name "Beefeaters," and who usually perambulate leisurely through the buildings, were to-day accompanied by one of the chief officials of Parliament and by Inspectors of Police and other high functionaries, who made a thorough search for any lurking suffragettes.

Militant suffragettes to-day started another campaign of arson. Early this morning they set fire to the Saunderton Station on the Great Western Railway and burned it to the ground, together with all its contents. Saunderton is about thirty-one miles from London, in Buckinghamshire. The fire brigades from the neighboring towns responded to the alarm, but it was found impossible to save anything.

Another station, Croxley Green, about three miles to the north of London on the London & North Western Railway, was also burned down this morning.

Saunderton and Croxley Green were new stations.

KING OPENS PARLIAMENT.

Renews Custom of Wearing Crown—Few Bills Announced in Speech.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 10.—The King at the opening of Parliament to-day wore his crown, an old custom that Queen Victoria discontinued.

His Majesty read the speech from the throne with remarkably good enunciation, though his voice was a little husky.

The crowds waiting for the royal procession were enlivened by ragtime played by the Life Guards band.

"Hitchy-Koo" was played, the effect being wondrous, while the crowd beat time. When the stately melody, "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee," was banged out, every British heart must have thrilled to the splendor of the moment, with its memories of historic Parliaments. Finally, as the band played the enchanting music of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," a spasm of pain crossed the faces of the police and soldiers lining the roadway. Strong guardsmen had to bite their lips and grip their rifles firmer lest they should disgrace themselves forever by swaying in time, as every person behind them was doing in the circumscribed orbit of his position.

Ambassadors' state landaus rolled by—fairy-tale carriages, all bright yellow or scarlet—with powdered and cockaded footmen gripping their straps tightly for fear that they would, by the perceptible movement of their pink, dignified calves, betray the turmoil within them as they heard the music.

LONDON, March 10.—King George to-day opened the third session of the present Parliament after a prorogation of only two days, the briefest recess on record. The stately ceremonial was performed in the House of Lords, where his Majesty and Queen Mary took their places on the throne in the presence of a great gathering of richly-robed and jeweled peers and peeresses and a goodly leavening of members of the House of Commons, most of whom were in Court dress or uniform.

The King's speech from the throne was devoted chiefly to the steps which had been taken to bring the Balkan war to an end, and to an expression of the desire of the European powers to hasten the conclusion of peace.

His Majesty opened with a graceful reference to the jubilee of the marriage of his parents, King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra, and to his gratitude for the affection shown by the nation to the widowed Queen Alexandra. The portion of the speech dealing with the war emphasized the fact that all the great powers earnestly desired to prevent hostilities from spreading, and to see the fighting terminated as soon as possible. A large measure of success, the King said, had been achieved in establishing an agreement in principle among the powers on matters of the greatest importance. The speech continued:

"I am hopeful that the consultations between the powers will enable them not only to secure a complete understanding among themselves, but to exercise a beneficent influence in hastening the conclusion of the war."

His Majesty made a pleasant reference to the action of the British Dominions which have contributed war vessels to the British Navy, and also to the visits of Robert L. Borden, the Canadian Premier, and other overseas Ministers to confer with the Imperial Ministers, which acts, he said, were calculated to promote the solidarity of the empire. Continuing, his Majesty said:

"The discussions now proceeding in the Canadian Parliament on matters of defense testify to the universal desire within the empire for the maintenance of the common safety."

The forthcoming estimates were the subject of merely passing mention. Nothing was said to indicate whether those for the navy and the army were to be abnormally swollen.

ACCIDENT TO GERMAN ENVOY.

Prince Lichnowsky's Horses Run Away—Some Regard It as an Omen.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 10.—Besides the Suffragette incidents, the royal opening of Parliament to-day was marked by an accident that, happily, had no serious consequences, but that in some quarters is regarded as an omen.

The German Ambassador, Prince Lichnowsky, was driving to the House of Lords in state. At the Horse Guards Parade the horses were startled and curvetted along for about twenty yards in a bewildered condition. Their plunging broke the middle shaft of the coach.

A dozen policemen ran to the horses' heads, the animals were unharnessed and led away, and the police, grasping the traces, drew the coach to the House of Lords.

House caucus. This will not be satisfactory to the Louisiana and Colorado delegations.

The revision of the metal schedule will be practically the same as the Underwood bill, which Representative A. Mitchell Palmer handled in the Sixty-second Congress. Iron ore will be placed on the free list, it is asserted; pig-iron will have a rate of 15 per cent. ad valorem; structural steel an ad valorem duty of 15 per cent; steel ingots a 10 per cent. rate and steel rails the same. Rails are now dutiable at $3.92 a ton. This is a reduction of 50 per cent. on the rate they had under the Dingley law. The Democratic leaders, it is said, feel that the rate on steel rails should be cut still lower on account of the recent developments tending to indicate an international agreement among steel makers respecting territory among the manufacturers of rails. An ad valorem rate of 10 per cent. on steel rails would be a very severe reduction as rails are now quoted at about $27 a ton.

One Per Cent. on Incomes.

The proposed income tax law will, it is understood, levy a tax of 1 per cent. on incomes. The law will probably be so framed as to incorporate the present corporation tax. The indications are that the 1 per cent. tax will be levied on all incomes over $5,000 a year.

A number of House Democrats are considering the advisability of having the tax paid on all incomes over $1,000, so as to include some of the lower salaried men of the country on the theory that the levy would give them keener interest in the affairs of Government.

Conservative Democrats on the Ways and Means Committee are perturbed over the independent tariff talk of new Democrats in the House. Since they tasted victory in the caucus on March 5, when they forced through a resolution permitting a member to have only one important committee assignment, the new members have taken courage on the tariff. They are objecting to the old plan of having to vote in caucus on the spur of the moment and without a chance of studying tariff bills submitted to the caucus by the Ways and Means Committee.

Stand Up, Mr. Sales Manager! These Questions Are For You!

Do your sales records actually reflect sales conditions? EVERYWHERE? AT ALL TIMES?

Can you tell in five minutes—or in five hours—the lines that are selling best in each territory?

Can you tell what orders have been lost? And why?

Do you know whether a customer has been neglected, or a prospect not followed up?

You may think that your present system of sales records is good enough. But is it? Does it enable you to KNOW?

As far as our knowledge goes, there is but one system of sales records that will give you a G-R-I-P on things. It is the Library Bureau Method. It isn't ready-made. There are no stock forms. The principle does not change, but the application does change—TO FIT YOUR BUSINESS.

Library Bureau System of Sales Records shows what is being done and has been done, in a sales way, by customers, by cities, by sales territories, by lines, by months and by years.

That sounds interesting, doesn't it? Half an hour spent at our salesroom would be even more interesting. Will you honor us to that extent? Special booklet—"Suppose the Chief Asks You"—sent on request.

SURGEON SAVES GIRL AND IS BADLY HURT

Holds Patient in His Arms and Shields Her in the Wreck of His Ambulance by a Street Car.

ANOTHER AMBULANCE FOR HIM

Unconscious After Being Relieved of His Charge—A Rib Broken and Condition Serious.

Dr. Edward C. Liss, a surgeon on the staff of the Lebanon Hospital, was put to bed as a patient there last night as the result of injuries received while attempting to protect Goldie Greenberg, an 8-year-old girl, in a collision between an ambulance in which he was taking her to the hospital, and an eastbound crosstown car in East 163d Street.

Dr. Liss got a broken rib, severe cuts across his forehead, and a wrenched back, while the little girl, whom he gathered into his arms just as the street car struck the centre of the ambulance at right angles, was not injured. She was on her way to the hospital to undergo an operation for mastoditis, and it was said that the operation would be performed this morning, as the condition of the little patient was excellent.

In the collision the ambulance was turned completely over and wrecked. The driver was hurled fifteen feet from his seat. Flying glass from the street car windows terrified passengers in the car and caused several women to become hysterical.

The cause of the accident was said to be a rather pronounced down grade on the car tracks approaching Caldwell Avenue, where the collision occurred, and a failure of the company operating the 163d Street Crosstown Car Line to provide air brakes.

The accident occurred at 9:30 o'clock while Dr. Liss was on his way back to the hospital after calling at the home of Goldie Greenberg, at 741 Jennings Street. Anthony Eiskemp, driver of the ambulance, insisted that he rang his gong and that the motorman of the street car heard him and gave signs of slowing down his car. Thinking that the car would come to a full stop Eiskemp started to cross the tracks.

Dr. Liss, who was looking out from the rear of the ambulance, saw that a collision would be inevitable. He could easily have saved himself by jumping, but instead he ran forward in the ambulance and picked up his eight-year-old patient. Just as he had put his arms about her the shock of the collision bowled the ambulance over on its side. As Dr. Liss went down he was careful to keep the little girl on top of him. When pedestrians rushed to the wrecked ambulance they found Dr. Liss among the broken bows, with the little girl tightly held in his arms. He insisted that they take her out first, and then gave directions for removing the wreckage so that he could get out.

Dr. Liss became unconscious shortly after he was carried into a drug store at the corner of Caldwell Avenue and 163d Street. A second ambulance call to the Lebanon Hospital brought Drs. Frankfelt and Jacobstein, who had Dr. Liss and his girl patient placed in a new ambulance and taken to the hospital. William Mooney, motorman of the street car, was treated for cuts in the face and arm, caused by flying glass.

At the Lebanon Hospital late last night it was said that the condition of Dr. Liss was serious.

TELLS OF KOHLER'S VISITS.

Testimony About Calls the "Golden Rule" Chief Made on Mrs. Shearer.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 10.—Testimony about visits of Chief of Police Fred Kohler to the home of Mrs. Mary Shearer while her husband, Samuel D. Shearer, was absent was given to-day when the trial of Kohler, who gained fame as "Golden Rule" Chief, began before the Civil Service Commission.

Kohler is charged with "gross immorality, conduct unbecoming a gentleman and an officer, and conduct subversive to good order and discipline in the department." Shearer, a complainant against Kohler, recently obtained a divorce.

Mrs. A. J. Merki, a neighbor, testified that she saw Kohler enter the Shearer home at 1:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Feb. 2, 1912, and stay an hour; at 8 o'clock on the evening of May 23, and stay until midnight, and at 8 o'clock on the evening of June 5 and stay until 11 o'clock. She said that on the evening in June, an hour after Kohler entered the house, Shearer came home, broke in a window and entered the house. Two hours elapsed before Kohler's departure.

Mrs. Merki said that Kohler often entered the house without ringing the bell. Questioned further, she said that on the night of June 5, Shearer was accompanied to his home by a friend. Through the walls of the double house in which she and the Shearers lived, she said, she heard the sound of loud voices.

Charles Bull, a friend of Shearer, called as a witness, said that as he stood outside the rear door of the Shearer home on the night of June 5, he heard some one say to Shearer:

"You know I've got as much right in this house as you have," and "Sam, you wouldn't put this little girl out of the house at night, would you?"

Levi Essig, a neighbor of the Shearers, said he heard some one trying to get out of the house by the rear door, just after Shearer broke through a front window.

City Solicitor Wilcox said that testimony for the prosecution would end to-morrow, and that he would not call either Shearer or Mrs. Shearer to the stand.

FRIEDMANN DEPARTS; PATIENTS SHOW GAINS

Doctor Starts for Canada Cheered by Word That Many Hospitals Will Be Open to Him on Return.

ANXIOUS TO AID CHILDREN

Will Treat All Tuberculosis Cases at Hospitals Which Have Histories in German.

Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann, who has been treating patients here with the preparation which he says will cure tuberculosis, departed from the Grand Central Station for Montreal, Canada, at 7:45 o'clock yesterday evening. The Berlin physician was highly elated, for he carried with him the assurance that on his return to this city next Friday many hospitals would open their doors to him. The doctor arrived at the station a few minutes before the time for his train to depart. He was accompanied by his brother, Dr. A. H. Friedmann; his chief assistant, Dr. Harry Benjamin, and his secretary, Charles Hundt. His brother did not go to Montreal with him, explaining that he would stay here to attend to Dr. F. F. Friedmann's correspondence.

Dr. Friedmann seemed much impressed by the new Grand Central Station. As he gazed at the stars in the dome overhead his brother pulled his coat, and in so doing touched a little canvas bag which the physician carried under his arm. He was seen to clutch the bag, which contained his cultures, apprehensively. After a brief inspection of the rotunda he literally ran to his stateroom on the Montreal express and tucked the canvas bag under a pillow. Then he returned to the station platform, lighted a cigarette and puffed at it vigorously. To a reporter he said that he was feeling "very good" and that he liked New York very much.

"I want to say on the night of my departure for Canada," he said through Mr. Hundt, his interpreter, "that I am pleased at the attitude of the medical men of New York. I do not care what has been said against me. I work right ahead. I look neither to the right nor to the left. It makes no difference whether I am praised to the sky or whether I am scoffed at. I am here to cure tuberculosis, and that is what I am doing."

To Lecture on His Preparation.

"Can your preparation be duplicated after a chemical analysis has been made of it?" the doctor was asked.

"I will not answer that question now," he replied. "Later I will deliver a lecture covering many scientific points."

"The doctor is going to Canada," Mr. Hundt said, "on the invitation of several scientific bodies. He will make tests at Montreal and Ottawa, not at Toronto, as has been reported. He hopes to treat 100 patients in each of the cities where he is a guest. On his return to New York Dr. Friedmann will continue to aid the agents of the United States Government in carrying out tests for all kinds of tuberculosis. He also expects to treat other cases.

"The doctor wishes to announce that he is willing to treat patients suffering from tuberculosis of the joints and glands, that is, all surgical cases, at the Mount Sinai Hospital. Pulmonary cases will be treated at the Montefiore Home. He may hold clinics in other hospitals, but he is not at liberty to give the names of these now. The doctor is particularly anxious to treat children suffering from the disease. It must be understood, though, that no case will be treated in which a complete certified history, written in German, is not submitted."

The reasons for Dr. Friedmann's elation were divulged by his secretary. In the first place, Mr. Hundt said, reports had been made to Dr. Friedmann that some of the first patients to whom he administered his treatment had shown marked improvement. The doctor was also pleased, he said, with the recent kindness shown him by the medical profession, and particularly by the action of the Directors of Mount Sinai and the People's Hospitals and the Montefiore Home in opening those institutions to him.

"Dr. Max Landesman, Superintendent of the People's Hospital, called on Dr. Friedmann in the morning," said Mr. Hundt. "He told Dr. Friedmann that the two men patients treated in that hospital last Thursday had suffered no night sweats since the injection of the culture. This pleased the doctor very much."

When a reporter called on Dr. Landesman at his home, 120 West 118th Street, last night, Dr. Landesman said that it was true that he had reported favorably to Dr. Friedmann on the three cases treated last Thursday. Dr. Landesman refused to say what the symptoms of improvement were.

"I have seen the patients treated by Dr. Friedmann every day since last Thursday," said Dr. Landesman. "It would not be fair if I alone made the examinations. Therefore other physicians, including Dr. Simon Tannenbaum of the Board of Health, have been selected to make a joint report on the cases treated at the People's Hospital. Commissioner Lederle of the Department of Health has been told of this arrangement, and it meets with his approval. We will make a joint examination of the three patients next Thursday, and the public shall not be kept in ignorance of the developments in the cases. This is a vital matter which concerns the whole world."

Concerning the seventeen cases treated in the office of Dr. George Mannheimer, at 41 West Fiftieth Street, no information could be gained yesterday, but it was understood that they were being carefully watched.

The seven cases treated by Dr. Friedmann in Mount Sinai Hospital on Sunday afternoon will be under the constant supervision of the hospital physicians and of Surgeon John F. Anderson and Assistant Surgeon Arthur M. Stimson of the Public Health Service, who attended the Mount Sinai clinic on behalf of the Government.

"Several physicians have asked permission to watch the progress of these seven cases," said Supt. S. S. Goldwater of Mount Sinai Hopital yesterday. "Under ordinary conditions, such requests would be granted. We realize, though, that this might result in premature reports which would not be fair to the Government. All our information, therefore, will be turned over to the Government."

Where to Apply for Treatment.

Dr. Goldwater then gave these instructions to guide those wishing to apply at Mount Sinai Hospital for the Friedmann treatment:

> At the request of the Directors of the Hygienic Laboratory of the United States Public Health Service, Mount Sinai Hospital has agreed to aid in the investigation of the treatment for tuberculosis prepared by Dr. F. F. Friedmann of Berlin.
>
> The hospital will admit to its wards, for treatment under the supervision of the Public Health Service, "fresh" cases of tuberculosis of the joints and glands. Cases which have not been operated upon and in which no sinus formation has taken place will be admitted to the extent of the facilities available. The clinical report of these cases will be regarded as the property of the Public Health Service.
>
> Cases of pulmonary tuberculosis will not be admitted. Dr. S. S. GOLDWATER, > Superintendent of Mount Sinai Hospital.

At the Montefiore Home, Broadway and 138th Street, it was said yesterday that arrangements had been made to treat cases of pulmonary tuberculosis with the Friedmann preparation there. The Montefiore Home had not agreed to co-operate with the Government in the treatment of such cases as Mount Sinai had done in operative cases, it was asserted. Dr. S. Wachsmann, Medical Director of the home, made this statement:

> At a meeting of the Board of Trustees on Sunday, after a full discussion, it was decided to extend an invitation to Dr. Friedmann to administer his treatment to such of the patients of this institution and our country institution as volunteerer to receive it. This invitation was issued to determine the value of the treatment.

Dr. Wachsmann said that Dr. Friedmann had accepted the invitation, but that the time for the first treatments had not been decided.

It became known yesterday that Bellevue Hospital would probably be opened to Dr. Friedmann on his return from Canada. Some objection to such a move, it was understood, still existed among the Trustees of Bellevue and the allied hospitals, but it was thought that this opposition would be overcome at a meeting of the Medical Board to be held soon.

Dr. John Winters Brannon, President of the Board of Trustees of Bellevue, visited Bellevue yesterday with Dr. Anderson and Dr. Stimson of the Public Health Service. It was said that the Government agents were anxious to get the co-operation of Bellevue for a series of tests with the Friedmann preparation in pulmonary cases of tuberculosis.

Scores of persons suffering from tuberculosis thronged the corridors of the Hotel Ansonia yesterday in quest of Dr. Friedmann. Many physicians were seen in the lobby, and some of them were admitted to the Friedmann rooms on the seventh floor of the hotel. It was said later that these physicians had called to urge Dr. Friedmann to visit the cities from which they came to treat patients afflicted with tuberculosis.

Medical Society's Attitude Unchanged

The Executive Committee of the Comitia Minora of the New York County Medical Society met for its regular monthly session at the Academy of Medicine at 17 West Forty-third Street, last night. The Friedmann case, it was announced, came up for discussion, and it was said after the meeting that the County Medical Society had not changed its attitude toward the Berlin physician.

Dr. Howard Lilienthal, a surgeon who was present at the clinic held by Dr. Friedmann in Mount Sinai Hospital for the representatives of the U. S. Public Health Service, told the committee what he had witnessed. Dr. Chisholm Rogers of Muskogee, Okla., who was treated by Dr. Friedmann in Berlin, was expected at the meeting, but he did not attend it. He assailed Dr. Friedmann on his arrival here a few days ago. He could not be found yesterday by members of the society, it was asserted.

It was said by one of those present at the meeting last night that no attempt would be made to interfere with the work of Dr. Friedmann so long as this was confined to demonstrations or treatments in hospitals under Government supervision, but that any attempt on his part to practice without a license would receive the closest scrutiny from the medical society.

PREPARATION IS A VACCINE.

Dr. Anderson Reports on Cultures Received from Dr. Friedmann.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The preparation which Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann of Berlin has injected into patients in New York, and which, he asserts, will cure tuberculosis, is a vaccine and not a serum. The United States Public Health Service was informed of this to-day by Dr. John F. Anderson, Director of the Hygienic Laboratory, assigned by the Government to test the Friedmann culture.

A telegram from Dr. Anderson to Surgeon General Blue informed him that Dr. Friedmann had turned over to Dr. Anderson a culture of the Friedmann vaccine to be tested in the Hygienic Laboratory. Dr. Anderson will bring this culture to Washington when he returns later in the week. Dr. Anderson notified Surgeon General Blue that Dr. Friedmann had not given the Government agents any instructions as to the method of preparing the vaccine, but had promised to do so.

Generally speaking, a vaccine is a cultivation of the bacillus of the disease it is used in preventing or curing, while a serum is the blood, minus its corpuscles, of an animal into which the toxin of the disease has been infused.

WRONG VALUATION RECTIFIED

Wanamaker Firm Pays Up Promptly on Discovery of Examiner's Errors.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—It became known to-night that the firm of John Wanamaker of Philadelphia and New York paid $100,000 to the Federal Government during the closing days of the Taft Administration in settlement of disputed valuations of importations. The payment was made about March 1, and was in full settlement of all that the Government claimed it had lost in duties on miscellaneous goods imported by the firm through the Port of Philadelphia. The full amount claimed by the Government was $100,000. This, the Treasury officials say, was paid without hesitancy or quibble on the part of the Wanamaker firm.

These officials say that there was no culpability on the part of the Wanamaker firm or on the part of the customs examiner who was responsible for the valuations, in the sense of deliberate wrong-doing on the part of the latter. It is explained by a Treasury official that the fact that the examiner was allowed to resign instead of being discharged is sufficient evidence that the Government did not believe he was culpable in the sense of deliberately undervaluing the goods. The investigation by the special agents showed that the Wanamaker firm did not know that the goods were being undervalued. It is described as a case of technicalities in which the examiner who was allowed to resign, and who had been in the service some twenty years, was not up to date in knowledge of the value of the goods involved. He is described as an "elderly, somewhat old-fashioned man."

When the matter was brought to the firm's attention it threw open all its books and records, and declared its willingness to pay to the Government all that was found to be due as a result of any erroneous valuations.

MUZZLE BAY STATE HATPINS.

Massachusetts Legislators Order Points Protected.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, March 10.—The new hatpin law of Massachusetts differs from all others in that no length of protrusion is prescribed. There was a great deal of discussion of the measure, and the limit was put at various lengths; finally these figures were all erased, and the bill as it went to the Governor provided simply that every pin protruding from a hat should be suitably protected by a covering of its point.

"Ignorance of the law is no defense," said a legislator to-night, when asked if women from other States would be arrested in case their hatpins were unprotected by foils.

The characteristic urbanity of the Boston police, however, leads to the belief that the New York woman who appears in Tremont Street, with a Broadway stiletto protruding from her "creation" will receive a gentle admonition instead of being rushed into a patrol wagon. But woe to her if a second offense be noted; in that case she certainly must undergo the ignominy of an appearance in court and the payment of a fine.

WAS HE NAPOLEON'S SON?

Cemetery Controversy Revives Story of Unacknowledged Bonaparte.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—A meeting held yesterday in the old Laurel Hill Cemetery to protest against the removal of its dead has revived a controversy as to whether a son of the first Napoleon lies in the ancient burying ground.

Dr. W. F. McNutt has begun an investigation to ascertain the facts. He says he is in communication with an old jeweler living in Sacramento who knew Gordon, the reputed son of the Emperor. Through this jeweler an effort will be made to determine whether this Gordon was the person who Prof. Fournier of Vienna affirms was the son of Napoleon by an Englishwoman named Gordon.

Prof. Fournier has written to McNutt that this supposed son of the Corsican was a jeweler, and that after leaving his birthplace at St. Helena he wandered to San Francisco, where he practiced his craft.

HELD FOR MURDER OF SON.

Man and Wife in Jail on Charge of Poisoning 5-Year-Old.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., March 10.—Charged with murdering his 5-year-old son by administering poison, Julius Wells of Swanton was arrested here to-night. His wife has been held in the county jail since last January on a similar charge. The arrest of Wells followed further investigations by the authorities during the last few weeks. Both cases will be brought to the attention of the Franklin County Grand Jury when it meets here to-morrow.

According to the police, the child died from arsenic poisoning.

WILSON RELIEVES CLARK'S MISGIVINGS

Will Give Consideration to the Speaker's Patronage Recommendations.

DANIELS ISSUES A DAILY

Newspaper Methods in Navy Department—Kern Fails to See Secretary Bryan.

From a Staff Correspondent of THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The President is willing to let Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives, come to him and recommend candidates for office. The other day he turned down Senators Bryan and Fletcher of Florida when they came to him with recommendations, but to-day he let it be known that anything Speaker Clark wished to recommend in the patronage way would receive respectful consideration.

The Speaker went to the White House to-day with Senator Stone of Missouri. They carried with them a slate of Missouri appointments and a feeling of dubiety as to how they would be received. They got from the President such a glad welcome that if the Speaker doesn't realize that the Baltimore sore spots are gone for good he must be hard to convince.

The President has also made it plain that he understands that he must consult with Senators over appointments, and that his action in the case of Bryan and Flecher affords no precedent. It is safe to predict that if Bryan and Fletcher go up to the White House again they will have a different reception.

It is said that neither the Speaker nor Senator Stone mentioned the name of David R. Francis to the President while they were with him. Nevertheless, the name of Mr. Francis will be mentioned to him, and mentioned many times.

The chief outcome of Mr. Clark's visit is the proof that the President wants to extend the olive branch to his chief opponent at Baltimore and to make it plain that, so far as he is concerned, bygones are bygones.

⁂

Secretary Garrison announced to-day that he was not going to appoint any Assistant Secretary of War until he had learned the ropes himself. "I have been here five days," said the Secretary, "and I have learned just enough about the game to find out that it's all I can do to break myself in without trying to break in a greenhorn Assistant Secretary at the same time. So I am going to keep Assistant Secretary Oliver here until I cease to be so much of tenderfoot."

"Mr. Secretary," said one of his hearers, "you may not realize it, but you have given us an exact measure of the length of time it will take you to learn your duties as Secretary of War."

"What is the measure?" asked the Secretary in surprise.

"We shall know that you have learned your duties on the day when you appoint a new Assistant Secretary of War," was the reply, and Mr. Garrison, thoroughly taken aback, laughed stentorously.

⁂

Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, who was a good newspaper man before he became a Cabinet officer, is still using newspaper methods. He is getting out daily a sort of a Navy Department newspaper, which he hands around to the newspaper men who come in to ask for news. The newspaper is typewritten, and Mr. Daniels says that if necessary it will be hektographed.

The principal items of news in to-day's Washington Daily Daniels were a local story about the promotion of ensigns and other officers, a Charleston dispatch telling about the piers there, and an editorial about picking out the differences of latitude between Washington and Paris. Editor Daniels hands out the copies of his newspaper himself and is just as good a newsboy as he is an editor.

⁂

Huntington Wilson, the First Assistant Secretary of State, was to-day invited by Mr. Bryan to stay for a while. Mr. Wilson had engaged his passage for Europe on March 18, and immediately on receiving Mr. Bryan's request he telegraphed canceling his order. Mr. Bryan has already requested Second Assistant Secretary Adee to stay, and while of course Mr. Wilson is not likely to remain in office as long as Mr. Adee, the incident has made a decidedly good impression in the State Department. Wilson is a Republican, and Adee, so far as he has any politics, is a Democrat. The Third Assistant Secretary, Chandler Hale, is a Republican and a son of ex-Senator Eugene Hale of Maine, and is slated to go.

⁂

Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York seems to be slated for Assistant Secretary of the Navy, though Secretary Daniels to-day refused to affirm or deny the report. It is generally accepted as true, and the opinion of New Yorkers here is that it is a terrific black eye to the scheme that the Tammany leaders arranged the other night at the Shoreham, whereby Senator O'Gorman was to make the New York recommendations. If Mr. Daniels has made any such promise to Mr. Roosevelt—and there isn't the slightest doubt that he sent for him to make him an offer—he has gone over the heads not only of Senator O'Gorman, but of Mr. Murphy, Gov. Sulzer, and everybody else in Tammany Hall. Mr. Roosevelt, it will be remembered, is the man who led the fight against William F. Sheehan when Mr. Murphy was trying to put him in the United States Senate. Murphy would never approve him, and noboedy here believes that Senator O'Gorman would.

Four years ago William J. Bryan and John W. Kern were running on the same ticket for President and Vice President. Last Summer John W. Kerns was the progressive candidate for temporary Chairman of the Baltimore convention, Bryan supporting him, and Kern arose and dramatically declined the nomination in favor of Bryan.

To-day Senator Kern put in a busy half hour trying to see Secretary Bryan, and couldn't get in. The Secretary's office was full of people who were anxious to see him, and Eddie Savoy, the colored messenger, who has been on that job since Hamilton Fish was Secretary of State under President Grant, in 1868, was inexorable. "I'm sorry, Senator, but you can't come in; Mr. Bryan is busy," said Eddie. So Kern went down to soothe his ruffled feelings by a call on Secretary Daniels.

⁂

Secretary Garrison relieved his feelings to-day in a talk with the newspaper men. A New York newspaper printed a story that all the Cabinet officers were willing to receive newspaper men except the Secretary of War. When the newspaper men rounded up in Mr. Garrison's office he asked for the correspondent of the offending newspaper and said: "In the first place, that story isn't true. In the second place, if it were true I would be unfit to hold my job. Now, I have no pride of place, and I don't care anything about Lindley M. Garrison, but I do care a great deal about this Administration. If the impression goes out that I am unwilling to take the public into my confidence about the things I do, it is a reflection on the President and on the Administration of which I form a part. I am not here to interpose a barrier between the people of the United States and anything they are entitled to know. Of course you understand perfectly well that there are some things I can't tell you, because they haven't reached that stage, but everything that the country has a right to know I'm going to tell it. Anything that is printed to the contrary is either malicious or foolish. I wouldn't deem myself fit to hold any place under the Government if I were to adopt any different policy."

There is a cheerful little spirit of friendship among the Democratic leaders in the Senate. When Senator Martin was trying to get re-elected as Democratic leader, Senator Bacon, the President pro tempore, turned in and helped to defeat Martin and elect Kern in his place. Martin is doubtless a Christian, but there are limits. When Bacon came up for re-election as President pro tempore Martin removed his coat, sighed as if he hated to do it, and worked for the election of Clarke of Arkansas. Ever since then Bacon has been taking people into corners and telling them confidentially that this is a cold world.

To-day some friends of Martin went to condole with him on his loss of the party leadership. Martin took their condolences very ill. "What are you sympathizing with me about?" said he. "Look what I did to Bacon!"

And to that there was no adequate answer.

MERIT GUIDES WILSON IN FILLING OFFICES

Galloway Promoted to Assistant Agriculture Secretary—Four Wickersham Men Remain.

DOCKERY AS BURLESON'S AID

Postal Expert Named for Third Assistant—No Change in Coast Survey of Standard Bureau Heads.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The apparent intention of President Wilson and his Cabinet to recognize merit as much as political service in making important appointments under the Government, already indicated, was again manifest today when it became known that Beverly Thomas Galloway, Chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry in the Agriculture Department, would be appointed Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and that Attorney General McReynolds would retain the services of four of ex-Attorney General Wickersham's principal assistants.

Mr. Galloway was born in Missouri nearly fifty years ago, and after service as an assistant in the Horticulture Department of the University of Missouri became pathologist in the Agriculture Department in 1887 and became Chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry in 1900. One of the candidates for this place was John Lamb of Virginia, who served sixteen years in the House of Representatives. In the Congress which ended on March 4 he was Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture. He is not a member of the present Congress.

The high-ranking officials of the Department of Justice who have been asked to remain in office are James A. Fowler, assistant to the Attorney General; William R. Harr, Winfred T. Denison, and Ernest Knaebel.

Mr. Fowler is the official "trust buster" of the Government. The office he holds was created in the Roosevelt Administration when Philander C. Knox was Attorney General. To its incumbent was intrusted the handling of trust prosecutions. Mr. Fowler has taken part and is still participating in many important cases against alleged combinations in restraint of trade, and Messrs. Harr, Denison, and Knaebel have been associated with him in handling them.

William H. Lewis, the negro lawyer of Boston, whose appointment by Mr. Taft as an assistant Attorney General, raised a row in official circles, followed by a sensational contest over Lewis's membership in the American Bar Association, resigned to-day. It has not been decided whether a successor will be appointed.

Nominations of men whose selections for public office have already been told in Washington dispatches to THE NEW YORK TIMES were sent to the Senate by President Wilson to-day. Among these was that of ex-Gov. M. Dockery of Missouri, to be Third Assistant Postmaster General. When Mr. Dockery was a member of the House of Representatives twenty years ago, he served as Chairman of a Joint Senate and House Committee organized at his instance to investigate the manner of conducting business in the departments, with particular reference to the accounting systems and the disposal of useless papers.

According to the records of the House Committee on Appropriations the investigation made by Mr. Dockery and his colleagues cost $41,264.03 and resulted in an annual saving to the Government of $607,591. The Dockery Commission, as it was called, revolutionized the accounting system of the Government. Mr. Dockery was the personal selection of Postmaster General Burleson, and his appointment was acquiesed in by the Missouri Senators, and Representatives Joshua W. Alexander of Missouri, who succeeded Mr. Dockery in Congress when the latter was elected Governor of his State.

Other nominations sent to the Senate were those of Daniel C. Roper of South Carolina to be First Assistant Postmaster General, and James I. Blakeslee of Pennsylvania to be Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, both of which have been forecasted in Washington dispatches to THE TIMES. Mr. Roper will succeed Charles P. Grandfield of Missouri, who is also a Democrat, but was appointed from the postal ranks in the Taft Administration, and Mr. Blakeslee will take the place of Peter V. DeGraw, of Pennsylvania.

Ex-Gov. Dockery will succeed James J. Britt of North Carolina. Joseph Stewart, the Second Assistant Postmaster General, who has seen long service in the Department and rose to his present position under the merit system will not be disturbed.

Mr. Burleston has appointed E. B. Smith, a well-known Washington and Baltimore newspaper man, as his confidential clerk.

Two men named for important offices by President Taft, but whose nominations failed of confirmation owing to opposition in the Senate, were re-nominated by President Wilson to-day. One of them is Charles P. Neill, of the District of Columbia, who has served since President Roosevelt's time as Commissioner of Labor. His renomination bore the new title of his office, Commissioner of Labor Statistics.

The other Taft nominee named by President Wilson is Peter J. Hamilton of Alabama, nominated for the office of United States Judge for the District of Porto Rico.

In line with these indications of the recognition of the merit system Secretary of Commerce Redfield has asked Supt. Otto H. Tittman of the Coast and Geodetic Survey and Director S. W. Stratton of the Bureau of Standards to remain in office under his administration of the Department of Commerce.

An indication of the new President's attitude on this subject is shown in a letter written last September to Mr. Redfield, who is President of the American Manufacturers' Export Association. In that letter, which was with reference to continuing the present classified civil service system in the Consular service, Mr. Wilson, then Governor of New Jersey, said:

"I would say that the system of selecting and retaining officers upon the basis of merit has my warm approval, as has everything that would make for the efficiency and improvement of the Consular service."

The Senate confirmed to-day the nomination of John H. Marble of Nebraska to be an Inter-State Commerce Commissioner, vice Franklin K. Lane of California, appointed Secretary of the Interior. Mr. Marble was Secretary of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, and he was the first merit promotion made by President Wilson. In succession to Mr. Marble the Inter-State Commerce Commission appointed George B. McGinty as its Secretary, and Alfred H. Holmead, Assistant Secretary. Mr. McGinty has been Assistant Secretary and Mr. Holmead chief of the Docket Division.

Byron H. Newton of New York, formerly of The New York Herald, was to-day appointed private secretary to Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury Department.

The President had before him to-day the question of whether he should consent to the appointment of a relative to public office. On Saturday, when Capt. Alfred Wilson of Portland, Ore., a second cousin of the President, was suggested to the Secretary of War for a member of the Philippine Commission, Mr. Garrison consulted the President and found him disinclined to appoint any relative to office. A delegation of Westerners, however, talked again to-day to Secretary Garrison in the interest of Capt. Wilson, and the Secretary told them he would have no objection to the appointment of Capt. Wilson if the President were willing.

Later the delegation called on the President on behalf of Capt. Wilson. It consisted of National Committeeman John Patterson of Washington, John H. Wilson of Hawaii, and Z. R. Cheney of Alaska; H. C. Todd, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Washington; Charles G. Heifner of Seattle, Judge James Ross of the Philippines, Charles Drury, William Blackman and W. N. Cockran, Democrats, of the State of Washington. The President promised to consider their recommendations.

WILSON MEETS DIPLOMATS.

146 Make His and Bryan's Official Acquaintance at the White House.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—President Wilson was presented to-day to the Diplomatic Corps. In a semi-circle of brilliant color, their uniforms gilded profusely with the insignia of their rank, 146 foreign representatives assembled in the East Room of the White House to make their official acquaintance with the new President and the Secretary of State, William Jennings Bryan. The latter wore conventional frock suits. The President was accompanied by his chief aid, Col. Spencer Cosby, and his personal aid, Major Thomas L. Rhoads, each in full-dress army uniform.

Chandler Hale, Third Assistant Secretary of State, made the presentations. To each diplomat the President spoke a word of greeting, but the ceremony throughout was quietly formal.

After the presentation he addressed the diplomats, expressing the hope for the continuance of amicable relations between this Nation and their respective countries and the wish that their service in Washington might be personally enjoyable.

On Wednesday afternoon the Diplomatic Corps will be entertained at tea at the White House, with the members of their families, when Mrs. Wilson and the three Wilson daughters will be presented.

Secretary Bryan also received most of the Diplomatic Corps at the State Department. He told them of the earnest desire of the Administration to strengthen the relations between the United States and other nations.

Ambassador Jusserand, the doyen of the corps, replied in a responsive vein, and then personally presented the members of the diplomatic body to the new Secretary of State. They were particularly impressed by Mr. Bryan's invitation to them to call upon him personally and without restraint whenever they felt that any question between their Governments and the United States demanded speedy consideration and action.

OLNEY HAS EMBASSY OFFER.

Admits Receiving Wilson's Tender of Ambassadorship to Britain.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—President Wilson's tender of the office of Ambassador to Great Britain to Richard Olney of Massachusetts, former Secretary of State, is now in Mr. Olney's possession. No response has yet come from Mr. Olney.

Should Mr. Olney accept President Wilson's tender, the President will ask the Massachusetts Senators, Messrs. Lodge and Weeks, both Republicans, if they have any objection to Mr. Olney's appointment, and they will give assurance that Mr. Olney's selection is agreeable to them. The President intends to adhere to the traditional limited application of the "advice and consent of the Senate" provision of the Constitution in all cases even when the Senators involved are of the Republican faith.

Thomas Nelson Page of this city, the novelist, wants to be Ambassador to Rome. Mr. Page has indicated that he prefers the Italian mission above all others. That post is understood to have been offered to Joseph E. Davies of Madison, Wis., who declined it on the ground that he could not afford to accept. Mr. Davies' is Secretary of the Democratic National Committee. It is believed that he may become Governor of Porto Rico.

Benton McMillan, a former Governor of Tennessee and Representative in Congress, is mentioned to-day as a likely selection for Ambassador to Mexico in succession to Henry Lane Wilson. Mr. McMilian is in the city. It is said he declined a European post.

BOSTON, March 10.—A friend close to Mr. Olney gave out this statement to-night:

"Mr. Olney admits having received the offer of the Ambassadorship in London."

IS CONSISTENCY A JEWEL?

According to the popular idea of consistency a man must never change his position. If he thinks and says a thing once he must continue to think and say it all his life or else be called inconsistent.

If, however, a man should never change his point of view, and therefore his conclusions, why then all this effort of advanced salesmanship and advertising methods?

It seems that it is inconsistent for a man to change his own mind, but that it is perfectly consistent for some other man to change it for him. My, what a funny old world!

Now, we at the Bush Terminal are inconsistent, terribly so. We change our minds every day. Each day we find the best way to perform some part of our work, only to abandon this way for a better one. And, too, we have a host of inconsistent tenants, who, from time to time, discover better ways of conducting their operations, and thus are obliged to change their minds regarding the space they intend to use. They continue to enlarge their quarters to take care of increasing business. If they are consistent in anything at all it is in the fact that they seldom change their minds about the advantages of a tenancy at the Bush Terminal.

McCLELLAN AS AMBASSADOR.

Princeton Hears He Is to Go to Italy—He Makes Denial.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 10.—A report that George B. McClellan, Ex-Mayor of New York City and now a professor at Princeton, was to be made Ambassador to Italy was current among the faculty of Princeton University to-day. At his new home here to-night Mr. McClellan said: "I deny it absolutely. I am a candidate for nothing."

Despite Mr. McClellan's denial the more knowing ones in Princeton say that the post will be tendered to the Princeton professor before many days. Mr. McClellan was one of the last men that President Wilson said good-bye to as he stepped aboard the train to go to Washington.

WHITE HOUSE BAN ON WINE.

Executive Mansion to be "Dry" Unless Wilson Family Changes Views.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Intoxicating liquors will have no place in the White House during the next four years unless the President's views undergo a change, for President Wilson and his family, are averse to the use of wines and liquors in any form.

Secretary Bryan has been a prohibition advocate for many years. On one occasion Mr. Bryan would have made it a national issue, and it was due to his efforts that the prohibition legislation in Nebraska was put into effect.

There has not been so dry a prospect in the White House since the days of President Hayes, when Mrs. Hayes rigidly excluded wines and liquors from the Executive Mansion.

PEARY TO HEAD SCOTT FUND.

Committee Hopes to Raise $10,000 for a Memorial to Polar Heroes.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, the arctic explorer, has consented to become president of the American branch of the Scott Memorial Fund, and co-operate with the Mansion House Fund in London to provide a fitting memorial to Capt. Scott and his men, who perished returning from the South Pole.

The American committee hopes to raise $10,000 as its contribution.

21 Years on Commerce Commission.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Judge J. C. Clements, senior member of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, to-day celebrated his twenty-first anniversary as a member of that body. He was appointed in 1892 to succeed Commissioner Bragg, and has been reappointed three times. In 1911 he served as Chairman of the commission.

FRANCE THE PERIL, SAYS GERMAN PAPER

Semi-Official Cologne Gazette Says Relations with That Power Are Greatly Strained.

MONEY FAMINE CONTINUES

Gold to be Imported from This Country — "End of French Culture," Says Anatole France of Army Bill.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, March 10.—The semi-official Cologne Gazette publishes an extraordinary leading article, headed "The Mischiefmaker," in which it says:

"It will not be difficult for the German Government to justify the necessity for the army increase if it will only speak out plainly and, without mincing words, indicate the point from which danger is threatened—as all the world realizes, from France."

The paper says nobody underestimates the gravity of the new conditions in the Balkans, but when the country is asked to make such heavy sacrifices chapter and verse must be given, and the Government's finger must point to the precise spot from which there is immediate peril—that is, France. It adds:

"Never were our relations with our western neighbor so strained as to-day. Never has the idea of revenge been so openly flaunted. Never has it been so apparent that the French made their Russian alliance and their English friendship for the sole object of recapturing Alsace-Lorraine.

"One thing is absolutely sure. Whenever the world catches fire the Germans will have to cross swords with the French. When that will happen nobody can tell."

Wholesale realizations of foreign securities, notably Canadian Pacific Railway shares, are taking place in Germany in order to relieve the unprecedented famine of gold and money. The Stock Exchanges in Berlin and elsewhere in Prussia were closed to-day on account of the centenary of the nation's rise against the Napoleonic oppressor.

To procure money investors are sacrificing their foreign holdings. This condition has been brought about primarily by the hoarding craze which has obsessed Germans since the outbreak of the war in the Balkans. It has not been lessened by the nervousness of their own Government, as manifested by the gigantic army increase.

The sum now hoarded by timid Germans is estimated at between $112,500,000 and $125,000,000. Merchants and manufacturers report that it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain the payment of bills even from customers who have never before been delinquent.

Another aggravating factor is the deficit caused by the withdrawal of the immense balance which foreign banks formerly kept on loan in this country.

A money famine can only be relieved from abroad. Gold must be imported. England was drawn on last week to the extent of $1,500,000, and still heavier importations are in process of arrangement with the United States.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 11.—"It is the end of French culture" is cited as the opinion of Anatole France on the new French Conscription bill in an interview sent to The Daily News by Harold Spender from Paris. M. France is further quoted as follows:

"This addition to the yearly conscription comes on us just when France is moving forward with new energy both in science and industry. It will be a grave blow to all our higher life. Medicine especially will be injured, for the medicine of the army is not the medicine of the civil State. French science requires the time of its young students, and that will be gravely curtailed. The demand for another barrack year from all young Frenchmen, imposed without exemptions, will draw off the best from every field of life.

"It comes at a moment of great industrial development. It will check that development. It comes at a moment of expansion in our arts, especially in sculpture, and it will be a heavy blow. Sculpture is not practiced on the battlefield."

Mr. Spender declares that the militarist spirit is at present supreme in France and that other voices are not likely to be heard, for the present, at least. The ordinary attitude of the Frenchman, he says, is one of resignation rather than aggression, but the cry "à Berlin," which resounded through the streets of Paris before 1870, has been raised again for the first time in forty years.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 11.—The alarming development of European armament and the open references of the German press to the possibility of a French war of revenge have created a feeling of anxiety in Great Britain, and the London morning papers express disappointment at the omission in the King's speech at the opening of Parliament of any indication of the Government's intentions with regard to further defensive measures to meet the growth of Continental armaments.

The subsequent debate on the address, however, brought an important statement from Premier Asquith. Lord Hugh Cicil had voiced the current rumors that the Government was embarking on a dangerous foreign policy, and had entered into an engagement in certain contingencies to throw a British expeditionary army across the Channel.

The Prime Minister jumped up and said: "I ought to say at once that this is not true."

This explicit denial was received with loud cheers.

PRUSSIA IS CELEBRATING.

Nation Rejoices Over Centenary of Revolt Against Napoleon.

BERLIN, March 10.—Emperor William and the Prussian people to-day began the celebration of the centenary of the rising against Napoleon, which culminated in the Battlt of Leipsic in October, 1813, when the combined Prussian, Russian, Austrian, and Swedish armies defeated the French troops with great loss, and opened the way for the liberation of Germany from Napoleonic control and for the downfall of Napoleon.

To-day also was the centenary of the establishment of the Iron Cross, a decoration given to German soldiers for the display of great courage on the field of battle.

In spite of a drizzling rain, enormous crowds gathered to cheer the Emperor on his way to place wreaths on a number of Berlin statues, including those of King William and Queen Louise. The Emperor later in the day attended a service of thanks in the Cathedral, and also reviewed a parade of the troops of the Berlin garrison, many of the regiments of which carried the battle flags which they had borne in the Napoleonic wars a century ago.

WARNS AGAINST PURITANISM.

London Standard Thinks Wilson Teetotal Policy a Mistake.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 11.—The Standard, in an editorial headed "Teetotalism at the White House," claims the privileges of a candid friend and warns President Wilson against the tendency of the early Puritans to "compound for sins they have a mind to by damning those they're not inclined to." It says:

"The United Kingdom Alliance no doubt sees something heroic in President Wilson's resolve to be guilty of no compromise with the fiend that biteth like an adder and stingeth like a serpent, but people of more balanced judgment probably feel that in this matter the new President has shown himself lacking a sense of proportion and breadth of view that are among the highest qualifications of a practical statesman. President Wilson must be careful lest he gain the fatal reputation of being a crank. His address was dangerously near the line that divides nobility of thought and purpose from mere highfalutin. Ostentatious democracy at the White House and narrow-minded intrusion of personal idiosyncrasy may end by creating an atmosphere of prejudice that may obscure the many admirable qualities of which the President is universally believed to be possessed.

"In suggesting that it is unwise to fly unnecessarily in the face of social usage we do not mean to infer that diplomatic and official life necessarily reposes on a basis of champagne and liqueurs. In practice, most cultured people are strictly temperate men and women nowadays. Still, alcohol remains, and probably always will remain, an important element in social life. The head of state, whatever his private predilections, is hardly justified in banishing it from his hospitality. Living up to one's ideals is very well; making others live up to them is always a selfish, seldom a judicious, proceeding."

The non-alcoholic regime which is said to have been inaugurated at the White House would not suit the majority of British and Irish M. P.'s. To the refreshment department of the House of Commons these legislators pay $40,000 a year for wines. The Kitchen Committee has a low tariff on alcoholic beverages. Champagne is many shillings a bottle lower than at the restaurants. A half bottle of excellent wine may be bought there for 6d. Fourpence is charged for a cup of coffee and a liqueur or brandy.

The teetotalers in the House number about 100.

OFFICERS IN VAUDEVILLE.

Two ex-Members of British Army Join "the Profession."

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 10.—Billed as "Two Captains—Musical Humorous Entertainers," Capt. Arthur Wood, son of Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, and Capt. Henry Green, D. S. O., began work on the variety stage as a profession to-night at the Aldershot Hippodrome. Both were educated at Beaumont College and Sandhurst, were commissioned in the Scottish Rifles, and served in South Africa, taking part in the relief of Ladysmith and the battle of Spion Kop. They assign as the reason for their change of vocation "simply to earn a living." They possess fine tenor voices.

Their "turn" consisted of songs, mainly on army and political subjects. One duet was entitled "Wouldn't That Be a Pleasant Surprise." It ran in part:

Supposing the Government woke up one day,
Here's the first thing they'd do were they wise:
Army council they'd sack, bring Kitchener back.
Wouldn't that be a pleasant surprise?
You've heard of the suffrage gunpowder plot
To blow up his house to the skies;
But Lloyd George is at peace, for he'd not signed the lease.
For him what a pleasant surprise!

The audience was largely composed of soldiers and applauded the performers. The officers left the army a year ago, when they were on Gen. Sir Horace Smith Doren's staff at Aldershot.

Mr. Bryan's Frank Expression of Views on Policy Toward the Republic.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, held a long conference this afternoon with Henry P. Davison and Willard Straight of the firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. and Paul M. Warburg of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. in regard to the outlook for stability in China and the adjustment of the Chinese loan by the Nationals of England, France, Germany, and the United States. The financiers are interested in the policy of the incoming Administration toward China and the possibility of the recognition of the Chinese Republic. The conference began at 4 o'clock this afternoon and continued until nearly 7 o'clock this evening.

There were present, besides the representatives of the New York banking houses, Huntington Wilson, Assistant Secretary of State; Chandler Anderson, counsellor for the State Department, and Ransford Miller, Chief of the Division of Far Eastern Affairs. Mr. Straight, who, as representative at Peking of the American group consisting of J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the National City Bank, and the First National Bank, all of New York, gained a thorough knowledge of conditions and the cross play of international interests in the negotiations to arrange the loan to China, laid before Mr. Bryan a statement of the pending proposition and the action proposed to be taken in the concert of the powers as to loans by their Nationals.

The present plan provides for a loan of $125,000,000 rather than the larger amount of $300,000,000 which was under consideration a year ago. Work on the new plan has been under way for three months, and has been conducted with great care to avoid the complications that have beset the matter from the beginning. The share that the American banking houses are to have in the loan and the details of the sources of income to be pledged for the security of the loan were discussed briefly. To-day the greater part of the time of the conference was taken up in discussing the attitude of the present Administration toward the protection of American interests in China.

Bankers Give Their Views.

The delegation of bankers gave their views to Mr. Bryan as to the kind of man they would like to have appointed as Minister to China without indicating any particular individual. They also asked that the Administration adopt a policy that will safeguard American influence in China, and if possible promote increasing friendliness between the two countries and enlarge all commercial facilities. The Secretary of State frankly gave his views on the relations that in his opinion should be maintained between the two countries and said that his expectation was that with the esablished certainty of a stable Government in China there would be little delay in its recognition by the United States.

Discuss Recognition of China.

There was some discussion of the impending disruption of the Chinese Army owing to the failure to pay the troops and recurring threats of mutiny. This phase of the situation, it was thought by some, might be a cause for withholding, for a time at least, the recognition of the new Government, that humanitarian influences all over the United States are daily urging with great force. Mr. Bryan said that since entering upon the duties of his office he had been in receipt of a large number of letters urging upon him the wisdom of recognizing the Chinese Republic without delay.

The conference which had been arranged by appointment occurred just when many Senators and Representatives had come, also by appointment, to see Mr. Bryan. During the time that the discussion of Chinese affairs was in progress over thirty persons were waiting in the State reception room for an opportunity to see the Secretary of State.

Among them were three candidates for diplomatic appointments. Mr. Bryan's former running mate, Senator Kern of Indiana, and Senator Hughes of New Jersey were among the Senators who waited until the bankers had gone before they could enter the Secretary's office. Mr. Kern paced up and down the corridors, and frequently looked into the ante room, but the subject of Chinese finance was apparently too engrossing to admit of any interruption.

The delegation of bankers missed the 7:40 train for New York and spent the evening in Washington. They returned to New York on a midnight train.

A conference between representatives of J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the National City Bank, and the First National Bank with Mr. Bryan as Secretary of State, had been expected in financial circles. These banks and banking firms form the American participation in China's "six-power" loan negotiations, and it was supposed that they would want to know something about the probable policy of the United States toward the new Chinese republic before actually taking up their share of the $125,000,000 loan.

Final steps in financing China's railroad and industrial expansion were prevented on Feb. 4 when France objected to the selection of three financial Directors for the republic. The papers were ready to sign that day calling for the immediate payment into the Chinese Treasury of $10,000,000, with another $10,000,000 later in the month, and $15,000,000 in March. The objection filed by French bankers forced a halt in the proceedings, and the loan is still hanging fire.

PARIS, March 10.—The sale of the collection of ancient and modern pictures, objects of art, tapestries and furniture formed by the late Edouard Detaille was begun at the Hotel Drouot to-day. M. Detaille left nearly all his own work to the Historical Costume Society, and there has therefore been no large sale of pictures from his brush.

To-day's catalogue included a portrait of an English gentleman of the eighteenth century, which sold for $1,200; a portrait by Greuze believed to represent Jean Jacques Caffieri, which brought $540, and a portrait of an unknown gentleman by Romney, which sold for $3,240.

VERVINS, France, March 10.—Ten persons were mortally injured and forty-five others seriously hurt in a panic caused by the explosion of a moving-picture apparatus in a small upstairs theatre here last night. The audience numbered 120, most of whom were children.

In their rush to get out the people choked the stairway and jumped from the windows.

The fire which followed the explosion was rapidly extinguished by the fire brigade.

THE POPE MUCH BETTER.

The Doctors Do Not Now Think That There Is Cause for Anxiety.

ROME, March 10.—The improvement in the condtion of the Pope continued throughout the day, and the physicians permitted a more abundant diet in order to maintain the strength of the patient.

It is said that the Pope has expressed a desire to see his brother, Angelo Sarto, who is the Postmaster at Grazie, in the Province of Mantua.

The symptoms of the patient were relieved by the tranquillity of his rest last night. There was no rise in his temperature, and the doctors to-day reported that his cough had considerably diminished; that fever was almost non-existent, and that the catarrh was taking its usual course. The physicians declared that the indications were that there was no further cause for anxiety, although absolute rest for his Holiness would continue to be essential for some time.

The condition of Cardinal Raspighi, the Vicar General, is carefully concealed from the Pope. The Cardinal is sinking fast, and, as though he had an intuition of his grave state of health, the Pope to-day sent him the apostolic benediction.

SAYS HE IS TORCH OF THE ARSON TRUST

IMPLICATES 100 OTHERS

Set Gitenstein Fire Here Last June—Says Police Had Been Warned of His Plans.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 10.—Admitting guilty knowledge of many fires of incendiary origin and also the actual existence of an "arson trust," an investigation of which has aroused the entire Middle West, Benjamin Fink, the alleged "torch" of the criminal combination, made a complete confession to Prosecutor Chester Montgomery here to-day.

Fink admitted everything when he saw there was no chance of being freed in the courts, inasmuch as his partner, Benjamin Kahn, had already been convicted. Fink was to have been placed on trial in the Circuit Court to-day, but the case against him here was dismissed, and he was taken to Chicago.

The damage done by the incendiary fires started by Fink, according to his confession, is estimated at $1,000,000.

His revelations implicate about 100 persons, many of them prominent, whose arrests promise to be the next sensational development in the investigation of the "arson trust," which Fink admits actually did exist. Before the departure of Frank Johnson, Assistant State's Attorney, who came here from Chicago to hear the confession, Prosecutor Montgomery made all arrangements with him for the arrest of those Fink named.

Spira, Zar, and Brown, insurance adjusters of Chicago, are the heads of the "arson trust" according to Fink. He declares they paid him from $400 to $1,500 for each fire he set, they themselves receiving as high as $10,000 for one fire. Fink's confession was made on a promise of leniency.

Among the fires Fink confesses to having set are the following:

New York, June 3, 1912—Large wholesale dry goods house of Israel Gitenstein, 12 White Street; loss, $200,000; insurance, $300,000. The New York police were warned several days before this fire occurred that Fink was going to start it.

Chicago, March 22, 1912—Two-story bakery, 906-908 Milton Avenue; loss, $10,000; fully insured. Fink's own brother was killed in this fire.

Chicago, May 22, 1912—B. M. Lauine & Co., 1,141 Milwaukee Avenue; insured for $22,000, which was the total loss.

Chicago, May 7, 1911—B. Spira & Co., 1,622 South Peoria Street; total loss; insurance, $16,500.

Chicago, July 6, 1902—Henry Bosch Company, 525 South Wabash Avenue; total loss; insurance, $80,000.

Chicago—L. C. Orrell & Co., 1,416 West Lake Street, wall paper and paint store; total loss; insured for $61,000.

Chicago, Dec. 17, 1908—Illinois Woolen Company, 315 West Twelfth Street; total loss; insurance, $19,500.

The shirt factory of I. Gitenstein, which occupied the five upper stories of the six-story brick loft building at 12 White Street, was destroyed by fire early on the morning of June 3 last, and water, which was driven into the flames at the rate of 12,000 gallons a minute, ruined a $60,000 stock of embroidered linen and lace on the first floor and basement owned by Ireland Brothers, importers.

Several times the fire threatened to spread further with disastrous consequences. It did jump to the building at 14 White Street, and although the firemen saved that structure, they did so at the cost of many thousands of dollars in water damage. Much damage was also done to the building on the other side.

FEARS SCUTARI MASSACRE.

Correspondent of English Paper Says the Allies Threaten It.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 11.—The massacre of the entire population of the Turkish fortress of Scutari is probable when that city falls, according to a traveler who writes to The Manchester Guardian. The newspaper gives prominence to the letter, saying that the writer has had every opportunity to know the temper of the Montenegrin and Servian besiegers, and it appeals to Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, and to the European powers to take steps to avert such a massacre.

The writer says that Servian officers at the Port of Durazzo boasted to him that they had exterminated the Moslem Albanian tribe of Lyuma. He continues:

"Later a Montenegrin official assured me very earnestly: 'We have completely exterminated the Rugova tribe. When we had overpowered them we made them all pass under the sword. I assure you that not one of the tribe remains.' The Montenegrins' reason was that the tribesmen were animals—savage beasts."

The leading Belgrade paper is quoted by the writer as recommending that no quarter be given to the civilian inhabitants of Scutari, and that the town be leveled to the ground.

The Balkan situation came up for discussion in the House of Commons yesterday in the course of the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne. Premier Asquith said:

"An agreement on one or two points only, and these not vital ones, is required to secure the complete accord of the powers on the question of the boundaries of Albania."

The Premier confirmed the report that Turkey had agreed to the mediation of the powers, which, he said, were now waiting to hear whether the allies also were willing to accept it.

Mr. Asquith also reiterated that a settlement had been reached on the question of Servia's economic access to the Adriatic littoral and as to an autonomous Albania under European guarantee.

A GREEK-BULGARIAN BATTLE.

Quarrel Over Possession of a Captured Town—Casualties Heavy.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 11.—A Salonika dispatch to The Times dated March 8, gives details of a serious fight, with heavy casualties, between Bulgarians and Greeks at Nighrita. According to the Sofia correspondent of The Times, the two Governments have arranged to institute a strict inquiry into this engagement and to punish the guilty parties. They will elaborate a code of regulations to prevent a repetition of such incidents.

The Salonika dispatch says that the Bulgarians failed to occupy Nighrita in the hurried march to Salonika, and the Greeks captured the town after a skirmish with the Turks. Nighrita will have importance when the new frontier comes to be drawn, and the Bulgarian authorities recently sent 150 troops to the place. The Greeks, however, refused to admit them, compelling them to camp at a neighboring village.

A strong Bulgarian force was then sent with guns, and, without giving the customary notice, placed the guns in position and bombarded Nighrita last Wednesday.

The Greeks, who were without artillery, replied with rifle fire. The fight continued until Friday. Both sides suffered heavy losses, and the battle was not ended when the messenger left.

TOURISTS VISIT WAR ZONE.

Laconia Passengers Guests of Turkish Government in Constantinople.

A cable was received yesterday at the office of Clark's Tours, in The Times Building, stating that the Laconia, with 600 Americans on board, had arrived at Constantinople. The Turkish Government officials assigned escorts to show the tourists all places of interest in Stamboul and assured them that there was no danger.

The Laconia is the first passenger steamer to pass through the Dardanelles since the outbreak of the Balkan war, and the passengers had an opportunity to see the Turkish army camps and fleet as the liner passed through the straits.

TOWN WRECKED; SIX KILLED.

Explosion in Dynamite Factory in Scotland Causes Great Havoc.

GLASGOW, March 10.—A terrific dynamite explosion killed six inhabitants of the town of Irvine, Ayrshire, and badly injured ten others to-day, as well as virtually wrecking the town.

The explosion occurred at the works of Nobel's Explosives Company, at Arder, a little more than twenty miles from Glasgow.

The town of Irvine, half a mile from the works, was shaken to its foundations. Many houses, churches, schools, and public institutions were irretrievably damaged. Ceilings fell everywhere, partitions collapsed, and scarcely a window was left intact.

People walking on the streets were thrown to the ground. All the inhabitants rushed from their houses in consternation.

The harbor and many works adjacent to the scene of the explosion are masses of wreckage.

There were three distinct explosions, followed by an immense column of smoke, which rose high into the air and could be seen miles away.

WILSON SEES BRANDEIS.

No Official Post for Lawyer, but He Will Be Consulted on Trusts.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, who was frequently mentioned for a post in the Wilson Cabinet, had a long conference with the President at the White House to-night. It was the first time they had met since the day preceding the November election, when President Wilson was campaigning in Massachusetts.

Mr. Brandeis declined to discuss his visit. It was definitely learned, however, that he will not be associated in any official connection with the Administration, but will be frequently consulted when anti-trust reform is undertaken. It is known that the President entertains a high regard for his views on the question of strengthening the Sherman Anti-Trust law, the regulation of competition, and the curbing of monopolies.

Mr. Brandeis was at the White House from 8 o'clock until just before 9, and left at midnight for Boston.

TRAMP'S CANDOR WINS PRIZE.

Philosophical Answer to "Why I Am a Bum" Gets Pastor's Dollar.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Immanuel Baptist Church here gives a daily breakfast of coffee and rolls to between sixty and 100 tramps and unemployed men. The Rev. Louis Anderson, 30 years old, without residence or job, won the dollar. These were his reasons:

"Unrestricted immigration. There are not jobs enough to go around.

"Incompetence, both from birth and bad habits. Employers want the best men. We are not the best.

"The drink habit, a form of moral insanity."

SURE HE IS THE HEAD OF THE ARSON RING

Chicago Authorities on the Way Home with John Danies, a Roadhouse Keeper.

AGENTS IN ALL THE CITIES

Whenever He Appeared a Big Fire Followed and Then He Disappeared—Freeman's Trial On Here.

John Danies, the reputed head of the Chicago Arson Ring, was taken to that city yesterday by Detective Thomas Sheehan and Assistant States Attorney J. F. Ferthman of Cook County, Ill.

Danies was arrested in his roadhouse, The Klondike, on Boston road, ten days ago. He is under five indictments in Chicago for arson and $60,000 bail. Mr. Ferthman said:

"This prisoner has been leading a double life for many years, and I have reason to believe that he is not only the head of the Chicago Arson Ring, but I am also of the opinion that he is the head of a nation-wide arson trust."

District Attorney Whitman received a letter from Maclay Hoyne, State's Attorney of Cook Co., Ill., in which Mr. Hoyne said that if the defendant made any attempt to get released on bail he would suggest that Mr. Whitman ask for $60,000 cash bail, as Mr. Hoyne was fully convinced that Danies would skip any other bail which might be offered. The Federal authorities, he said, were investigating Danies's visits to all the large cities, in which he had agents to aid in his plans for incendiarism. These visits were always followed by incendiary fires and the immediate disappearance of Danies. He would reappear again in a few days at a far distant city, and the same incidents would be repeated.

Isidor Stein, alias "Izzy" the Painter," the confessed firebug, was the principal witness yesterday before Judge Swann in General Sessions in the trial of Henry C. Freeman, the insurance adjuster of 123 William Street, who is on trial for arson in the second degree as a result of Stein's confession.

Freeman is charged with hiring Stein to set fire to the flat of Abraham Schlichten of 315 East 101st Street that he might recover the insurance upon Schlichten's furniture. After the fire, it is alleged, Freeman collected $325 from the Liverpool, London, and Globe Fire Insurance Company. Freeman is alleged to have received $50 of this, Stein $25, and Schlichten the remainder.

WEBER A BATTALION CHIEF.

Firemen Bernard Conlin and Joseph Henry to Lieutenants.

Firemen Peter H. Knauer, Anton Busch, and John De Ball, promoted to engineers.

In addition eight applicants who had taken the necessary examinations were made probationary firemen. Substantial salary increases go with the promotions. A Battalion Chief gets $3,500 a year, a Captain $2,500, a Lieutenant $2,100, and engineers $1,600.

EARTHQUAKE KILLED MANY.

Large Number of Children Among Victims of Guatemala Disaster.

GUATEMALA CITY, March 10.—President Cabrera has ordered that relief be sent to the eastern section of the republic, where a severe earthquake has destroyed the town of Cuilapa and adjoining places.

The earth shocks were widespread, and were distinctly felt in Guatemala City, although no damage was done here.

Details are meagre, but it is reported that there was considerable loss of life at Cuilapa and the neighboring villages, especially among school children, the schools being filled when the shocks occurred.

DR. MAINS DEFENDS VIEWS.

Says the Bible Has Been the "Paper Pope of Protestantism."

The Rev. Dr. George P. Mains, publishing agent of the Methodist Book Concern, defended himself yesterday at the regular Monday meeting of Methodist ministers in the Methodist Building, in Fifth Avenue, against the attack made on him, the concern, and its publications at the recent Atlantic City Conference. The knowledge that Dr. Mains was to speak crowded the hall, preachers coming from Long Island, New Jersey, and Staten Island to join in the controversy.

A delegation came from Drew Seminary, and Prof. Rogers of Drew, after listening to Dr. Mains, spoke briefly to express his entire accord with the doctor's views. The discussion, one of the most heated which has ever shaken the Methodist Church, will be continued at a closed meeting next Monday night, the managers of yesterday's meeting having succeeded in shutting off discussion yesterday in the open meeting.

Dr. Mains was uncompromising in his defense of his opinions. He asserted that the Reformation started by Martin Luther had protested against and defeated an infallible church, but Protestantism had replaced the infallible church with an infallible book, the "Paper Pope of Protestantism." Higher Critics, said Dr. Mains, were now doing in connection with this "Paper Pope" just what earlier critics had done in relation to the infallible church, and one task was quite as necessary as the other. Higher criticism, he said, was selecting some parts of the Bible to believe and others to reject.

Presbyterians as well as Methodists have been drawn into the controversy through the proposal to bring into the church the Union Theological Seminary of this city. Union is to Presbyterianism what Drew is to Methodism, and the New York Presbytery, which met in the Fourth Church in West End Avenue for prayers yesterday, will shortly have to pass on the admission of the seminary. Stout opposition has developed already, because of the advanced views of the seminary.

FIRE ALARM TO OPEN 9 NEW FIREHOUSES

The Mayor Is to Sound It and Ten Companies Will Dash to Their Future Homes.

46 MORE HOUSES BUILDING

These Are the First Completed, Six Being in Brooklyn, One in Bronx, and Two in Manhattan.

Unusual ceremonies will mark the opening on Thursday afternoon, March 20, of the nine new fire houses which are to house ten new companies. Mayor Gaynor will start the companies for their new stations by turning in an alarm from the City Hall, and later in the day he will award the Fire Department medals to the men who have been selected for distinguished service. Fire Commissioner Joseph Johnson and Fire Chief Kenlon will formally open the houses, and city officials and representatives of civic organizations will be there to take part.

The houses are the first of the forty-six which were started last year to be finished. They are of brick, stone and concrete, and cost more than $500,000. Several of the new houses have roof gardens which will be used for sleeping rooms during warm weather. Each engine company will be equipped with a motor steam-pumping engine with a capacity for pumping nearly 800 gallons of water a minute, besides a motor hose wagon or combination chemical "scout."

The new fire houses are located as follows:

BROOKLYN.

Smith and Lorraine Streets, southwest corner.

Seventh Avenue and Fiftieth Street, south side.

Twelfth Avenue and Forty-second Street, north side.

Cortelyou Road, south side, near East Twelfth Street.

582 Knickerbocker Avenue.

BRONX.

Morris Avenue, west side, near 169th Street.

MANHATTAN.

111th Street, south side, between Second and Third Avenues.

181st Street, north side, near Audubon Avenue.

At the Morris Avenue and 169th Street house a luncheon will be served by the Claremont Heights Property Owners' Association.

Firemen chauffeurs have been trained to operate the new motor apparatus, and have been assigned to the new companies. These men are graduates of the Commissioner's automobile school, which was organized more than a year ago as an adjunct to the Fire College.

Marie Dressler Again.

Marie Dressler with the company and so-called "All-Star Gambol" which was first introduced at the West End Theatre a couple of weeks ago, transferred her activities to Weber and Fields Theatre last night. The programme was much the same as that shown in Harlem, a new feature involving some swift dancing by Harry Weber and Ethel Wilson. Among the other performers besides Miss Dressler were Charles E. Evans, Jeff D'Angelis, Mme. Yorkska, Frederick Hastings, and Mary Desmond.

SULZER DROPS BILL DOUBLING STOCK TAX

Governor Acknowledges That Too Great a Burden Was Placed on a Single Industry.

HINTS OF GRADUATED PLAN

Introducers of Bill Highly Indignant — Stillwell Demands That Hearing Go On.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 10.—Yielding to the widespread opposition that his bill which proposed to double the tax on transfers of stock had aroused in business and financial circles, Gov. Sulzer to-day said that he had concluded to withdraw it from further consideration and let it die in the Legislative Committee.

The bill is now in the custody of the Committees on Taxation and Retrenchment in both houses. Even before Gov. Sulzer decided to let it die there the bill was doomed, for a majority of the most influential members of both the Senate and Assembly had reached the conclusion that the proposed increase in the tax was unjust.

The doubling of the tax of $2 on the transfer of each one hundred shares of securities was originally recommended by the Governor's Commission of Inquiry. At the same time the commission urged the doubling of the license fee for motor vehicles. Gov. Sulzer immediately had bills drafted carrying out the commission's recommendations and sent them to the Legislature, saying: "The State must have more revenues to meet its increasing obligations and this is a good way of getting some of it."

Gov. Sulzer's desire to place a burden which he now admits was unjust and oppressive on the business in securities was due in the first place to his desire to make a showing for his administration by abolishing the direct tax which Gov. Dix recommended that the Legislature impose. Speaking of the stock transfer tax bill to-day Gov. Sulzer said:

"It has aroused considerable opposition from segacious business people throughout the State. I think much of this opposition is well founded and that the bill goes too far in placing too great a burden of taxation on a single industry. After consultation with the commission we have concluded that its enactment may do more harm than good, and we prefer not to risk any injury to the legitimate business interests of our State or divert its business to other States.

"It is my purpose as Governor to do all in my power to promote the commercial supremacy of New York, and so excessive a step as doubling any tax may have a tendency to work injury to trade and commerce and defeat the very object desired. It is thought a hardship when real estate tax is increased a few mills. In view of this many citizens believe the doubling of the transfer tax is unjust and discriminatory, and that a law should ultimately be enacted for a graduated transfer tax on the intrinsic value of the security and not on its face value.

"I do not want the opposition to this transfer tax bill to jeopardize the enactment of the legislation to regulate Stock Exchanges. The latter legislation is the more important from a State and National standpoint, and now that the transfer tax bill is out of the way I trust all friends of honest and above board business methods in the purchase and sale of securities will aid me in the enactment of the bills to regulate trade and commerce on Stock Exchanges. The withdrawal of the transfer tax bill shows that I want to be fair and just."

The abandonment of the Stock Transfer Tax bill will render unnecessary a public hearing on that measure before the legislative committees, which was set down for Wednesday.

The Stock Transfer bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Stephen B. Stillwell of the Bronx and in the lower house by Assemblyman Edward Weil of the Twenty-second (New York) District. Both the introducers to-night took serious exception to Gov. Sulzer's action and said that he had no right to order any measure pending before the Legislature withdrawn or abandoned.

Senator Stillwell made his protest on the floor of the Senate, saying that he was determined to go on with the public hearing of the bill. Mr. Weil made a similar speech. So determined were the two introducers in their attitude that the Committees on Taxation and Retrenchment were summoned to meet shortly before midnight to pass on the question.

It is pointed out that with the Governor's attitude known, even if a hearing is held, no one will come from New York to attend it, for the Governor has the power to veto even if the Legislature should pass the bill. After wrangling for an hour behind closed doors the committees adjourned without taking any action. They will meet again before the session to-morrow.

BILL'S END PLEASES BROKERS.

Three Cheers for Sulzer on Exchange Floor—Other Measures Opposed.

The news that Gov. Sulzer had decided to withdraw the bill to double the tax on stock transfers was received on the Stock Exchange yesterday with considerable enthusiasm. One of the younger brokers proposed three cheers for Sulzer, and several of those on the floor joined him in giving them.

The Allied Real Estate Interests adopted resolutions commending the Governor's "broad-minded attitude," as indicating "an intelligent purpose to protect the business interests" of the city and State.

The Merchants' Association, which had issued a formal statement opposing the bill on Sunday, expressed gratification at Gov. Sulzer's action. Its special committee reported yesterday on some of the other Stock Exchange bills. Regarding the bill to limit the rate of interest on call loans it said "the unwisdom and futility of attempting to limit interest rates by law is so generally conceded that argument is unnecessary," and that "such limitation would seriously impede business transactions."

Of the bill compelling a member of an Exchange to trade for any customer it said this would prevent a grain merchant from exercising any discrimination as to his customers, with reference to financial soundness, &c. The bill has been amended to forbid discrimination only on the ground of membership in the Consolidated Exchange, at which it was aimed. The committee also condemned the bill requiring a corporation to make reports to the Secretary of State within five days of the end of the quarter, because of the shortness of time, a provision which, it is understood, is to be eliminated. The committee recommended that no action be taken on the bill to incorporate the Stock Exchange.

The Fifth Avenue Association also adopted resolutions yesterday, one of which was aimed at the Transfer Tax bill before it was withdrawn. This association opposed the Incorporation bill as seeking to accomplish indirectly what the State cannot accomplish directly; as seeking to supplant by police regulation a disciplinary government by the Exchange itself "that is a marvel of efficiency and high purpose," and as calculated to hamper the management and lower the tone of "a business that is striving to attain as high a plane as fallible men may."

The Fifth Avenue Association also condemned the bill to limit interest rates as economically unsound and "tending to aggravate a situation which can only be remedied by an amendment of the banking laws of the United States."

URGES STATE BUILDING HERE.

State Architect Wants to Save $89,000 New York Office Rent.

ALBANY, March 10.—The necessity for providing additional accommodations for the various State departments has grown to serious proportions, according to the report of the State Architect, made public to-day. Many of the departments which cannot be accommodated in the capital are housed in private buildings, for which large rentals are paid by the State. To accommodate these departments and to provide for their future expansion, a new departmental building is recommended, at an estimated cost of $2,500,000, exclusive of equipment.

Scattered over the City of New York are many branches of State departments paying in the aggregate approximately $89,000 a year, exclusive of the rentals for the offices of the Public Service Commission, First District. The State Architect recommends the purchase of a site and the erection of a suitable office building in New York City, not to exceed in cost an amount the interest on which would not be more than the rent now paid.

To reconstruct the burned portion of the State Capitol the State already has appropriated $1,500,000, and it is estimated that $1,225,000 more will be required to complete the work, which includes the rewiring of the entire building.

These recommendations were submitted to the Legislature to-night by C. A. Sussdorff, who was recently appointed acting State Architect by Gov. Sulzer after the resignation of Herman W. Hoefer, which was demanded by the Governor. The report had been prepared by Mr. Hoefer before he resigned.

CRITICISES CHICAGO JUDGE.

Gov. Sulzer Protests Against Release of Fugitive from Justice.

ALBANY, March 10.—Gov. Sulzer has sent a letter to Gov. Dunn of Illinois, protesting against a recent decision of Judge Foell of the Superior Court in Chicago, ordering the discharge of Barnard Hauslinger, who was wanted in New York City as a fugitive from justice.

Judge Foell's action was based upon the fact that the requisition from this State was certified under the privy seal instead of under the great seal, a system which has been in vogue in this State and never "successfully questioned anywhere excepting in Illinois," according to a letter sent to Gov. Sulzer by District Attorney Whitman of New York. The advisability of changing the present system so as to comply with the decision of Judge Foell has been suggested to the Governor by Mr. Whitman.

"It seems to me," says Gov. Sulzer in his letter to Gov. Dunne, "that the discharge of this man was wrong, and I desire to call it to your attention for such consideration, investigation, and examination as you may deem proper."

Gov. Sulzer to-day honored a requisition from Gov. Dunne for the return to that State of John Kabizak, known as John Davis, "the Captain," alias John Danies, who is wanted in Chicago on a charge of arson. Danies is under arrest in New York.

GLADDING'S MISTAKE IN AGE.

A Year Younger Than He Thought He Was, Justice's Answer to Attack.

ALBANY, March 10.—Gov. Sulzer recently had an investigation made of an anonymous complaint received at the Executive Chamber which said that Albert F. Gladding of Norwich, a Justice of the Supreme Court, had said in an application for life insurance that he was born on Dec. 9, 1842. He therefore had passed the age limit of 70 years in December, 1912. Justice Gladding's term expires at the end of this year.

Justice Gladding filed a sworn statement in the office of the Secretary of State in 1895, when he was elected a County Judge, giving his age as 53. In 1906, when he was elected a Supreme Court Justice, he said that he was 63 years old, and that his term would expire on Dec. 31, 1913.

Justice Gladding was asked to explain the discrepancy in the record, and his reply was made public to-day. Justice Gladding says that "for quite a number of years of my life I mistakenly called myself a year older than my actual age," and that his mother first called his attention to the error. He says further:

"My brother and I made thorough investigation, going to the country neighborhood where I was born and the old cemetery where my mother's family are buried, and found indisputable proof that I was born on Dec. 9, 1843."

COMPLAINS OF GOV. SULZER.

Misled Senate in Hoefer Case, Declares Leader Brown.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 10.—Senator Brown, Republican leader, introduced another resolution to-night calling on Gov. Sulzer to transmit to the Senate all correspondence and complaints against the nomination of Herman W. Hoefer as State Architect. Mr. Hoefer, who had been appointed during the recess, was renominated by Gov. Sulzer at the beginning of the year. His nomination was confirmed at once, but a week ago the Governor asked for his resignation following an investigation of charges made by the American Institute of Architects.

Senator Brown's complaint was that before the Senate confirmed the nomination, the Governor had received the complaint and that he should have so informed the Senate.

Senator Wagner, leader of the majority, contended that the nomination had passed out of the hands of the Senate before it was known that charges had been made. The resolution was referred to the Finance Committee by a vote of 24 to 18, Senator Peckham, Democrat, of Oneida, voting with the Republicans and Progressives in opposition.

BIRNKRANT IS SEATED.

Progressive Assemblyman Takes Place of Greenberg, Who Resigned.

ALBANY, March 10.—Maxim Birnkrant, Progressive, was seated to-night as a member of the Assembly from the Tenth Assembly District of New York in place of Meyer Greenberg, Democrat, who resigned.

The Assembly Committee on Privileges and Elections in its report to the Assembly to-night found that the corrected vote gave Birnkrant 2,262 and Greenberg 2,211. The original returns gave Greenberg 2,275 and Birnkrant 2,247. The report was adopted.

SCOTT AND REEL SAY REPORTS ARE UNFAIR

Both Charge Bias on the Part of Governor's Committee of Inquiry.

THEY ARE READY TO FIGHT

Gaffney, Murphy's Associate, Said to be Slated as New Highways Commissioner.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 10.—Gov. Sulzer today sent to Col. Joseph F. Scott, State Superintendent of Prisons, the report of his committee of inquiry, in which the Prison Superintendent was in effect, if not directly, accused of abuses in the administration of his department. In a letter that accompanied the report the Governor demanded an answer.

While Gov. Sulzer was not prepared to state this afternoon whether his action was the first step in proceedings for Col. Scott's removal from office, there is no doubt in Capitol circles that the Governor has this end in view. In fact, it was pretty generally asserted by persons in a position to know that unless the Governor should be deterred by the storm that such action would certainly arouse in the Democratic organization and throughout the State generally, Col. Scott's official head would fall into the basket before many days.

Col. Scott, who returned to the Capitol to-day from a week-end trip to his home, in Elmira, said that he would be prepared to answer fully the accusations made by the committee of inquiry.

"I have been Superintendent of State Prisons since June 1, 1911," said Col. Scott. "During that period much has been done in the improvement of the discipline of the institutions under this department. The industries of the prisons have been put on a good basis, and a very material increase in earnings shown. There has been a general investigation of conditions in the prisons, and many changes have been made in the official course to eliminate bad conditions. It is not contended that the institutions are perfect, but I believe they are in better condition than they have been for many years before.

"It was very apparent during the investigation by the Committee of Inquiry and by the gingerly way which they have passed over 'the Lewis and Clark expedition,' and their refusal to investigate after my demands for a thorough investigation the more serious charges against the department, and their magnifying petty things already known, that it was impossible for me to expect a fair, just, unbiased report from the committee at their hands. I am confident that when the Governor is apprised of the complete facts his well-known sense of fair play will take into consideration the explanations I may make."

To those who attended the public hearings of the committee when the Prison Department was under investigation it is very apparent that justification exists for the charge of unfairness made by Col. Scott. In regard to the charge that he involved the State in financial loss through the cutting of timber on the State's forest lands adjoining Clinton Prison, Col. Scott explained on the stand that he had consulted the Attorney General and had been told to go ahead. Of this fact no mention is made in the report rendered by the committee, on the strength of which an attempt is now to be made to oust Col. Scott as head of the Prison Department.

The Committee of Inquiry also allowed full weight to be given in its report to the testimony regarding the existence of a prison ring trafficking in pardons, with Col. Scott at its head. This testimony was given by the former Secretary of the committee, William F. Clark, in his various attempts to exculpate himself of the charge that he had used the Governor's name without authorization in connection with efforts to obtain the release of Harry K. Thaw from the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Matteawan.

Charges of unfairness against the Committee of Inquiry were also forthcoming from C. Gordon Reel, whose removal as State Superintendent of Highways was ordered by Gov. Sulzer last Friday. Mr. Reel returned to-day from Washington, where he had attended a good roads congress. He sent a letter to Gov. Sulzer acknowledging the receipt of his communication removing him as head of the Highways Department. In this letter Mr. Reel said:

"I note in a statement given to the press that you are quoted as saying that I declined to aid the Committee of Inquiry. This is a matter I will take up in a statement to the public. You are also quoted as saying that 'information of a very grave character has come to your knowledge which impels you to act at once without waiting for the report of the Committee of Inquiry.' I cannot imagine what this information can be, but can assure you that no damaging information of a grave character can be substantiated as far as I am concerned."

The Governor has not made public the new information in his possession, nor is the nature of it generally known. But the Department of Highways under the three-headed commission has provided no end of "honest graft" to politicians and their friends. It is generally understood that if a further investigation is made disclosures involving some very prominent Democratic politicians and a ring of contractors may follow. Executive Auditor John A. Hennessy was placed in charge of the department to-day, and the Governor has directed that a special watchman be kept on duty night and day to see that no papers or records are abstracted from the files of the department.

Mr. Hennessy has reported to the Governor that there are over seventy men employed by the Bureau of Maintenance of the department as foremen of laborers at a salary of $3.50 to $4.50 a day each, although no maintenance work is required at this time of the year.

In his statement to the public, Mr. Reel circumstantially denied the charge that he had failed to aid the Governor's Committee of Inquiry in its investigation of his department. He asserted, on the contrary, that the committee had persistently refused to investigate along lines he had suggestion in order that the true condition of the department might be revealed and testimony reflecting upon him be disproved. He says that John N. Carlisle, Chairman of the committee, was prejudiced against him; that at the beginning of the investigation he had declared that "Reel has got to go," and that the committee started out with a determination to "get his scalp" regardless of what the investigation might show.

There was an interesting rumor about the Capitol to-day to the effect that former Alderman James E. Gaffney of New York, who has been financially interested in Charles F. Murphy's contracting enterprises, was being considered as Reel's successor. This report was accepted as explaining in a measure the promptness with which Gov. Sulzer had acted in the case of Mr. Reel, and as an indication that Mr. Murphy had O.K.'d his removal under assurances that a good Tammany man would be named in his place.

The Committee of Inquiry has practically wound up its work. It is expected that its final report, together with drafts of appropriation bills cutting down the appropriations some $3,000,000, will be submitted to the Governor by the end of this week.

ONE OF HATT'S VICTIMS DIES.

Mrs. Gay's Death Hastened by Losses Suffered Through Trusting Lawyer.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 10.—Mrs. Maria Louisa Gay died in Pittsfield, Mass., last night, her end having been hastened by the financial losses which she suffered through her confidence in Samuel S. Hatt, the lawyer who looted half a dozen trust estates, and who is now serving a long sentence in Clinton Prison.

Mrs. Gay was the daughter of the late Darius S. Wood, who made Hatt Trustee of his daughter's $30,000 trust fund. Later Mrs. Gay placed almost all her property, amounting to nearly $100,000, in Mr. Hatt's control. How much can be recovered has yet to be learned.

CZAR'S WIDOW SUES HER AGENT HERE

Princess Yourievsky, Who as Princess Dolgorouki Wed Alexander II., Asks $2,900.

SAYS IT IS TOO LARGE A FEE

Agent Replies That It Was a Hard Task to Collect on Promoter's Note.

As the representative of Princess Catherine Yourievsky of Paris, who as Princess Dolgorouki contracted a morganatic marriage with Czar Alexander II. of Russia, Frank B. Vermilya of the office of Paul De Fere, 5 Nassau Street, brought suit yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Donnelly against Victor E. Gartz of 45 Broadway for the recovery of $2,900, which, it is alleged, he should have turned over to the Princess from sums of money which he collected for her in this country.

The complaint states that Gartz was hired by the Princess Yourievsky at a retaining fee of $100 to obtain payment on a note of $5,000 from Krucien Luiggi, a European promoter, by attaching his property in America. He did obtain $22,500 on another note of $25,000, owed by Luiggi to the Princess, and of this sum he retained, according to the complaint, $3,900.

During the past ten years she intrusted Luiggi with sums in the neighborhood of 600,000f., they said. This money was covered by promissory notes and was intended for him to invest in South America. Later she retained Victor E. Gartz to obtain payment on a $5,000 note by attaching Luiggi's property in this country.

James E. Kelly, attorney for Gartz in the present suit, said that after a long search Gartz discovered a man in Washington, D. C., by the name of Lee Hunt, who had at various times employed Luiggi and knew something about his affairs.

It was ascertained that Luiggi was Secretary of the South American Development Syndicate at a salary of $6,000 a year, but there was no way of gaining legal possession of the salary. Hunt told Gartz that Luiggi had an oral option on some shares in the American Motor Power Company, but that it was very uncertain whether any money could be realized on such an option. Gartz, however, did, according to his attorney, obtain $22,500 on this option, $10,000 in cash and $12,500 in the form of a promissory note. Though he had no contract with the Princess calling for the recovery of this sum, he thought $3,900 was a fair fee, considering the difficulties.

Princess Yourievsky is perfectly willing, according to her attorney, that Gartz should retain $1,000 as his fee. Justice Donnelly, who took the case, which was scheduled to be called before Justice Davis, said that he would reserve decision.

The morganatic marriage of Princess Dolgorouki, now Princess Yourievsky, to the Czar took place soon after the death of his wife, who was Princess Mary of Hesse. The Princess belongs to a very old Russian family. She bore the Czar three children before he was assassinated by a bomb on March 13, 1881.

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

is not only a pleasant breakfast cereal with a delightful flavour, but provides in natural, easily digestible form, those true health-building elements of wheat and barley which make sound bodies and bright brains.

TEN PACKAGES NOW

To One Five Years Ago.

"A sense of gratitude and joy prompts me to speak a good word for Grape-Nuts," writes a grocer in a western state.

"Before I commenced to eat Grape-Nuts I was very much troubled with poor digestion. Food caused me pain and could not be retained by my stomach.

"I was getting very weak in body, when a friend, seeing my poor condition, advised me to try Grape-Nuts food.

"I took my friend's advice and soon began to get very good results. My stomach has been strengthened and digestion greatly improved. A dish of Grape-Nuts for supper brings a good night's sleep and rest.

"For 17 years I have worked in a grocery, and have seen the sale of Grape-Nuts increase wonderfully. For one package we sold 5 years ago, we sell ten today. Because of the good it has done me, I thoroughly recommend Grape-Nuts to my customers as the most nourishing and strengthening food." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

This sturdy food is sold by grocers everywhere, in tightly sealed packages. Thousands make it a part of their daily breakfast.

CITY'S COUNSEL FOR FOLKS PICTURE LAW

G. L. Sterling, Acting, Supports Ordinance Which Comes Before Aldermen To-day.

OPPOSES TWO OTHER PLANS

Morrison's Would Continue Dangers, He Says, and Nicoll's Censorship Is Not Necessary.

Acting Corporation Counsel George L. Sterling gave an opinion yesterday to Alderman Folks on the Alderman's proposed moving-picture ordinance, which, with the Nicoll ordinance, comes before the Aldermen for action to-day. Mr. Sterling points out that the Folks ordinance, should it become a law, will materially decrease the possobility of another accident similar to the recent Houston Street Hippodrome disaster, where two persons were killed and several injurd.

The Folks ordinance prohibits standees in motion-picture theatres and provides that all aisles and passageways must be kept clear of obstruction. The Acting Corporation Counsel, commenting on this, states:

> In the event that the pending investigation of the "Hippodrome" homicides demonstrates that they did not result from the unlawful obstruction of means of egress, that concdlusion will but emphasize the urgent necessity of keeping all the aisles and passageways of such places absolutely free of standees and other obstructions at all times, in order that more numberous casualties may not happen on future occasions when picture films shall ignite and cause spectators to become panic stricken. If in the case of a stampede in a place of amusement the means of egress from which were not obstructed by persons standing therein, two persons killed and a number of others were seriously injured, it seems plain that a more appalling catastrophe would probably have resulted had the aisles and passageways of the theatre been clogged by scores of standees when the panic began.

Concerning the proposed ordinance of Alderman Morrison, Mr. Sterling states that the effect of its adoption would be "to continut the undesirable and dangerous conditions that now exist in motion-picture theatres," and that it would allow a number of such theatres, operating under common show licenses, to have standees on the main floor and in the rear of the gallery seats "with the provision of no additional safeguards against the perils of fire and panic other than the enlargement of the means of egress therefrom."

The decision further states:

> In the event of the adoption of the ordinance introduced by you, and immediately upon its taking effect, proprietors of existing motion-picture shows, operating under common show licenses, would not only have to desist from the practice of crowding aisles and passageways with "standees," but they would be required to discontinue all forms of entertainment therein, other than the exhibition of motion pictures, unless they reconstruct their places in acordance with the drastic requirements of Section 109 of the Building Code and take out a regular theatre license therefor. Failure to follow one or the other of these courses in any such case would warrant the revocation of the existing license and the closing up of the show. Indeed, all the mandatory and immediate requirements of the new ordinance respecting existing motion-picture shows must be complied with by their proprietors on or before the ordinance goes into effect or their licenses may be revoked and liability will accrue for the penalties provided for violations of the ordinance.

In conclusion, Mr. Sterling says:

> In my opinion, the adoption of the ordinance introduced by you will substantially remedy the hazardous condition and pernicious influences to be found at present in many motion picture theatres in this city. Its provision which permits the increase in the number of spectators of such places up to 600, upon the approval of the authorities charged with the duty of maintaining public safety, will be of distinct advantage to the patrons, as well as to the proprietors of such theatres. These advantages will come to the public in the form of seats in lieu of standing room, in enlarged means of egress and better ventilation. To the proprietors the increase in the seating capacity of their houses means a more profitable patronage, the returns from which will quickly recoup the expenditures incurred by them in complying with the provisions of the new ordinance. Furthermore, this particular provision of your ordinance will influence the proprietors of inferior and unsafe theatres to transfer their operations to more commodious and safer surroundings, which is, I take it, the great object you and your colleagues have in view.

Alderman Nicoll's ordinance has to do entirely with censorship, and Mr. Sterling holds that "ample power is now vested in the Mayor to revoke, for cause, any common show license which has been or may be issued for the operation of a motion pictur theatre," and he adds:

"Undoubtedly, upon due proof that corrupting or degrading pictures had been exhibited in a motion picture theatre, the Mayor would promptly exercise his authority to revoke the license for the place. Where cause exists for the revocation of the license of a motion picture theatre which has relation to the duties of the Mayor and the general welfare and protection of the community, the courts will uphold the order of revocation."

Playwright's Car Injures Turk.

CHICAGO, March 10.—An automobile belonging to Paul Armstrong, the playwright, ran down and probably fatally injured Chrest Gust, a Turk, here to-day. Allen McCullough, Armstrong's chauffeur, who was driving to the Playwrights Club in Michigan Avenue when the accident happened, was arrested on a charge of assault, but declared he could not avoid hitting Gust. Gust's father is said to be a wealthy merchant of Constantinople.

GIVES AWAY A $75 DINNER.

Then Free Lunch Man Flees to Roof, and He's Still There.

There was a noon-day "tragedy" on lower Second Avenue yesterday. Louis Zeltner was there. This is how he described it.

"It was awful—awful; the free lunches got the wrong dinner; yes, and the free lunchers never had such a meal as that. The poor free-lunch clerk that did it, he is up on the roof now, and he won't come down, not for all the proprietor can say to him.

"Oh, it certainly was awful! Ike Hirschorn was the man, he that has a café by First Street. Ike starts to celebrate his birthday. He orders a 'banquet-feast.' It costs him $75, and he works in the backroom making ready the tables, when all the friends shall come at 12 o'clock.

"And oh! such a rushing appetite as the free-lunchers have what got the feast. The free-lunch clerk out in front he makes a awful mistake. While the boss works behind he receives the 'banquet-feast' for the proprietor. He thinks the boss, he intended to give all that 'banquet-feast' to the free lunchers, so he spreads it out on the free lunch counter. There was some geese and some chickens and some salad, all fixed up by a famous chef for $75. And there they go over the free lunch counter. One free-luncher he runs and tells the others and such a crowding as Second Avenue does to get in there.

"Never before was such a free lunch on a free lunch counter. The boss he works away in the back room. Then at 12 o'clock come his friends. There is Simon Steingut, he that is Mayor of Second Avenue, and Simon has been invited to act as toastmaster. Such a worry as that boss has. He goes out to ask for the 'banquet-feast' and he sees the free lunchers biting the last of it. And the guests in the back room, what a worry they have when they find the free lunchers have finished their 'banquet-feast.' And poor Fritz Hanzman, the free-lunch clerk, what a hurry he makes in getting to the roof when he finds out what he has done.

"They cooled Ike Hirschorn down and gave him a diamond pin for his birthday, and he is having a birthday party all right. By to-night he has another order filled and all the friends come back again to finish the job of eating the 'banquet-feast.'"

Recount Gives Simpson 10-Vote Lead

The non-partisan committee appointed by the Senate to recount the votes in the Thirty-first Assembly District, Manhattan, which were cast last November for Senator in the Nineteenth Senatorial District, has completed its work and finds that George W. Simpson, the defeated Democratic candidate, had a plurality of ten votes over Henry Salant, Progressive, who was declared elected. The election returns gave Salant a plurality of thirty-six votes.

SCHOOLS STAND LOW BY ARITHMETIC TEST

Prof. Courtis Found 3,000 Out of 5,000 Pupils Had Not Average Ability.

WORSE THAN OTHER CITIES

Investigator Concludes That in Improving Children, Efficiency of System Is Very Low.

According to the latest school report given out by the Board of Estimate's Committee on Inquiry, efficiency in the New York schools is low, compared with other cities, and the children here, while slightly better in speed, are less accurate and very poor in reasoning. The report was compiled by Stuart A. Courtis, on the basis of scientific arithmetic tests tried on 33,350 children of the public schools of this city. Mr. Courtis was one of the eleven specialists employed by the committee to investigate the New York public schools under the supervision of Prof. Paul H. Hanus of Harvard.

Mr. Courtis, who had already tried similar tests on school children of eighteen cities of this country and in cities of England, devised a system of eight standard tests in simple arithmetic, which were commended by Prof. Hanus as "the most successful attempt at scientific measurement in education" known to him. The tests embodied simple abstract examples in addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division, with concrete application of these principles in other simple tests. A standard length of time was allowed for each test, set as a measure for the degree of ability to be attained by the pupils in that grade, and for the growth of the pupils instead of the amount of knowledge mastered by them.

"Every examination at the present time contains this idea of standard," explained Mr. Courtis, "but with this difference: Examinations ordinarily attempt to measure knowledge; the child does not have the same examination twice. Standard tests measure skill in the control of knowledge. Essentially the same tests are given at the beginning of the year, at intervals during the year, and from year to year. The child's growth is shown by increased scores."

Mr. Courtis through his tests found an amazing range of ability in any single grade of the schools, pupils in the primary grades of the elementary schools frequently showing an efficiency equal to or surpassing that of high school pupils.

In the fourth grade more than 5,000 children were tested. The results of these grade tests show that these pupils range from the small group of twenty-nine who attempted no examples at all to the group of 147 who tried all nineteen examples in Test No. 7 on the fundamental operations in arithmetic. Two thousand of them proved to be of average ability.

Mr. Courtis says:

"For education the important fact is, not that 2,000 of the children in the fourth grade are of average ability, but that 3,000 are not, and should have very different treatment from those that are.

"From the standpoint of efficiency, the significance of the data, according to the results of the foregoing tests, is not that the average score of fourth grade children is 8.8 examples attempted, but that in the fourth grade are found good-sized groups of children of every level of ability, from those who could do none of the examples at all, to those who could do all the examples in a test so long that but 1 per cent. of the high school children could finish all of it correctly in the time allowed.

"So far as any individual child is concerned," asserts Mr. Courtis, "to say that he has completed the course in arithmetic in the public schools is to convey no information as to his ability in even the simplest work. He may be almost an absolute incompetent, so far as practical work is concerned, or he may have acquired a degree of skill that would be adequate for any situation in which he is likely to find himself."

Mr. Courtis draws these conclusions from his tests in the New York public schools:

> That the product of school work in New York City in the fundamental operations of arithmetic is exceedingly variable.
>
> In the sense that the schools should produce certain well-defined changes in the children that pass through them, their efficiency is very low.
>
> That the neglect of the one basic factor—the differences in the powers and capabilities of individual children—has been the cause of this condition, which is universal throughout the system.
>
> That children of school age are highly specialized in their mental characteristics, either by the forces of heredity or of early training, and, as in the schools, uniform treatment is provided for variable material, the response must necessarily be variable, and the product correspondingly inefficient.
>
> That New York City school children, as compared with children who received the Courtis tests in arithmetic in other cities, are slightly better in speed, worse in accuracy, and very poor in reasoning.

The analysis of the second section of the Courtis report will be given out by the Committee on School Inquiry on Wednesday. This analysis will include the results of the tests performed by Mr. Courtis on forty-six pairs of twins; on forty-one employes, representing seven different types of positions in a department store; comparisons of the abilities of boys and girls in public school; the various nationalities; effects of foreign parentage, and private school tests.

ATTACHES LAWYERS' LAND.

Mrs. Frame Says Husband's $1,000,000 Estate Wasn't Accounted For.

A lawsuit brought by Mrs. Caroline W. Frame of 790 Riverside Drive had an inning in court yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Donnelly. The Justice reserved decision on an application by ex-Justice Leventritt, representing Frederick P. Forster, who with his brother, Henry A. Forster, is defendant in the suit, to set aside an attachment on his Westchester County real estate.

Mrs. Frame set up in her action against Forster & Forster for an accounting of $373,765 that her husband left an estate of some $948,549.35. He died aboard a railroad train near Indianapolis in October, 1902. The report of his death stated that he was a retired insurance man, but no mention was made at that time that he had left an estate of nearly $1,000,000.

According to Mrs. Frame's complaint, she turned over the million dollar estate to the law firm of Forster & Forster for management, and they had failed to account for nearly $400,000 of it. She obtained an attachment pending the trial of her suit. Ex-Justice Leventritt stated yesterday that her complaint was neither specific nor sufficient.

CHASE SAFE BLOWERS OVER FENCE AND ROOF

Three Policemen Close at Hand When Suitmakers' Union Funds Are Attacked.

WORKERS REPORT $450 GONE

Three Men Captured and Held in $5,000 Each—Another Robbery in the Same Building Reported.

When a charge of dynamite blew off the door of the safe in the quarters of the Cloak and Suit Makers' Union on the second floor of 79 East Tenth Street at 5 o'clock yesterday morning three policemen of the Fifth Street Station were standing at Fourth Avenue and Tenth Street. They heard the explosion and darted through a neighboring hallway so swiftly that they reached the rear yard of the building in time to see a man climbing over the fence. Patrolman Farrell chased and caught him. The other two, Lieut. McCarrick and Patrolman Sodenburg, started on an exploring trip up the fire escape.

They had hardly set foot on the lowest ladder when two men stepped out from the second-floor window. At the sight of the policemen they started for the roof as fast as they could climb, and they did not stop even for police bullets. By the time McCarrick and the patrolman reached the roof the men had vanished, but as there seemed to be no way for them to escape to the street the police began a search of the roofs, and the fugitives were found and arrested under the water tank on the roof of the Hotel Elberon, next door.

When Secretary Kleinman had examined the union safe he said $450 had been taken. This led to a further inspection of the premises by the police, for on their prisoners they had found practically no money at all. They searched the roof in daylight and found some $8 in scattered bills, but that was all.

Later they discovered that there had been another safe burglary in the same building on the same night. S. Rovinsky's furniture store on the ground floor had been entered and the safe opened by some one who knew the combination. The business papers of the house lay strewn on the floor of the front office.

In the Essex Market Court Magistrate Kernochan held the three prisoners for the Grand Jury in $5,000 each. They said they were David Goldberg of 86 Sheriff Street, David Harrison of 164 East Twelfth Street, and Samuel Meyers of 212 East Twelfth Street.

PEARY APPEALS FOR SCOTT.

Consents to Act as President of Memorial Fund Here.

Admiral Robert E. Peary has consented to become the President of the American branch of the Scott Memorial Fund, with Clarence H. Mackay Vice President. Among those who have joined the committee are John Hays Hammond, Archer M. Huntington, President of the American Geographical Society of New York; Dr. Henry Fairchild Osborn, President of the American Museum of Natural History; Henry G. Bryant, President of the Geographical Society of Philadelphia; Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, George T. Wilson, Louis L. Seaman, Henry W. J. Bucknall, and V. Stefansson.

Henry Clews, Treasurer of the fund, at 15 Broad Street, announces the receipt of contributions amounting to $2,000, including $500 from Archer M. Huntington and $100 from Capt. Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole.

"Not merely England but all humanity," says Admiral Peary, "is richer for the example of the antarctic heroes."

Most of the money needed for the Scott Memorial and all of the $150,000 needed to discharge the liabilities which Capt. Scott undertook in order to finance his expedition is being raised, of course, in England by his fellow-countrymen, but the American Scott Committee hopes to collect a minimum of $10,000 in the United States as an American contribution to the permanent memorial. To accomplish this Admiral Peary appeals. "The world," he says, "needed the example of Scott and his dead comrades as future generations will need ours. The world is giving to the cause and the United States should not be left behind." Joseph H. Choate was the first man in America to subscribe and express his sympathy with the movement.

ACCUSED OF GEM THEFT.

Wire from Detroit Leads to George Petrovich's Arrest Here.

A man who described himself as George Petrovich, 30 years old, a hotel keeper of Detroit, Mich., was arrested last night by Detectives Baron and Masonrick of the East Fifty-first Street Station on a telegram from Chief J. J. Downey of the Detroit Police Department, saying that Petrovich was wanted for the theft of $2,000 worth of diamonds. The telegram arrived two days ago, and last night the detectives heard that the man's trunks had been sent to a rooming house at 210 Second Avenue. They went to this house and there, the police say, they found Petrovich and a woman, who said she was his wife, and two small children.

When searched in the East Fifty-first Street Station, $3,000 in cash, a $500 diamond ring, a diamond stickpin, and a gold watch and chain were found on Petrovich. Mrs. Petrovich was well dressed and wore expensive diamond earrings, as well as several handsome finger rings. She followed the detectives and their prisoner to the station, taking the children with her.

According to the police, Petrovich had made preparations to sail to Europe in a few days. He will be arraigned to-day in the Harlem Court on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

FIGHTS DEMAND OF NURSE.

Newcomb Estate Executors Says Miss La Roe Wants Double Pay.

Hearings in the proceedings brought by Warren Putnam Newcomb, executor of the estate of Horatio V. Newcomb, to prevent Miss Jeanne La Roe, who was Mr. Newcomb's nurse and housekeeper for five years before his death, from demanding compensation for her services were begun yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Hendrick. The action was brought on the ground that Miss La Roe had been amply compensated under the terms of Mr. Newcomb's will.

Miss La Roe was a beneficiary under the will to the extent of $4,000 and an annuity of $1,400. For her services she put in a bill for $7,597, which, she asserted, was the balance due on a salary of $40 a week from April 29, 1907, to Nov. 2, 1911.

Benjamin Patterson of 302 Broadway, attorney for the executor, asked that the demands made by the nurse be construed to mean that she rejected the bequests left to her by Mr. Newcomb, and that if she insisted upon enforcing her claim to compensation for services that the bequests to her be stricken from the will. Hearings will be resumed to-day.

Mounted Bluecoat Thrown; May Die

Thrown from his horse when the animal shied on the College Point Causeway yesterday morning, Mounted Patrolman Charles J. Campbell was probably mortally injured. He is in Flushing Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain. Campbell is a veteran of the Spanish-American war and has been on the force for ten years.

SAYS POLICE SIDED WITH MOB

Miss Richards Tells of Insults to the Suffragist Paraders.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The Senate sub-committee to-day resumed its investigation of the disorder that attended the parade of woman suffragists here on Monday last. The committee room was again crowded to the doors with spectators, principally women. Before the hearing was begun the officers on duty were forced to turn people away.

Miss Janet E. Richards, who marched in the first section of the parade, testified that "most of the policemen were standing idly around in the crowd, and seemed in sympathy with the mob's spirit."

"How was this mob's spirit evidenced?" asked Senator Chamberlain.

"By the hooting and jeering and yelling of the crowd," replied Miss Richards. "All along the line men in the crowd shouted 'These are nothing but hens, we came out to see chickens.'" Miss Richards gave the numbers of two of a group of four policemen who she said were doing nothing to control the crowd and whom she urged to help her open up the line.

Police Chief Sylvester, called as a witness, said he had 575 officers on duty for the suffrage parade and 367 for the inaugural parade on the day following. There was no disorder on March 4.

"What were your feelings about this suffrage parade?" asked Chairman Jones.

"I was always friendly to it. I never opposed it—I was in sympathy with the plan," replied Sylvester. He denied indignantly that he had ever said or done anything that would have given the "men lower down" the idea that the orders for protecting the parade were not to be taken seriously.

"I gave no such intimation," he said, "and I am sure that no man on the force had that idea. Any such statement is absolutely false."

Chief Sylvester told the committee that the authorities in charge of the Police Department were investigating all the charges made against the police.

The investigation will be continued to-morrow.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the International Suffrage Alliance, spoke at old City Hall to-day.

"Three State Governors and the commander at Fort Myer are responsible for the insults given the suffragists by the mob in Washington last week," said Mrs. Catt.

"I refer to Gov. Tener of your own State, Gov. Sulzer of New York and the Governor of Alabama," said Mrs. Catt. "They refused to permit their chocolate soldiers to serve two days in succession and act as protectors of the suffragists in the parade of March 3.

"We appealed to President Taft. He commanded that soldiers be brought from Fort Myer to take charge of the parade. The Commander at Fort Myer refused to have his soldiers work two days in succession, as it would be too hard on them.

"Gov. Tener was then appealed to, but the same reason was given by him. We were sure Gov. Sulzer of New York would help us, but he gave a similar reason for refusing to send a guard. Had it not been for our gallant Governors and military Commanders, we would have been protected from the mob."

SUFFRAGE PARTY TO MOVE.

To Establish Headquarters in Four-Story House on April 1.

May Moving Day at the Woman Suffrage Party headquarters is going to come off on April 1 this year. The party has outgrown its living place at Thirty-fourth Street and Madison Avenue, and it will move from the third floor, which it now occupies, to a four-story English basement house at 48 East Thirty-fourth Street. This will be altered to suit its requirements. The first floor will be used for executive offices and a Suffrage Sales Shop, and on the second floor there will be a large hall for meetings and entertainments. The workshop of the establishment will be the third floor and the fourth will be occupied by a caretaker.

The theatre will give a forum for the energies of the party next week and by invitation of the Harlem Opera House Suffrage will occupy the first intermission of "The Spendthrift," afternoons and evenings during the week. Different speakers will address the audience, Mrs. Richard Aldrich, Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, Miss Mary Garrett Hay, Mrs. Anna Ross Weeks, Miss Adeline W. Sterling and Corporal Martha Kaltschken of the Washington Hikers, among others.

FORM SUFFRAGE HIKE CLUB.

Women to Make Saturday Excursions to Aid Their Cause.

A Saturday Suffrage Hiking Club has been started by Miss Ida Craft, "Col." Craft of Washington and Albany hiking fame, the second officer in command of the Rosalie Jones army. Every one is invited to join, and there are no dues. The only thing necessary is good will to the cause and membership in some woman suffrage organization. The suffrage club may be joined upon enrollment in the Hiking Club.

The hikers of the Hiking Club will hike for health and votes for women. The club will start out every Saturday morning during April and May laden with luncheon and literature. The latter will be of the saffron suffrage variety, and the party will stop at noonday, eat luncheon, and give out the suffrage gospel and the literature at any point along the hikers' route where the soil seems to be fertile.

MISS HARRADEN DETERMINED.

She Will Never Regret Joining the Suffragettes, She Says.

"I've never regretted it and I never shall," said Miss Beatrice Harraden, author of "Ships That Pass in the Night," last night at a meeting under the auspices of the Woman's Political Union at the Berkeley Theatre as she spoke of joining forces with the English suffragettes. Miss Harraden's subject was "The English Suffrage Situation," and she spoke chiefly of the broadening and developing influence their united effort had on the women taking part.

Mrs. John Winters Brannan was Chairman of the meeting, and Mrs. John Rogers, Jr., and Mrs. Arthur F. Townsend were among the women on the platform. The weather prevented a large audience.

MUNSEY SELLS NEWSPAPER.

Matthew Hale, Representing Progressives, Buys Boston Journal.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, March 10.—Frank A. Munsey sold The Boston Journal to-day to Matthew Hale, National Committeeman of the Progressive Party for Massachusetts, who once was a tutor in the Roosevelt family. According to the official announcement, the purchase was in the interests of the Progressive Party.

It is understood that the men who provided the funds are Charles S. Bird of East Walpole, the Progressive candidate for Governor last Fall, and Charles Henry Davis of Cambridge and Yarmouth. Mr. Bird is at the head of a paper-making industry, and Mr. Davis is a mining engineer. Neither has had any experience in newspaper publishing.

During the last campaign The Journal was Progressive, but the leaders of the party in Massachusetts were disappointed when Mr. Munsey began to advocate the amalgamation of the Republicans and Progressives, and when he recently announced his desire to quit the local field the party leaders resolved to buy the property.

Mr. Munsey recently advanced the price of The Journal to three cents. It will appear to-morrow under its new ownership and with the price reduced to one cent. Its leading editorial will declare war upon the Republican Party in State and Nation.

Can't Go "Dead"

The Entz Electric starter used on Franklin cars has only three main parts, the motor-generator, the switch, and the storage battery.

Both the magneto and starter are controlled by the switch.

Since the switch is left on while running, the starter is always ready to act. This keeps the engine from stalling; it cannot go "dead" in traffic or other tight places.

Why have a starter that does less?

TABLEAUX FOR HAMPTON.

Negro Students Act and Sing for Carnegie Hall Audience.

Picturesque tableaux presenting the progress of the negro and the singing of plantation songs were the features of the Hampton Institute pageant held last evening in Carnegie Hall. The students of the Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute of Hampton, Va., were the actors before a comfortably filled house. Dr. Talcott Williams, Director of the Columbia School of Journalism, spoke, and Dr. William Jay Schieffelin, President of the Armstrong Association, presided. The musical and historical pageant celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the negro's emancipation. The first scene had to do with historic events at Hampton, and negro and Indian students from the institute were the actors.

John Smith's visit to the Indians on the lower Virginia Peninsula was represented, and the first slaves finding a home was another scene. The scene representing negroes in the cotton fields and the announcement of the emancipation of the slaves were the subjects of brilliant tableaux. The scenes traced the history of the negro from the days of slavery to the first Freedmen's School, and the establishment of what is now the Hampton Institute.

Dr. Talcott Williams spoke briefly on the subject of negro education, and following him was a chorus and plantation medleys sung by institute students.

Among the patronesses were Mrs. Felix Adler, Mrs. John W. Auchincloss, Mrs. Gordon Auchincloss, Mrs. Francis C. Barlow, Mrs. William Adams Brown, Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. Gilbert Colgate, Mrs. R. Fulton Cutting, Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. Collis P. Huntington, Mrs. George McAneny, Mrs. J. P. Morgan, Mrs. William Schieffelin, Mrs. William Jay Schieffelin, Mrs. William Douglas Sloane, Mrs. Theodore M. Taft, and Mrs. Spencer Trask.

INCORPORATION REFUSED.

Court Held Hebrew Institute Should Be Formed as a Religious Body.

Justice Kelly of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday refused to approve the certification of incorporation of the Hebrew Educational Institute of South Brooklyn on the ground that it was a religious organization and its incorporation should not have been sought under the Membership Corporations law.

Twenty-one young men of South Brooklyn were named as incorporators. In their petition they compared their organization to such bodies as the Young Men's Christian Association, but Justice Kelly held that the objects of their organization brought them under the Religious Corporation law.

MORE TROUBLE FOR SICKLES.

His Wife's Claim Approved — Home May Be Sold To-morrow.

A third creditors' attachment on Gen. Daniel E. Sickles's personal effects in his Fifth Avenue home was made legal yesterday, when a Sheriff's jury approved Mrs. Carolina G. Sickles's mortgage of $13,057.08 on the contents of her husband's home. The other two creditors who have attachments are the National Bank of Orange County and August Heckscher.

It was reported that Gen. Sickles's Fifth Avenue home will be sold under foreclosure proceedings to-morrow to satisfy a judgment of the Bowery Bank.

LAWYER GOES TO SING SING.

Charles Henschel, Jr., Pleads Guilty to Forging Mortgage.

On his plea of guilty to an indictment charging him with forging the name of F. H. Schumm to a mortgage, Charles Henschel, Jr., a young Brooklyn lawyer of 42 Palmetto Street, that borough, was sentenced to an indeterminate term of from two to seven and a half years in Sing Sing yesterday by County Judge Fawcett.

Judge Fawcett scored the defendant, saying as he was a lawyer his offense made him the more guilty in the eyes of the lew.

HOST TO UNION LEAGUE CLUB

Seventh Regiment Celebrates 50th Birthday of Younger Organization.

The Seventh Regiment, at its armory, Park Avenue and Sixty-sixth Street, celebrated last night the fiftieth birthday of the Union League Club. In the main room of the armory the regiment manoeuvred and paraded under the review of President Samuel W. Fairchild of the club and a staff of officers. After the review the guardsmen and their guests danced in the halls at the armory, while a committee of citizens was entertained at supper at the officers' mess.

The most pleasant relations have existed between the two organizations since the club was organized in 1863. Recently the club held a Seventh Regiment Day on the hundredth anniversary of the regiment's organization.

The speakers were Col. Appleton of the Seventh Regiment, John Claflin, and President Fairchild.

TO QUIT ON 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Dr. Baker to Give Up Rectorship of Trinity at Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 10.—The resignation of the Rev. Dr. Alfred B. Baker, rector of Trinity Church at Princeton since 1866, has been accepted by the vestry, to take effect on the fiftieth anniversary of the clergyman's ordination as a Deacon. He will be elected rector emeritus.

Dr. Baker said he felt that he was getting too old for active work, but he would remain affiliated with the church and would continue to work in the parish. His place as active rector probably will be taken by the Rev. Mr. Pomeroy, assistant rector.

Speakers for Sulzer Birthday Dinner.

The speakers who would be at the dinner to Gov. Sulzer at the Café Boulevard on March 16, in honor of his fiftieth birthday, it was announced yesterday, would be Senator O'Gorman, John Purroy Mitchel, Judge Rosalsky, Justice Francis K. Pendleton, Henry Morgenthau, Edwin Markham, Thomas W. Churchill, President of the Board of Education; Edward Lauterbach, Aaron J. Levy, Magistrate Freschi, John Temple Graves, and the Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman. The souvenirs will be small bronze busts of the Governor.

Committee on Building Height Named

Mayor Gaynor appointed a committee of three members yesterday to take up the question of the height, site, and arrangement of buildings within the city limits, as authorized by the Board of Estimate. Borough President McAneny is Chairman of the committee, and the other members are Borough Presidents Steers of Brooklyn and Miller of the Bronx. The committee within a few days will select a sub-committee of fifteen to help in the investigation.

FARRELL IN CAMP WITH HIS YANKEES

President of Club in Bermuda to Decide Upon Permanent Training Grounds.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 10.—Frank J. Farrell, owner of the New York American League team, arrived here to-day for a two weeks' sojourn at the training camp. Mr. Farrell declared himself as being highly pleased with the training quarters, and before leaving he will decide whether he will establish permanent training grounds here. Manager Chance had a long conference with his "boss" shortly after Mr. Farrell's arrival. The latter is as much elated over the condition of the men as in the general conditions here. More of the fair weather that has been the rule since the Yankees arrived here favored them again to-day and, with Farrell looking on, the athletes went through their work with unusual zeal.

The most optimistic note that reverberated through the camp to-day was in regard to Hal Chase, who was forced out of Saturday's game by an injury to his right ankle in a collision at second base with Harbison. It was first thought that Chase's injury would keep him out of the game for at least two weeks, but it now develops that such is not the case. The ankle swelled quickly after the accident, but Trainer Barrett put in a busy session massaging it, and Chase is now able to walk around the camp. He favors the ankle, of course, but he will probably be able to practise again in a few days.

In the absence of Chase, second base on the regular team will be intrusted to the care of Midkiff, who played several games at third base on the Hilltop during the latter part of last season. Midkiff worked out at second base during the practice to-day and made a most creditable showing.

The first of the series of exhibition games between the Yankees and the Jersey City team of the International League will be played here to-morrow. Manager Chance plans to have these teams play three games each week until the close of the training season. The Yankee manager has not fully decided upon his line-up, but it is likely that the infield will be made up of Sterrett, Midkiff, Young, and Hartzell, with Cree, Daniels, and Lelivelt in the outfield. The battery men are in doubt, but it is expected that none of the pitchers will be allowed to work more than three innings.

Pitcher George Davis was the victim of a peculiar accident during the workout to-day, but his injury is not of a serious nature. While the players were indulging in batting practice he was struck on the head by a hard hit ball and was forced to give up playing for a time.

The Jersey City team does not interfere in the least with the practice of the Yankees. Before the Skeeters arrived last Thursday Groundkeeper Schenck of the Yankees mapped out a diamond for them in the extreme left field corner of the New York playing field. The cricket grounds are so large that the two teams are able to work at the same time without the least bit of annoyance. For the exhibition games between the two teams the New York playing field will be utilized. Chance holds his practice in the morning, when it is generally much calmer than later in the day. The afternoon breezes are warm enough not to be objectionable, but they would interfere somewhat with fly balls.

GIANTS MAKE LOTS OF RUNS.

Regulars, However, Defeat Second Team —Only a One-Run Margin.

Special to The New York Times.

MARLIN, Tex., March 10.—The Giants were out for a run this morning, but by afternoon the field had dried sufficiently for a ball game and Manager McGraw sent his men through a nine-inning contest. A hard-hitting scrappy battle it was with the regulars beating the second team 11 to 10.

McGraw made various changes in his two teams. Not only did he rearrange the batting order of the regulars in which connection it may be said that he is trying out various combinations, but he had Shafer at short on the first team with Fletcher on the scrubs. Shafer gave a good account of himself. He fielded well, made two hits and out of five times up rounded the bases for four runs. Fletcher peeled off a couple of hits himself. The teams were as follows:

Regulars—Burns, lf.; Shafer, ss.; Devore, cf.; Doyle, 2b.; Murray, rf.; Merkle, 1b.; Herzog, 3b.; Wilson, c.; Tesreau, Crandall and Smith, pitchers.

Second Team—Groh, 2b.; Cooper, lf.; Thorpe, cf.; McCormick, rf.; Robertson, 1b.; Fletcher, ss.; Stock, 3b.; Hartley, c.; Ames, Demaree and Schupp, pitchers.

Doyle was moved down to fourth place where clean-up hitters generally bat. Burns went back to the head of the list and Shafer was put in to hit in second place—considerable of a change from last week.

Although there was hard hitting by both sides the pitching was not all easy by a good deal. Tesreau and Ames opened by putting pretty much all they had into their efforts. Their twirling was very effective. It was a speed and spitball tussle between them for Ames made use of the damp delivery and showed Tesreau something in the latter's own line. He struck out three men in succession in the first inning.

However, he was hit for three runs in the third inning, whereas Jeff held the enemy to no runs and one hit.

Most of the scoring was done off the succeeding batch of pitchers who weren't in the form of the first pair. Young Schupp, the southpaw, had an array of fast twisters, which indicates that he has a natural répertoire of decidedly useful stuff. What he lacks principally is experience, but the players are impressed with his speed and gyrating curves.

In the hitting mêlée there were half a dozen drives for extra bases on each side, partly because the muddy outfield made the sentries out there slow in getting after the ball. Thorpe stretched a hit into a home run, and also flashed to first ahead of a bunt. The Indian floundered around the outfield and had a lot of running to do because he didn't know where to play for the different batters.

Cooper helped himself to three hits—two of them doubles—and Wilson unloaded three. The fielding was as good as the condition of the field would permit. Catches by Shafer and Murray were difficult and spectacular. Both sides were constantly moving on the bases. They thrived on stolen bases, but the catchers are not cutting loose with their arms yet. Chief Meyers umpired, and had a stirring time. The retort acrimonious passed freely between him and the players. The score by innings:

| | | | | | | | | | | R. | H. | E. |
| Second team.... | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 2 | 1 | 3 | —10 | 12 | 3 |

The body of Pitcher Hanley, who died yesterday, has been sent to the family home in Marietta, Ohio. It will be met at St. Louis by Hanley's widow and father.

DAUBERT'S "NINE" WINS.

Brooklyn Players in Snappiest Game of Training Season.

Special to The New York Times.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 10.—Two hours of practice this morning, and a fast and snappy nine inning game this afternoon constituted the day's work for Bill Dahlen and his Serperbas at Warren Park. The game was the best of the five played here and was won by the Daubert aggregation in the ninth inning, after seesawing for eight innings. Score, Dauberts 7, Dahlens 4.

Pitcher Ragon, who twirled for the losers, felt so much like working that Dahlen allowed him to stay in the box the full nine innings, and he was touched for fourteen safeties. Pitchers Allen and Curtis, who pitched for the Dauberts, held their opponents to five hits, Allen allowing them two in four innings.

Wheat, Smith and Daubert led at bat, the former two hitting safely four times each, and their captain knocking out a pair of doubles. Wheat took all the fielding honors, by backing up nearly to the fence in the first inning after Stengel's long drive, which he finally got with his gloved hand.

The game after seesawing for eight innings, was won in the ninth on hits by Curtis and Yingling, Stengel's double, Cutshaw's sacrifice fly, and Wheat's single, which sent in three runs.

Bob Fisher the shortstop arrived shortly after noon and was out in uniform this afternoon, but did little work.

OXFORD CREW FAVORITES.

English University Oarsmen to Row Annual Race Thursday.

Next Thursday the Thames River, England, will be the scene of the seventieth renewal of the aquatic contest between the eight-oared crews of Oxford and Cambridge Universities over the celebrated four-mile course from Putney to Mortlake. Both crews have finished their preliminary practice and are now quartered at the scene of the race, where they will remain until the crews are boated for the supreme test.

Oxford, by their record breaking performance in 1911 and easy victory in 1912, are strong favorites for the coming race. In the contest of 1911 Oxford established the record for the course of 18:29, and in 1912 won easily by four lengths, when the race was rerowed after both boats had been water-logged.

It is generally expected that the race will be more interesting than the contests of recent years, for Cambridge has created a distinctly good impression by their trial spins. Oxford commenced training with considerable advantage over their rival, although they had to find a stroke to take the place of R. C. Bourne, the hero of four consecutive victories. They have had a more experienced lot of oarsmen to draw from, although they were able to command the services of four old Dark Blues.

A. H. M. Wedderburn, A. F. R. Wiggins, L. G. Wormald and E. D. Horsfall are still in the eight. These four are Etonians, and are quartered in the stern of the boat, Horsfall being elected stroke to take the place of Bourne.

In addition to the Blues there are experienced oars in H. K. Ward, who rowed in the Australian eight at the Olympic regatta; E. R. Burgess, last year's spare man, who rowed bow in the winning Leander eight at Stockholm, and R. P. Hankinson, who rowed for New College at the Olympic meeting. The other oarsman is C. L. Baillieu of Magdalen, who, like Ward, is an Australian. Another point in favor of the Dark Blues is the experience of their coxswain, H. B. Wells, who has already steered two crews to victory. There are five oarsmen in the crew who learned their rowing at Eton, and with the exception of Wedderburn (Balliol), the crew is drawn from two colleges—Magdalen and New College.

The Cambridge President had a far more difficult task in selecting a crew, and a very large number of men received a trial before the final constitution of the boat was decided on. Only two old "Blues" were in residence besides the President—S. E. Swann (who rowed bow in 1911 and stroke in 1912) and R. S. Shove. They have been assigned to two bow seats. The President found that he was unable to row. A very promising stroke has been found in G. E. Tower, and a stylish "7" in C. E. V. Buxton. Tower and Buxton came up from Eton with big reputations, but they were unable to row last year although in residence. The men in the middle of the boat are L. A. Pattinson, W. M. Askwith, C. S. Clark, and E. N. Showell Rogers, and they have had little experience of first-class rowing, while the coxswain—L. E. Ridley—is steering a 'Varsity crew for the first time.

At present Oxfords are favorites, as might be expected after four consecutive victories, to say nothing of the fact that they are the more powerful and more experienced set of oarsmen. The weights showed that the average was 178 pounds per man against the Light Blues' average of 174 pounds. There is every probability that the Oxford crew will be the heaviest on record, the previous "best" in avoirdupois being 176½ pounds average of the 1910 Oxford crew. At present the Oxonians are not so neat as last year's crew. They get a good grip of the water at the beginning of the stroke and a smart recovery, but require more life and dash and a more even swing to make a first-class crew.

Cambridge are not so advanced as their rivals, but they have the making of a much faster combination than the last two crews which carried the Light Blue colors. They need a sharper beginning to the stroke and a firmer leg drive. They are improving in coming forward, and getting a better length than when they first appeared on the Upper Thames. The rowing is better to watch than the paddling, but it remains to be seen if the crew will prove capable of staying the long and trying Putney to Mortlake course. Askwith, the heavyweight of the crew, has an awkward finish, and Pattinson is not a stylish, although a very sound worker.

Of the crews this year it may be said that both are already rather far advanced, in spite of the fact that the preliminary period of practice has been shorter than usual. Possibly this lack of time for training is rather the cause, for it has necessitated long and hard rows to be undertaken at an earlier stage and more frequently than usual, so that the freshness and vigor of the oarsmen has been somewhat dulled, and it is well known that men get together quicker when they are tired than when they are fresh.

But apart from this, there is considerable dissimilarity between the two boats. This is mainly accounted for by the fact that Cambridge are using very much shorter oars than university crews have rowed with for a very long time, measuring, as they do, only 11 feet 10 inches over all, while the inboard measurement is 3 feet 8 inches and the blades 7 inches wide. These are the measurements which were used by the Australian crew which won the Grand Challenge Cup at Henley last year. But, although they are using their oars, they do not possess the remarkable balance on the stretchers which was such a strongly marked feature of the Australian, as it should be of English, oarsmanship, nor are they so quick with the movements of the wrists and hands.

The probable makeup and weights of the crews follow:

Long Branch in New League.

It was announced last night W. H. Pfau, organized of the recently formed New York and New Jersey Baseball League and promoter of the Poughkeepsie Club, that the application of George Henriquez for a franchise for Long Branch, N. J., had been favorably received by the committee appointed by the league Directors to select a city to take the place in the league of Long Island City, which recently resigned. The committee, consisting of Mr. Pfau and Mayor Rossiyn M. Cox of Middletown, President of the league, met Mr. Henriquez yesterday and came to terms with him. His club will be formally admitted into the league, said Mr. Pfau, at a meeting of the Directors to be held next Friday afternoon in this city. The new league is now complete with six teams, as follows: Paterson, Poughkeepsie, Newburg, Middletown, Kingston, and Long Branch.

Athletics Beat San Antonio.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 10.—With all the regulars in the line-up the Philadelphia American League team to-day defeated the San Antonio team of the Texas League 17 to 12. Bender, Pennock, and Brown pitched three innings each for Philadelphia.

To Shackle Batsmen at Plate.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., March 10.—Claiming his players lost the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association baseball championship last year because they "shied" at pitched balls, Coach Mather of Kalamazoo College to-night announced he will install a "shackle" batting cage for practice this Spring. The coach says each batter will have his inside foot chained to a stake, thus forcing him to stand up to the plate and face the pitcher.

Baltimore Club Goes South.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 10.—The Baltimore International League Baseball Club left to-day for Fayetteville, N. C., where it will practice until April 1.

Dankelman Wins from McCourt.

John Dankelman, representative of New York in the National Inter-City Billiard League, defeated James McCourt of Pittsburgh last night in the opening game at three-cushion carrom billiards of the three-game series at Doyle's Academy, by the score of 50 to 47.

WANDERERS TAKE GAME FROM OTTAWA

Canadian Hockey Teams Make Thrilling Spectacle on Ice in St. Nicholas Rink.

The Wanderers of Montreal defeated the Ottawa hockey team in the second game of the series at St. Nicholas Rink last night in a game which bubbled with excitement by a score of 7 to 6. Last night's victory gives the Wanderers a total of 10 goals for the two nights' play, against the Ottawas' 8. The Wanderers will play the Quebecs, champions of Canada, at the rink on Thursday and Saturday nights of this week for a purse of $2,500.

For two periods last night the Wanderers outskated and outplayed the Ottawas in a brilliant exhibition of hockey, but in the third period the Ottawas caught their opponents tiring and had the better of the period. The game was a series of splendid plays by both teams, the Wanderers easily excelling in spectacular feats. Sprague Cleghorn excelled in dazzling serpentine runs down the ice, for the Ottawa defense watched Art Ross closely and had him boxed when he approached the mouth of the net. In the open rink, however, Ross easily dodged and zigzagged his way through the Ottawa skaters.

There was a marvelous display of clever stick work by the Wanderer players. Once they got possession of the disk it seemed fastened to their sticks. Sprague Cleghorn holding his stick with one hand blocked his opponent with the other and bore down on the Ottawa net in many a speedy dash. Ross, outgeneraling the opposing skaters who crowded about him, toyed and poked the rubber through the Ottawa players' skates, and always came out of the scrimmage with the puck and a broad smile.

The game was so free from roughness that not a penalty was inflicted. The Canadians played hockey all the time, with both eyes fastened on the puck and not on each other. The Wanderers' combination play and teamwork was a pretty spectacle to watch. The rush line skimmed over the rink in perfect unison, poking the rubber from one to the other with deftness and accuracy. And seldom has such fine goal tending been seen here as Boyce and Le Sueur showed at the rival nets.

The first goal was scored by the Wanderers after eight minutes of play. Odie Cleghorn started the rush, slipping the puck to Ross, who relayed it to Hyland. He stopped suddenly in front of Le Sueur dallying with the puck in such a confusing way that the Ottawa goal tender went to the wrong side of the net as the rubber rolled in. Shore, the Otawa centre, then made a pretty run all alone down the side of the rink and scored on a long side shot.

Again the Wanderers' forwards swept swiftly down on the Ottawa goal, and while the players were poking and scrambling for the rubber Odie Cleghorn jammed it through the crowd into the net. Then with lightning speed Sprague Cleghorn sped from one side of the rink to the other until he was well in the enemy's territory and scored from a difficult angle.

The work of the Ottawa team improved in the second period, and the Wanderers did not have such an easy time of it. After Sprague Cleghorn had scored after another dodging journey through the Ottawas, Ronan, who was injured in Saturday night's game, broke loose and brought the crowd cheering to its feet by stealing the puck skillfully from Ross, and, with the assistance of Lowrey, carried it into territory where he could shoot it into the rigging.

Ronan was the star of the third period. He was bruised and cut and fatigued, but he was always in the thick of the scrimmage, and often came out of the bunch with the disk at the end of his stick. He scored twice in this half, once on a rebound after Shore had bounded the rubber off Boyce's shinguards, and then toward the end of the game he made a desperate effort to pull the game out of the fire. His speed was gone, but he dodged elusively past his opponents and outwitted every effort to steal the puck. This last play was a dazzling run, which ended in a side shot from what looked like an impossible angle.

Enthusiasm ran high among the spectators, and, with the cheers of the men and the screeches of the emotional women spectators, the swift action of the game had an appropriate vocal setting. The line-up:

| Wanderers. | Position. | Ottawa. |
|---|---|---|

P. S. A. L. Swimming Meet.

The Public Schools Athletic League will conduct the high schools indoor swimming championships at the College of the City of New York Natatorium, beginning Thursday evening. Ten of the public high schools have entered their complete swimming teams. Six events will be decided: Fifty-yard swim, 100-yard swim, 200-yard swim, 800-foot relay, fancy diving and plunge for distance. During the past Winter all of the high schools have held dual swimming meets. Owing to the high-class swimmers on the various school teams, the series was undecided on account of a tie with three of the schools for first place. The meet on Thursday night will decide which school has the best swimming team by its winning the team or city championship. Dr. Crampton has arranged for the trials and semi-finals of the 220-yard swim, to be held on Wednesday afternoon to prevent the boys overtaxing their strength by swimming the trials, semi-finals, and finals on the same night.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Player Thomas P. Sheehan of the Brooklyn Club, who was promulgated as an ineligible player some time ago because he refused to report to his club, was yesterday reinstated by the National Baseball Commission without the imposition of a fine. Sheehan's application was accompanied by a statement that he intended retiring from baseball, and that the Brooklyn Club had agreed to give him his unconditional release.

President Wilson is expected to take advantage of his Presidential baseball pass when the Washington team opens the American League season at home April 10 with New York. Former President Taft last year pitched the ball into the field for the opening game, and President Wilson this season will be asked to do the same. It is not unlikely that the President frequently will be a spectator at the big games, for it is known he is somewhat of a "fan."

President Farrell of the State League says that he has no objection to the proposed Empire State League if it fulfills requirements laid down by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. Rules are rigid as to enclosed ball parks, salary limits, and liability of financial backers.

Stephen O'Neill, the Cleveland American League team's first catcher in 1912, and the last of this season's holdouts, arrived in Cleveland yesterday from his home in Minooka, Penn., and signed his contract. He will leave to-day for the Cleveland training camp at Pensacola, Fla.

Swimming Dates Allotted.

The New York Athletic Club has been allotted the first of the races of a championship nature to be decided this year by the Championship Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union. The events to be decided will be the 500 yards and fancy diving on March 22. Under the auspices of the Middle Atlantic Association in Philadelphia the 220 yards and plunge for distance will be held March 24. At the Illinois Athletic Club in Chicago during the first week of April that organization will hold the 400 yards relay, 100 yards, and 150 yards back stroke championships. During the same period the Chicago Athletic Association will stage the 50 yards and 200 yards breast stroke events.

FENCER UNDER CHARGES.

Studdiford Pitt to be Tried To-night at A. L. F. A.

It was stated last night that Studdiford Pitt of the Fencers' Club, who was adjudged the winner several nights ago of the junior foils championship, would be tried to-night by the Governing Committee of the Amateur Fencers' League of America on the charge of not trying to win his final bout after the event had become assured to him by virtue of four victories out of five bouts.

It developed that the officials of the league had been making inquiries of A. A. U. officials in order to find out what the penalty would be for such "jockeying" in track and field sport or any game under A. A. U. jurisdiction, with the result that the fencers were assured that any such action would be punished with disqualification and possible suspension, and it was hinted that possibly such action would be taken against Pitt, who was alleged not to have tried to win the bout.

Pal Moore Floored Six Times.

KENOSHA, Wis., March 10.—Charlie White, the Chicago featherweight, outpointed Pal Moore of Philadelphia by a big margin in a ten-round fight here to-night. Six times during the contest White floored his opponent with right and left swings to the jaw. Moore took the count of nine four times and the bell saved him on two other occasions. Four knock-downs came during the third round, despite the fact that White had broken a bone in his right hand during the second round. The other knock downs occurred in the fifth and eighth rounds. The result was never in doubt after the third round, Moore remaining on his feet only by sheer pluck. Moore made his best showing in the first round when he rushed White across the ring and knocked him over ropes with right and left swings. Moore also fell out of the ring.

COLEMAN'S CLASS B BILLIARD HONORS

Breaks Tie in National Amateur Tournament by Defeating Conway.

STANDING OF THE PLAYERS.

| Players. | Won. | Lost. | H. R. | H. A. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Coleman | 4 | 1 | 65 | 7 6-42 |
| Conway | 4 | 1 | 43 | 9 3-33 |
| Blake | 3 | 2 | 45 | 8 12-36 |
| Clarke | 3 | 2 | 50 | 6 42-43 |
| Mulaur | 1 | 4 | 42 | 6 9-35 |
| Paxter | 0 | 5 | 57 | 6 11-45 |

H. A. Coleman is the new Class B National amateur billiard champion. He won the title last night by defeating C. P. Conway in the play-off of the tie at Paul's Riverside Academy, 125th Street and Seventh Avenue, by the score of 300 to 243. The contest was hardly up to the standard of the games played throughout the tournament, neither contestant appearing at his best. Coleman repeated his victory over Conway, scored in their first game, although the margin was greater. The winner required fifty-two innings to run out his game, giving him an average of 5 40-52, and high runs of 37, 25, and 25. Conway averaged 4 35-52, and his best individual contributions were 27, 25, and 25. The averages of both players were the poorest they made during the tourney.

Five prizes were awarded in the tournament. The first prize was won by Coleman with five victories and one defeat. Conway captured the second prize, winning four games and losing two. Ledyard Blake was tied with Clarke for third prize and won the toss-up. The trophy for the best single run during the tournament went to Coleman with 65, while Conway's single average of 9 3-33 won the prize for the best high average.

Both players appeared nervous in their first two efforts, but in the third inning Conway, after a pretty cluster of twenty buttons, failed to get the balls out of balk. With the ivories left in a favorable position, Coleman put together 25 before missing on a long masse. After a spell of uninteresting play Coleman got the spheres in a good position and duplicated his early run of 25. This was followed by another double figure run, which gave him a total of 2 points to 1 for his opponent. Conway's cuework up to this stage of the game was disappointing, as he failed completely to maintain the form which enabled him to tie Coleman in the tourney. The latter reached his first century with a run of 37, which included several difficult bank shots.

Conway picked up somewhat in the thirteenth inning, when he added a well executed 25 to his score. His next effort netted him 27 buttons, and brought his total to within 14 of Coleman's. Both contestants showed improvement in their cue work. The runs, while not of exceptional length, were of greater consistency. As Coleman approached his second hundred, Conway made a better showing. He broke his run of hard luck, which persistently pursued him, and after nine attempts finally succeeded in breaking into double figures again. He rolled up 17 tallies in the thirtieth inning, losing his hand on a double kiss. This run seemed to encourage him, as he came back in his next turn at the table with 22, and was once more within hailing distance of Coleman. Another contribution of merit followed in the thirty-fourth inning, when Conway ran 25, placing him in his third century and 16 points behind Coleman. Several misses of comparatively easy shots put Conway in the rear again, and when the leader began his final fifty string he led Conway by 36 points. Coleman then drew away and furnished his string with an unfinished run of 7. The summary:

Coleman—2 0 25 0 0 0 0 25 10 3 5 37 3 0 1 8 4 14 3 9 9 18 2 0 1 2 6 1 6 2 7 2 13 12 0 8 1 4 0 17 0 2 4 0 5 1 1 0 4 16 7. Total—300. Average, 5 40-52.

GARDINER MAKES HIGH RUN.

Amateur Billiardist Scores 127 in Match with Mayer.

Edward Gardiner scored an easy victory over Joseph Mayer of Philadelphia last night at Keeney's billiard room, Brooklyn. Gardiner secured an overwhelming lead in the second inning and ran out his 400 points in twenty-nine innings, while Mayer obtained but 251 points. The two Class A amateurs played 18.2 balk line, and Gardiner was at his best. After missing in his first attempt he made a splendid run of 127 points in his second inning. It was a clever exhibition of the balk-line game. The Philadelphian was unable to overcome this big lead. He played a plucky uphill game and finished his string with a run of 59.

Gardiner, in addition to his run of 127, made contributions of 44 and 38 to his string, and averaged 13 23-29. Mayer's best runs were 59, 41, and 31, and he turned in an average of 8 27-29. The summary:

Gardiner—0 127 17 5 21 1 6 0 16 24 8 0 5 44 38 0 0 5 0 0 32 14 1 10 0 1 2 22 1. Total—400. Average—13 23-29. High runs—127, 44, and 38.

Hoppe Wins Exhibition Match.

Willie Hoppe, the holder of the 18.2 balkline billiard championship, who is practicing at the Morningside Billiard Academy, 125th Street and Lenox Avenue, in preparation for his coming championship match for the 18.1 honors with Ora Morningstar, which takes place in Pittsburgh next week, defeated Ed. Barnes, a local player, in an exhibition match of 400 points last night by the score of 400 to 132. Hoppe was playing at 18.1 and his opponent at 18.2. The champion finished his string in twenty-two innings for an average of 18 4-22 and had high runs of 82, 52, and 50. Barnes's efforts netted him high runs of 28, 15, and 12 with an average of 6 6-21.

Western Schools Lead in Shooting.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—With Iowa City High School leading Class A and Salt Lake City High School Class B, each with nine straight victories, the two teams will now shoot off for the United States championship in the High School Rifle League competition. The winner will receive the National trophy presented by the War Department. The results of the final week of the match follow:

C., 933.

MOONEY AND SHERMAN DRAW.

New York Featherweights in Fast Bout at Olympic A. C.

Joe Mooney of the west side and Eddie Sherman of Harlem went through ten hard rounds to a draw last night in the feature event of an all-star show at the Olympic A. C. of Harlem. In the other bouts Lou Stinger of Philadelphia stopped Charley Young of New York in the eighth round, and Joe Shears of England outpointed Billy Meyers in ten rounds.

The Mooney-Sherman bout bristled with speed and action all the way. The ringside weighing showed both boys at 122 pounds, but Mooney was taller than Sherman and had a longer reach. Sherman offset this advantage in strength, being much better built than his opponent. From the opening gong until the close of the tenth round there was no time when either boy shone to decided advantage over the other. At times Mooney set the pace and used a stinging left jab to Sherman's head, which had the latter backing away. Then the tide would turn and Sherman's aggressive tactics would cause Mooney to do the backstepping. In almost every round of the battle the pair stood toe to toe and exchanged punches in most approved fashion. Mooney had the better of these rapid-fire exchanges at close quarters.

In the sixth round Sherman opened a cut on Mooney's left cheek, and the blood flowed quite freely from the wound during the remainder of the bout. Neither boy scored a knockdown, though both sent home punches with sufficient power to stagger his opponent. In the fifth round Mooney landed a hard right swing just below Sherman's heart, and the latter had to hold on to get out of harm's way.

The semi-final, which was also scheduled to go ten rounds, came to a sudden finish in the eighth. Lou Stinger of Philadelphia and Charley Young of New York were the opponents, and the former had the advantage in weight by eight and a half pounds, also the longer reach. Stinger was winning, but Young showed no signs of being unable to last to the final bell when the Philadelphian, in the eighth round, shot a hard right swing which landed just below Young's heart. He went down, the only clean knockdown in the bout, and waited on one knee for Referee Dan Tone to count nine. Young waited too long, and when he learned that he had been counted out he put up a protest, which did no good. The early rounds were fairly even, but Stinger improved as the bout advanced and would have won on points but for the knockout.

The opening ten-round bout was also full of action, Joe Shears gaining the honors over Billy Meyers. Shears picked up a good lead in the early rounds, and it helped considerably in gaining him the verdict, as Meyers did the better work in the closing chapters.

PACKEY MUST MAKE 133.

Ritchie's Proposition to McFarland, Who Is Far Above That Weight.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion, announced to-day that he will give Packey McFarland the first chance at the title, provided he will agree to weigh in at 133 pounds six hours before the bout.

"You can't blame me for wanting to drag Packey down somewhere near my size," said Ritchie. "I think he is the greatest exponent of scientific boxing in the world, if any one will allow him to come in at 136 pounds at least six hours before ring time. However, as I hold the lightweight title, I feel it is purely a business deal to have something to say about the weight. As far as the money is concerned, I am not claiming the lion's share."

CROSS KNOCKS OUT MANDOT.

New York Boxer Puts Over Winning Blow in Tenth Round.

NEW ORLEANS, March 10.—Leach Cross of New York knocked out Joe Mandot of this city in the tenth round of their scheduled ten-round fight here to-night.

The New Orleans fighter was worn down by the New Yorker, who practically won in the ninth round, when Cross landed a right swing to the jaw that sent Mandot down, and four times after that he floored the French market fighter. Mandot could hardly keep his feet as he came from his corner at the beginning of the tenth. Cross went after him hammer and tongs and beat him down with a rain of fights and lefts.

Pugilist Jim Hall Found Dying.

NEENAH, Wis., March 10.—"Jim" Hall, a former well-known pugilist, was found dying of tuberculosis to-day in a hovel. He is penniless, and his once great physique has wasted away until he is hardly recognizable. Twenty years ago last Saturday Hall was knocked out in the fourth round by Robert Fitzsimmons at New Orleans for a purse of $40,000. The State Anti-Tuberculosis Society is now caring for him.

Another McFarland-Britton Bout.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 10.—Encouraged by the showing Jack Britton of Chicago made against Packey McFarland in a ten-round bout in New York last Friday, Dan Morgan, Britton's manager, is endeavoring to match the boys for a twenty-round fight here within the next two months. Morgan telegraphed a local promoter yesterday offering to put up himself an eight-thousand-dollar guarantee for his man. McFarland outpointed Britton easily, but the latter's backers believe he would win in a long-distance battle.

NOTES OF THE BOXERS

The Brooklyn Beach A. C. will put on its usual card of three ten-round bouts at its clubhouse in South Brooklyn to-morrow night. In the main event Tommy Buck of Philadelphia and Eddie Powers of Brooklyn will be the contestants. The other bouts will bring together Terry Brook versus Andy Gorman and Harry Haffner versus Kid Twist.

Johnny Dundee and his manager, Scotty Montieth, planned to leave New Orleans last night for Los Angeles, to begin the training for Dundee's bout with Champion Johnny Kilbane for the featherweight title at McCarey Arena on April 15. Kilbane, with his manager, Jimmy Dunn, and his trainer, Cal Delaney, plan to leave Cleveland for California about March 20.

The attempt of the veteran Joe Thomas, who fought the memorable bouts with Stanley Ketchel almost six years ago, is attracting considerable interest, but the impression is general that Thomas will have a most difficult time. He is matched for a ten-round bout with George Ashe of Philadelphia at the Forty-fourth Street Sporting Club on Thursday night, and the latter, although he has never achieved the fame that Thomas once possessed, is a hardy youngster who has made a good record during his short time in the ring. The other bouts will bring together Johnny Marto versus Harry Donahue of Pekin, Ill., and Jimmy Murray of this city versus Louisiana of Philadelphia.

One Close Game in Palm Beach Golf.

Special to The New York Times.

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 10.—But one close match marked the second round of play for the Florida amateur golf title to-day, D. C. Murray, Utica, defeating H. P. Farrington, Woodlawn, 1 up. Walter Fairbanks, Denver, and R. H. McElwee each settled arguments with their opponents on the fifteenth hole. Leverne Noyeh, Chicago, who played well the first day, when he put away the former champion, James Hyde, South Shore, did not play the part of conquering hero, as G. A. Mason, Tuxedo, won from him by a close margin.

BLUNDERS IN A. A. U. GAMES.

Wrongful Penalties at Championship Sports to be Protested.

A blunder made by one of the officials at the recent indoor championships of the Amateur Athletic Union in Madison Square Garden promises to be the cause of a protest which may be the means of changing the complexion of the titular list if the athlete who suffered by an unwitting error puts his protest up to the Championship Committee of the A. A. U.

During the progress of the "56" for height, in which event Pat McDonald of the Irish-American A. C. broke the handle of the weight in one of his efforts, after which a new one was procured, it developed that the contest had resolved itself into a tie between McDonald and Matt McGrath, the 1912 champion.

Instead of giving both men their required three tries in order to break the tie, as the rules provide for, the official in charge of the competition ruled that the first man to hit the barrel head would be adjudged the winner. McGrath failed and McDonald hit it in his first attempt, being immediately proclaimed the winner. Despite his contention that he was still entitled to two more throws the event was called off and the honors accorded to McDonald.

At these same sports in the final of the 300-yard race a strong protest was occasioned when the starter and clerk of the course set men back three yards for attempts to anticipate the starting signal, when the rules provide for a penalty of but two yards for each infringement of the rules in that particular.

Future Sporting Events.

The St. George's Club of 207 East Sixteenth Street will hold its third invitation cross-country run of four and one-half miles to-morrow night. The start will be made from the club house at 8:15 o'clock. An invitation is extended to all athletes to take part in the run.

All cyclists are invited to take part in the annual Spring Century Run of the Atlas Bicycle Club, to be held on Sunday, May 11. The start will be made from the Prospect Park Plaza, Brooklyn, at 7 A. M., and the course extends over level roads of Long Island. There will be several divisions, fast and slow. Entries close with George Hausenbader, 162 Jefferson Avenue, Brooklyn.

Princeton Sophs Beat Freshmen.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 10.—Princeton sophomore class track athletes defeated the Tiger freshman squad to-night in a dual indoor meet by a 44-to-33 score. The cubs won their only first places in the 40 and 300 yard races, both of which went to Richardson, a youngster, who promises big things for Princeton's track teams in the future. His time in the forty-yard race was 0:04 4-5. The sophomore victories came in the quarter mile, half mile, tug of war, high jump, and relay races. Cooley, a sophomore, showed the most class by winning the five-lap race in 1:42. The football men of the two classes entered the tug of war and the freshies had a decided advantage.

Chess Leaders Win Their Games.

Magnus Smith, champion of the Manhattan Chess Club, and Dr. George F. Adair, the leaders in the championship tournament of the club, both won their games in the third round yesterday, the former defeating G. E. Northrup in a Ruy Lopez lasting eighteen moves and the latter winning from F. E. Sewall in a Ruy Lopez lasting twenty-five moves. Smith and Adair head the list with three victories each to their credit. O. W. Field scored against F. P. Beynon in a Petroff defense after forty-six moves.

Meeting to Select Regatta Course.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen will be held at the New York Athletic Club, Central Park South, on Saturday evening, for the purpose of selecting a date and place for the next annual championship regatta. The meeting is an open one, and rowing men are cordially invited to attend.

Bowler Makes Perfect Score.

TOLEDO, Ohio, March 10.—The record for an individual game in an American Bowling Congress tournament was smashed to-night by William J. Knox of Philadelphia, when he rolled 300, a perfect score. Knox's total count in his individuals was 672, which placed him second among the first ten leaders. The score made by Knox is the sixth he has made thus far this year, the remainder having been made in league games in Philadelphia.

SECRETARY BRYAN'S VICTORY.

The first official act of Mr. BRYAN as Secretary of State was to send a protest to the Cuban Government against the passage of the so-called amnesty bill and its approval by President GOMEZ. The bill was passed by the Cuban lower house and signed by the President almost in the hour of the change of Administration in Washington. It gave amnesty to all sorts of criminals and granted absolution to offenders not yet convicted. It would have greatly embarrassed the United States Government, which is largely responsible for Cuban finances, and it would have been an obstacle to the success of the incoming administration of President-elect MENOCAL.

The State Department at Washington, however, was not caught napping. The prompt action of Mr. BRYAN resulted in the suspension of the new law's operation, and finally in the recall of the bill and its veto by President GOMEZ. There will be no trouble with Cuba this time, and the promptness and good judgment of Mr. BRYAN's action in this matter may be taken as an indication of his intention and ability to adjust all our threatened difficulties with the little republic of the Antilles so as to avoid a third intervention. The same measure of zeal and intelligence applied to our relations with all the other Latin-American countries ought to have good results.

THE POLICE REPORT.

The Curran Investigating Committee of the Board of Aldermen in its preliminary report fully justifies its appointment. There is nothing sensational or extravagant in its statements, and its recommendations are sensible and practical. It is remarkable that the report should, as a whole, have the concurrence of all the members of the committee, including the three representatives of the minority in the board.

The basic principle of the changes proposed by the committee is home rule for the city. The most important application of this principle is that the city should determine the regulation of the liquor traffic. Were this power granted there is no doubt that the city would decide—not for Sunday opening; the saloons are generally open on Sunday now where business is profitable—but for actual Sunday closing within certain hours. This change would do more to lessen the tendency to corruption in the police force than any other one thing. The committee does not favor the notion of a "morals committee" and a separate police body for the regulation of gambling, excise, and disorderly houses. It condemns it, and properly, on the general ground that it scatters responsibility, the concentration and increase of which are the sole hope of efficiency and fidelity.

The problem of police reform is, the committee holds, in the development and improvement of sound administration. It recommends a single head for the police, a Commissioner to be appointed for eight years by the Mayor, and to be removable by the Mayor, after a hearing on charges to be submitted by the Board of Estimate or the Board of Aldermen, or, as we take it, to be made by the Mayor himself. We regard the single head for the police with a long term and fairly secure tenure as an indispensable feature of sound administration. The objection that a bad Mayor may appoint a bad Commissioner is not adequate. Of course it may happen. But the selection of a Police Commissioner for a long term would be, probably, the most important and conspicuous act of any Mayor to whose lot the selection fell. It would have to be made under keen responsibility to the public, whose attention would be sharply directed to it. The system once established, the duty of the Mayor would be simplified by the chance to reappoint a good man whose term should expire during the term or the Mayor.

The notion that each Mayor is entitled to select a Commissioner to carry out his own policy as to the police lacks weight. The only policy a Mayor ought to have as to the police is to make it efficient. That he can do by appointing, or reappointing, a good Commissioner, or by removing a bad one for good reasons properly sustained. The main point of the committee's report is made in the following passage:

> The administration of the Police Department has been hampered by mandatory State legislation, controlling administrative routine. This is inimical to efficiency and subversive of discipline.
> State laws at present deal with the organization of the department, its different ranks, grades, salaries, qualifications for appointment and promotion, manner of distribution of the force, platoons and tours, structure and quota of the Detective Bureau, Traffic Squad, the suspension, trial, and punishment of delinquent policemen, &c. All such matters should be left entirely to local authorities.

There is one point that is not treated, we think, quite adequately by the committee; doubtless it will be taken up in the final report. It is the power of discipline. That power at present is by no means sufficient. The suggestions of the committee as to relieving the Commissioner of minor trial duties are sound, but he should have more discretion than he now has in demotion and dismissal for serious offenses by his subordinates. The power to command must, in order to be productive of really good results, be accompanied by the power to punish dereliction, and by the power to get rid of men who do not, or can not, do their full duty. On the whole, however, the committee has done excellent work, which, we are confident, will be developed further when its sessions are completed.

PARLIAMENT REOPENED.

The British Parliament was reopened yesterday, with all the accustomed formalities. The King, carefully protected from the assaults of militant suffragettes, proceeded in state from Buckingham Palace to St. Stephen's, and delivered his speech from the throne in the chamber of the Peers. The Queen accompanied him and stood beside him while he read his formal address, which contained no intimation of new legislation of much importance, and threw no light on the size and scope of the budget which the Chancellor of the Exchequer will present after the Easter holidays. Previously the vaults of the Houses of Parliament had been searched, as the dispatches say, more seriously than usual, for any signs of explosives or combustibles. Since the era of GUY FAWKES this ceremony has never been omitted, but it is generally purely perfunctory. Mad women, however, have lately been destroying property and endangering life in London.

Time was when Parliament rose Aug. 12 for the grouse shooting, and did not meet again till February; but Autumn sessions have been the rule lately, and the present Parliament had been in session continuously, with short holidays at Easter and Christmas and a midsummer vacation, from February, 1912, until last Friday, and has been reconvened after three days of respite. The Irish Home Rule bill and Welsh Disestablishment are still the two most important measures before it. Both bills will be repassed in the House of Commons, probably without much debate, and must be passed again, at another session, before they can become laws in spite of the opposition of the House of Lords.

WALL STREET'S RULE OF UNREASON.

There's no denying that Wall Street has had its bumps and thumps, but also there's no denying that it is not having them now. If it had a free hand to make its own figures to order it could hardly set down a more engaging set of fundamentals of prosperity than those to be found among THE ANNALIST's "Barometrics" for last week. The cost-of-living index is four points below last year, and corresponds with the Government's report that farmers' prices on March 1 were 21 per cent. below 1912. Nor are the farmers suffering thereby, for their stock on hand as reported yesterday is exceptionally large, and cost them nothing more than usual. Bankers' profits are indicated by clearings 6 per cent. larger for the year, and 12 per cent. larger for last week. Railway activity is indicated by the fact that when trade was at its height last year there were 20,000 more idle cars than now. The production of copper and iron is at full flood, and the consumption of copper is near the maximum, there being no record of iron consumption.

There are more cotton spindles going than last year, and more buildings rising throughout the country. The increase in construction during February for the United States fell a fraction short of 10 per cent., but for New York City was 27 per cent. As there was a slight decrease for the year it is difficult to doubt that the increase which caused the favorable change is due to the improvement in the dual subway prospects, an augury of hope to burdened taxpayers and owners of realty who have feared lately that their equity was wasting under hope deferred for the realization of the profits and comforts for which the wait has been cheerless and tiring. Failures are fewer than last year, and the banking position for the country is better. Even though the local margin of bank reserves is closer than is desirable, it is far superior to that of any other money centre of the world. The excellence of the foreign trade surpasses even the domestic business.

And yet such is Wall Street's unreason that it is selecting the time when dividends are being raised by the score to sell the properties whose robustness is thus shown. The argument for this irrational procedure is sentimental. Wall Street is worried with its own fears, and downcast with the woes of other nations. It has been so preached at and so legislated about that it feels itself an Ishmael among all the industries. And yet this is no more reasonable than the selling of things whose values are increasing. It is announced that the proposal to double the tax on Wall Street's business will not even come to a vote, being withdrawn because of its unfavorable reception by those more burdened by it than Wall Street. Even more irrational is extreme depression over the woes of other peoples. Nothing could better illustrate the detachment of this happy country from all the antagonisms of countries across the seas than the fact that we are reducing our taxes while they are adding to theirs for the purposes of armaments and wars with which we have no concern. We thrive best when our friends are prosperous, and it would please us to have our foreign customers spend their resources with us rather than on the resources of civilization for slaying each other. But this tendency is self-limited. It is running a natural course to an end which comes nearer daily because of the violence of the onset.

There are times and seasons for all things, and for buying as well as selling. Just as it is often wise to sell on good news, so it is often wise to buy on bad news. The selling on what is now occurring was done by the sophisticated long ago. The proof of it is that there has been no reflection of the good news of which there is such a plenty. The good news has passed unnoticed, like the lives of good men, while the bad news has been "featured" as though the public appetite for it were as insatiable as for murders and explosions and elopements. Values are not based on the rare and extraordinary happenings. Values are based on the unnoticed occurrences of daily life, the conditions which persist through wars and peace alike, indifferent to the sittings and adjournments of Legislatures. Permanent factors of welfare are being neglected because of the temporary and sensational happenings which demand attention, however prices are affected. "We shall restore, and not destroy," is the declaration of the new Administration. Why should Wall Street make this difficult, instead of trying to help forward what all must wish to become true?

PREDATORY TAXATION.

The Board of Water Supply and the City of New York ask only what is just and reasonable in urging the adoption of the pending amendment to sanction Section 4, Subdivision 3, of the General Tax law, relating to the assessment for taxation of lands, structures, and works belonging to a water supply system. This amendment provides that the lands acquired by towns or cities for water supply purposes, whether overflowed by reservoirs or not, shall be assessed "at a valuation not higher "than the valuation of similar lands "in the immediate vicinity within the "tax district," and that the assessed valuation shall be "exclusive of all "dams, aqueducts, and other struct-"ures and works necessary for the "purpose of a water supply." The practice of local assessors, notably with respect to the lands acquired by this city for its great water supply system, has resulted in the most flagrant injustice. The law requires the taxation of real property at its full market value. Dams and reservoir works have, of course, no market value whatever, apart from their use in connection with the water supply system. But various Boards of Assessors have adopted the rule of valuing these works at their cost to the city. Moreover, land valuations have been in most cases increased in a monstrous ratio. Parcels of land assessed at $150 an acre before the city acquired ownership are now assessed at $1,000 an acre to the city, or at that ratio, in many cases, with the result that in some tax districts in the Croton watershed the city pays from 50 to 85 per cent. of the total local tax levy.

In most of the States water supply systems are treated as public necessities and go untaxed. Massachusetts has a law providing for the taxation of the land alone, exclusive of dams and structures, at the local rate. The proposed amendment would give to New York a law like that of Massachusetts. The amending bill is now in committee in the Senate and Assembly, and a conference in the nature of a hearing is to be had to-day. President CHARLES STRAUSS of the Board of Water Supply has prepared an argument, and the city, by its Corporation Counsel, submits a brief, two documents that should be very enlightening for the legislative mind. The facts as to the actual practice of the assessors and the argument from them and from the custom in other States ought to be convincing.

A STATE BUILDING IN THE CIVIC CENTRE.

For the purposes of the State Government twenty-one offices or suites of offices are now rented in this city, at an annual cost of $89,274. The offices are widely scattered. For instance, the Agricultural Department and the Athletic Commission have rooms in separate buildings in Park Row, the Public Service Commission is in Madison Square, the Secretary of State has an office in West Seventy-fourth Street, and the Excise Department and Superintendent of Elections are in Brooklyn. Public convenience would be served if all the offices of the State Government in this city were under one roof. A State Building has been proposed as one of the architectural features of the new civic centre, to harmonize in design with the new law courts and the projected Federal Building.

In the report of the State Architect, laid before the Legislature yesterday, the purchase of a site and the erection of such a building in this city are recommended, the cost of both ground and building not to exceed the amount upon which the interest would equal the sum now paid for rents. This would be something over $2,000,000, and the site immediately north of the Hall of Records would serve the purpose admirably. We may reasonably expect greater activity in the matter of the civic centre when the subway contracts are finally signed and the Board of Estimate can find time to consider all the details of the plans, which, it is needless to say, will be scarcely as imposing and as expensive to carry out as those prepared by the Secretary of the Court House Board and lately published. Only a small part of that elaborate scheme will be taken up at first, but it will probably include, besides the new law courts, the Federal and State buildings, the construction of a new broad avenue uniting the plazas of the Manhattan and Brooklyn Bridges, and some provision for a new Criminal Court Building in the not distant future.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Welcome to the Ranks of Reformers. Having made some feeling remarks about the sort of advertising in The Word and Way, a Baptist weekly published in Kansas City, to which our attention had been called by a troubled clergyman of that denomination, it now behooves us—and becomes a pleasant duty—to announce that those responsible for that periodical have seen a new light on this grave question. They are still printing some pretty bad advertisements, but that is only because of what, with some excuse, they think an obligation to carry out contracts previously formed, and they proclaim that, as soon as these contracts expire, their columns are to be forever barred to the quack and the poisoner.

We cannot claim credit for having produced this reform, since it was effected some days before we pointed out the need for it, but our rejoicings are none the less great, our congratulations none the less sincere.

Excellent, however, as is the policy now to be followed by The Word and Way in this matter, one notices with some regret that in making it public the editor attempts to defend his past course. He presents two explanations of it. The first is the familiar one—in effect, that "we needed the money." The assertion is doubtless true, but comment on it would be superfluous. The second is, in substance, that patent medicines are not all bad, and that concerning all except the worst of them there are honest differences of opinion. That, too, is true, but, as The Word and Way has decided to print no more of these advertisements, it must have decided that, on the whole and considering everything, a religious paper could not with propriety derive any of its income from this source, so the necessity for discussion again lapses.

It grieves us more than a little that the editor of The Word and Way, in informing us of his changed policy, says: "If you are at all disposed to be fair, you "will give the same prominence to our "purpose to discontinue all medical ads. "that you gave to criticism of the con-"duct of the paper." It would have been kinder and in better keeping with his professions and principles had he assumed the existence of the disposition to be fair and begun to doubt it only after he had seen some evidence of its absence. That, however, is a small matter. It is a great one that what has long been a scandal of the religious press has been decreased by The Word and Way to the extent of its power by a much-needed cleansing of its own advertising columns. Thus will its power for good be appreciably increased—and also its right to reprehend the other papers of its class that are still living in sin.

Relatives Need Not Apply. It seems at first thought, and perhaps even at second or third, wrong that a rather large group of people, all, so far as known, good citizens and perfectly reputable, should be debarred from the privilege, so highly valued by most of us and respected by all the rest, of serving their fellow men and women by accepting public office. The hardship seems the greater, too, because it has been inflicted for no other or better reason than that the people in question are the relatives of our new President.

Viewed in the most uncharitable light that can be thrown on it, such consanguinity is a misfortune, and not a crime, or even a fault. Try as he will, a man cannot choose the family into which he shall be born, and his moral and other responsibilities, while measurable, according to modern, eugenical notions, for his own direct descendants, do not extend collaterally except in the general sense that the "brothers" of whom we are all keepers include, besides brothers and sisters, de jure as well as de facto—also uncles and aunts and cousins to the Nth degree. To even the most cautious of us it might happen to wake up, some otherwise fine morning, to find ourselves more or less nearly related to a President of the United States, and for that are we to be deprived of the chance to get an office that is the object of our honorable and legitimate ambitions?

"Answer is no," our old friend Togo might say, and probably would, but it is not the only answer. President WILSON may be leaning backward just a bit in his desire to stand straight, but it is vastly preferable that he should lean that way than the other, and, however scrupulous to avoid even the appearance of evil a man in his position may be, his caution will not be excessive. Few vices are meaner, and none leads to greater scandals in public life, than nepotism.

And the hardship of the innocently disqualified relatives, though real, is not as great as they may think. Whatever their merits or capacities for office, they would get it under general suspicion of owing it to their relationship alone. This would impose upon them a heavy burden, and, however earnest their efforts honestly to earn their salaries, the world would view them with a coldly critical eye. Every slip of theirs would be enormously magnified, and even their high achievements would suffer a cruel denigration. So, on mature reflection, the members of the Wilsonian genus will, or should, be reconciled to their lot, particularly as it is not without its compensations.

Annoying, But Not Unreasonable. An indignant merchant of this city has demanded our sympathy for what he considers maltreatment endured by him at the hands of the Post Office Department. It seems that not long ago he acted on a bill rendered in the best of ways—he promptly made out a check for the amount due, inclosed it, with the statement of account, in a properly addressed envelope bearing his printed address, and mailed it. After a considerable number of days—during which, possibly, his creditor had been thinking the thoughts, so much longer than those of youth, that pass through the mind of the man who wants his money—the sender of the letter learned that it had been held for postage.

Inspection of the envelope reveals clearly enough that it had once carried a stamp, and the merchant thinks that the Post Office, seeing that evidence of good faith, might have forwarded the letter and taken a sporting chance of getting its money at the other end of the line. So he told Postmaster MORGAN, with some incidental remarks about red tape and needless interference with business.

In reply, the complainant's attention was called to the fact that the cancellation mark on this envelope is continuous across the place where the stamp presumably was, indicating that it had been removed in some way before it reached the first mail clerk who handled it. Had a break in these lines, of stamp size and shape, proved that the loss came later, the letter, under the departmental regulations, would have been carried to its destination. As it was, it had to go back.

This rule, which must be unknown to the great majority of people, seems fairly reasonable, and perhaps is necessary to prevent abuses. At any rate, the Post Office does well to discourage as much as it can in reason the practice of putting the payment of postage on the recipient of mail matter. It does make some, and most would say enough, allowance for honest mistakes and unavoidable mishaps. That a few should be penalized, as this one was, is inevitable, and it should be borne with whatever patience the sufferer can command.

A SUFFRAGIST RETORT.

Everett P. Wheeler Accused of Not Arguing Upon Facts.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I hope you have space for a reply to the letter of Everett P. Wheeler on the odious suffragists. The gist of this letter is that because many persons disagree with some suffragists 5,000 American women marching on Pennsylvania Avenue become a "disgusting spectacle" and a more or less defensible target for tobacco juice and obscenity. And, furthermore, that a Chicago woman said no female voter could be a Christian; that "The Freewoman" says marriage is a mistake; that suffragism aims at a social revolution, and that the views of Inez Milholland are "detestable" and "abhorrent."

Let us keep our heads and leave exaggeration and emotionalism to hysterical females. This is the age of science, and the auto de fe, the mobbing of heretics, and Don Quixotism toward both windmills and women are utterly out of date. The whole tone of the letter to which I am replying is the tone of the Middle Ages and the bad side of Puritanism.

Now, as to Point 1: Disregarding the Chicago girl's possibly hasty interpretation of that comprehensive library of ancient literature, the Bible, we know that Christ's law was simply the Golden Rule, the square deal, justice. And this is all that women are asking. St. Paul did not found Christianity.

Whether marriage is a mistake is not to be determined by abhorrences, but by sociological and biological study of all the facts. If civilization is going to increase the good of the greatest number, and if the judge of this good is this greatest number themselves, then as affecting this good very institution is continually on trial. Marriage—as it is conventionally understood: petrified marriage—was originally, and largely is to-day, the result of man's being stronger than woman. The male has wanted to possess at least one female of his species who couldn't get away.

If some women aim at social revolution, and at achieving it by the ballot, why go up in the air about that? For self-evidently before any such revolution can come it must be desired by the majority, and why the majority should not revolve if it wants to it is impossible to see. Moreover, what Mr. Wheeler says amounts to saying that if women "fight" men politically (i. e., hold parades) men will "fight back" in terms of insults and brutalities—a statement I deny in toto. Hoodlums, cowards, and bigots will naturally do so, but there will remain a sprinkling of men who do not do their political fighting that way. Of course, the fact is there is nothing "political" about it; it is just plain savagery. It says: "You can't vote because I don't want you to, and mine is the bigger fist." To prattle of "chivalry" and "protection" in such a connection is grotesque. And against whom, I should like to ask, do women now, or have they ever, needed that male protection and chivalry which Mr. Wheeler will withdraw if they vote, except against man himself?

When man is just he can stop being protective or chivalrous. Justice may not be so romantic, but it is both more difficult and more valuable. Brute force, mob violence, jeers, and anathemas have ever been the weapons of those who had not the brains to create better ones. To imply, as your correspondent seems to, that the men of this country will "despise" as "whimpering" the woman who objects to being mobbed, manhandled, and spat upon in the public streets is too silly for words.

Why not try, just to see what will happen, to come as close as we can to making this a time of reasonableness and justice. Let objectors bring facts and argue upon facts—for the truth, whatever it is, is mightier and more beneficent than anything else. Let us leave such expressions as "abhorrent" and "disgusting," and, indeed, all attempts to bias any one's attitude by the "cussing-out" method. Why not? BOLTON BROWN.

New York, March 10, 1913.

COL. LAMPTON FOR SUFFRAGE.

Thinks the Franchise Would Increase Woman's Power for Good.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Judging by the adverse comment I have received by letter and printed paper owing to some remarks of mine in THE TIMES on what I should wear in the woman's Washington parade, I seem to be in bad with the ladies. So bad, indeed, that some explanation is due lest I perish in their esteem forever, which would be a mutual loss too deplorable to be thought of. I am in favor of woman suffrage, and have always been. Perhaps I may not be rabid in my desire to see women wearing "pants" and whiskers, talking bass from campaign carttails, mingling promiscuously with men at the polls, mixing into practical politics with ward heelers and a few other things like that, incidental to politics as at present prevailing, but I do believe that woman should have equal suffrage with man.

If she wishes to exercise her right and vote, she may do so, but it is not her actual voting that will count with men in framing better laws and selecting better men to control State affairs, so much as their knowledge that she has the right to do so, and unless they regard her higher ideals of men and measures, there will be trouble, and such trouble as means disaster to those in power.

Her influence without a vote has done wonders in bettering human conditions by law, and with a vote the good will grow and continue as long as woman is woman—the better half of man, whether married to him or not. Still, woman is not perfect—I hope no lady will call me a liar at this point—and her work is not perfect. It is only the imperfections I touch upon when I write unfavorably of her cause, and I am really only cruel to be kind. A cause that is too weak to overcome ridicule is certainly not strong enough to live on praise alone. Here's to the women—God bless 'em. Maybe they think they don't need it, but they do. W. J. LAMPTON.

1913 a Suffrage Year?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Ten State Legislatures in the last nine weeks have voted by large majorities for constitutional amendments giving full suffrage to women. In two of these, Maine and West Virginia, the vote in one house fell short of the needed two-thirds, but the outcome is encouraging as a sign of the times. In New York, South Dakota, Montana, Nevada, Michigan, New Jersey, Iowa, and North Dakota, woman suffrage received the full constitutional majority, and in many cases there was only a handful of votes cast in opposition. Several other Legislatures seem to be on the point of taking similar action, but, even if no more should do so, 1913 has certainly been a great suffrage year. ALICE STONE BLACKWELL.

OLD PEWTER SOLD FOR $1,758

Francis Wilson and David Warfield Among Buyers at Drake Sale.

The first part of the collection of quaint and curious things of A. W. Drake, now on sale at the American Art Galleries, was disposed of yesterday afternoon. This was the old pewter, and the returns were $1,758. Francis Wilson was among the buyers, paying $9 for a Chinese pewter tea caddy, $10 for a hot water urn, and $4 for a coffee pot, the two latter of britannia.

An English instand of pewter, with two ink bottles and a sand sprinkler, brought one of the highest prices of the afternoon, $42.50. A seder schussel, with engraved centre and date 1783, brought $23, and a Dutch pewter lavabo, seventeenth century, went to H. F. Dupont for $155. David Warfield paid $7 for a 13¾-inch pewter plate.

This afternoon there will be sold old samplers, bandboxes, showing examples of old-time wall paper, and specimens of chintz.

SUPPORTS HOSPITAL RIGHTS.

Vice Chancellor Backes Against Next of Kin in McBride Controversy.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., March 10.—In his first opinion, filed to-day, Vice Chancellor John H. Backes decided that St. Francis Hospital of Jersey City was entitled to the residue of the estate of Mary C. McBride, even though that residue did not reach the $50,000 mark as expected.

He dismissed the bill of complaint filed by Ann Shugree and others against James F. Gannon as executor of the estate. The testatrix died two years ago and directed that certain property be sold within ten years and the proceeds given to the hospital. She expected to give the hospital $50,000.

The next of kin attacked the will on the ground that the amount was only about $10,000, and it passed, therefore, to the next of kin as in cases of intestacy. The Vice Chancellor held that a lapsed legacy to one who is also the residuary legatee falls into the residium and not to the next of kin.

CALLED TO CALVARY CHURCH.

Methodist Congregation Selects the Rev. Dr. J. V. Hoffman for Pastor.

While no official appointment would be announced until the general conference next month, it was said yesterday that the Rev. Dr. J. V. Hoffman, pastor of the Crafton Methodist Church in Pittsburgh, would fill the vacancy in the pulpit of the Calvary Methodist Church, at Seventh Avenue and 128th Street, in this city.

Calvary Church is the largest Methodist Church in the world, and has a membership of 3,500 persons. The Rev. Charles L. Goodell, who has been pastor of the church for thirteen years, resigned in January to accept a call to St. Paul's Church, at West End Avenue and Eighty-sixth Street.

Not a Suffragist Paper.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In a recent issue of THE TIMES is a report of an anti-suffrage meeting at the Berkeley Theatre. At that meeting Everett Wheeler quoted The Freewoman as saying "that permanent marriage is a mistake," and called The Freewoman the organ of the English suffragists. He is mistaken. The Freewoman is an anti-suffrage paper. This was made clear by Miss A. Maude Royden, Chairman of the Literature Committee of the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies, in a letter to The Evening Post of Nov. 1. She says:

> English suffragists are accused of being in some way responsible for a certain weekly newspaper called The Freewoman, whose doctrines are, to most decent persons, as detestable as they are absurd. In reply, I beg to point out that The Freewoman last June published a fierce attack on the suffrage movement, and in September asserted that "to have a vote is to offend against spiritual law," classing together as offenders thieves, immoral women, and suffragists, and giving suffragists the lowest place as having the least pure motives! After this, it is hardly necessary to say that no suffrage society is in the remotest way responsible for the publication of The Freewoman.

His Sunday Newspapers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is very annoying to find a Sunday newspaper so full of valuable matter that we dare not neglect any of it for fear of missing something vital. The Magazine Supplement, in particular, brings sixteen pages of matter of which at least half must be read, even if one has to lounge in morning clothes until noon to do it. Usually, however, we do not get quite through, and one is likely to find any number of literary sections of THE TIMES awaiting final reading. How do you suppose I and others of my kind enjoy that?

In order to obviate this I frequently purchase a Sunday newspaper much bulkier than THE TIMES. I know perfectly well that I can read all of this other newspaper or none of it without serious danger. I can get the news out of it in half an hour, and whether I read the rest is of no consequence whatever. No one ever asks me, later in the week, "Did you read that article in the supplement to the Sunday Splash?"

Why not fill THE TIMES with more stuff that no one cares to read, and that isn't worth reading anyway? You owe this to those of your readers who can't quite keep up with you. A. M. ADAMS.

Subway and Realty Values.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The settling of the subway question calls to mind that the plans of the proposed system show that three stations will be located at Lexington Avenue, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Streets, near the approach to the Queensboro Bridge.

It might be in good taste for the taxpayers to inquire as to what is intended by our alert city officials toward acquiring the property on the block bounded by Second and Third Avenues, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Streets, property greatly enhanced by this condition. This property is positively needed for bridge purposes and will eventually be taken—but at what cost! Must we wait for proper action until the property has grown so valuable as to make every property owner on the block a handsome money present at the expense of the city? C. W. CLARK.

Children Need a Start.

To a boy of 17 and a sister three years younger has come the responsibility of supporting a home for their mother and five younger brothers and sisters. The father died recently, and necessary expenses have exhausted the money received at his death. The mother does some work each week for the landlord in part payment of the rent; but this, with the care of the children, is all that she should do. The boy, who has been doing odd jobs, shows a talent for drawing, but his ambition to be a draftsman could not be encouraged; and his sister, just through school, would be obliged to go into a factory, the mother felt. With what the boy can earn as a beginner in an architect's office and what the church gives in the way of food, $30 a month will make it possible for the mother to keep a good home for the children and allow the girl to accept an opportunity open to her in a trade school. The Charity Organization Society asks for $180, to provide this during the coming six months, to give this boy and girl the best possible start and lighten the mother's burden.

Contributions may be addressed to the society, 105 East Twenty-second Street, and will be acknowledged.

The Charity Organization Society acknowledges with thanks the following contributions received in response to previous appeals in THE TIMES: E. S. S., $1; A Friend, $5; C. M. T., $1; Mrs. E. E. C., $5; Mrs. A. E. Outerbridge, $5; A. A. A., $1; Mrs. L. H. Strouse, $5; C. T. G., $1; T. A. K., $1; Mrs. Alice Arnold, $2; A Grateful Wage Earner, $1; F. A. S., $1; Mrs. B. van Gerbig, $25; A. S. W., $1; T. B and E. P., $5; Anon., $5; T. J. R., $5; E. A. R., $2; M. S., $1; A Friend, $10; A. H., $1; E. B. S., $1, and Fleischmann, $10.

WIDOWED MOTHERS.

Mr. Sulzberger Cites Authorities Who Favor State Pensions.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In the course of an article in to-day's TIMES the following paragraph occurs:

> The United Hebrew Charities, in conjunction with the Charitable Organization Society, the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, and other charitable societies, is opposing the passage of a bill in Albany making provision for widows, on the ground that widows are already being provided for fully by many charitable organizations in the State. The bill was drafted and introduced without consultation with any of the charities whose funds are devoted partially to the welfare of widows, over 31 per cent. of the beneficiaries of the United Hebrew Charities having lost their husbands, and for the past thirty years the society has given pensions to widows.

It is quite true that the Trustees of the United Hebrew Charities have expressed themselves against Assembly bill No. 744, making provision for the relief of dependent widows with young children, but nobody familiar with the facts would contend that "widows are already being provided for fully by many charitable organizations. The bill deals only with New York City, and I have no hesitation in saying that no charitable organization in this city provides fully for all of the widows in its care. The investigation made by the City Conference of Charities disclosed the fact that the United Hebrew Charities does this more nearly than any of the other organizations, but it falls far short of making full provision. A very limited number of the widows in its care are being fully provided for through supplementary funds intrusted to it, and these supplementary sums in each case amount to about 75 per cent. of the allowance made by the organization. There were 687 widows aided by the United Hebrew Charities last year, and they received $63,997, or an average of about $93 per annum each.

Some of these women had other sources of income—children at work or working themselves—but that they were fully provided for even when all sources of income are considered is far from true. And this being so as regards the wards of the United Hebrew Charities, which gives more largely than any other of the relief societies, it may readily be inferred that the wards of the others are in worse situation.

Technically it is true that the bill that has been introduced in the Legislature was drafted and introduced without consultation with the various organizations, but substantially it is not true. The Committee of the City Conference of Charities gave many hearings, and representatives of the United Hebrew Charities, the Charity Organization Society, and the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor were present and gave their views. The report of the committee embodying practically the provisions of the bill was made in May, 1912, and sent to all of these bodies and criticisms thereon were invited, but none was received. With the exception of Rev. William I. Nicholls, General Secretary of the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, the committee was unanimous in its report in favor of governmental aid for widows.

That those of the committee who favored this measure were not novices, but, on the contrary, social workers of long experience, particularly in relief work, a perusal of their names will demonstrate. They were Miss Lillian D. Wald of the Nurses' Settlement, Dr. O. F. Lewis, President of the Fourth City Conference of Charities and General Secretary of the Prison Association; Robert W. Hebbard, President of the First City Conference, Secretary of the State Board of Charities, and former Commissioner of Charities of the City of New York; Thomas W. Hynes, President of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul of Brooklyn; Thomas M. Mulry, President of the Third City Conference and of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul of Manhattan, and the writer of these lines, President of the Second City Conference and former President of the United Hebrew Charities. A more widely experienced body for the matter in hand would have been hard to find, and it is respectfully submitted that their conclusions are entitled to the consideration which their qualifications warrant.

CYRUS L. SULZBERGER.

Bookkeeping Query Answered.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The bookkeeping question presented by "S. R. C." is one which affects the legal rights of the two partners. The rights of the two parties are determined by their contract of partnership, both in its expressed and in its implied terms. The contract indicates in specific terms what distribution is to be made of the first 6 per cent. of the net profits in any one year, namely, they are to be distributed as interest at 6 per cent. on the capital of each partner. The contract does not, however, indicate (so far as quoted by "S. R. C.") what distribution is to be made of the net profits if they amount in any one year to less than 6 per cent. In the absence of expressed terms on this point, the contract must be construed in harmony with the implied intentions of the parties, and this unquestionably was that the net profits in any one year up to and including 6 per cent. on the total capital should be distributed between the two partners in proportion to their shares in the capital, whether such percentage of return amounted to 6 per cent. interest or any lesser per cent. (as in the problem 3 per cent.) It is hardly conceivable that the two partners, or either of them, in making the contract of partnership, had in mind any other intention than that they should share the profits in proportion to their respective investments up to 6 per cent., and equally, and, therefore, not in proportion to their investments, for any surplus above 6 per cent.

If this construction is correct, then A should receive $2,400 and B should receive $600 as their respective shares of the net profits. O. H. L.

Topsy-Turvy Geography.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The more one comes in contact with the amazing knowledge New Yorkers possess of the country west of the Hudson, the more he is utterly overcome by it. A New York lady the other day, meeting a Kentucky lady from Louisville, was greatly pleased and went quite into raptures over that charming town, winding up with, "And the Potomac is such a beautiful river, isn't it?" The Kentucky lady, in the kindness of her heart, not only let it go at that, but agreed that it was.

P. S.—Merely as a hint, it may be stated here that Louisville is situated on the Ohio River. What? L. J. W.

TAFT.

At Washington on March the fourth,
When William passed away,
The people thronged about and cheered
With many a loud hooray.

At other points their cheers rang out,
And never anywhere
Was one dissenting voice upraised
In discord on the air.

Augusta turned out in a bunch
To greet him with a cheer
Of ringing, rousing resonance
For all the world to hear.

And William sighed between his smiles
And murmured with each bow:
"If they had voted as they cheer
I wouldn't be here now."

CITY CLUB AWARDS MUNICIPAL DEGREES

Thirty-one Men Who Have Served New York at Least Five Years Honored at Dinner.

DR. FINLEY PRAISES THEM

List Includes Lederle, Bingham, Purdy, Maxwell, and Many in Technical Capacities.

The City Club gave a dinner last night in honor of "Expert Administrative Service." Invited as its guests of honor were thirty-one men who for at least five years have given faithful, expert service, either administrative or technical, to the City of New York. President Finley of City College was there to make the speech of tribute to this sort of municipal service.

It was all so like a college commencement at the time for the bestowal of honorary degrees that Dr. Finley could not resist saying:

"On the recommendation of the Faculty of the City Club, and by the authority of its President and Board of Trustees, I admit you to the degree of Municipal Expert, to all the privileges, immunities, and compensations thereunto belonging."

This list of thirty-one was richly varied from Health Commissioner Lederle, described as a "man known in every city in the land," to John J. Kelly, a master at bookkeeping in the Controller's office, whose voice is "never heard above the rumble of city business." Man by man, President Strong named them and gave to each a paragraph of appreciation and each name was roundly applauded by the 150 guests.

There were President Lawson Purdy of the Tax Board and Gen. Theodore A. Bingham of the Department of Bridges, who, it was said, "had put the fear of God into the members of the police force and who, apparently, was putting it into the hearts of contractors." There were Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, and Dr. Walter Bensel of the Health Department, and John S. Billings and John S. Billings, Jr., one the head of the library system, one an important factor in the health service of New York.

"For Superintendent William H. Maxwell," President Strong of the City Club needed to go no further than a reading from the Hanus report. Length of service was recorded there, too, for Joseph Haag, Secretary of the Board of Estimate, who has been in the city's employ since 1870, and Dr. Henry M. Leipziger's service has been only two years shorter. There was the sort of contrast shown in the names of Assistant Corporation Counsel Theodore Connoly, who had no other client than New York for thirty years; to John T. Fetherston, Sanitary Engineer, who has made such a science of the disposal of refuse out in Richmond that Chicago tried very hard, but vainly, to get him.

Others in the thirty-one were Chief Engineer Lewis and Chief of the Bureau of Franchises Nichols from the Board of Estimate, Chief Engineer Smith of the Board of Additional Water Supply, Chief Clerk and Auditor Beardsley and Dr. Daniel D. Jackson of the Department of Water Supply; Benjamin F. Welton and Otto H. Klein, engineers of the Commissioner of Accounts office; Charles S. Hervey, Robert F. McIntyre, Duncan McInnes, Daniel F. Moynahan, and Chandler Withington of the Department of Finance; Assistant Corporation Counsel McGoldrick, George W. Tillson and M. L. Fouquet, from the office of Borough President Steers in Brooklyn; Park Commissioner Kennedy of Brooklyn, Chief Examiner Ireland of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, and Chief Examiner Boyle from the office of President Mitchel of the Board of Aldermen.

Dr. Finley, after counting the list of thirty-one and finding that he was not one of them, concluded that he was asked to represent the other 80,000 in the city's service. He said that one in every thirty was in the city employ, and many of the thirtieth men served the employer so well that the time was fast passing when the comic journals might successfully jest about the laziness of the public servant.

THE FLONZALEY QUARTET.

Last of Its Series of Concerts Given in Aeolian Hall.

The Flonzaley Quartet summed up all its excellencies at the last concert of its series, which took place last evening in Aeolian Hall—its finish and delicacy, its purity and richness of tone, its correctness of intonation, its elaboration of phrasing, and of all the nuances of expression which it develops so highly. These qualities were exercised upon Beethoven's quartet in C minor, Op. 18, No. 4, a "Sonata a tre" by Giuseppe Sammartini and Schumann's quartet in A, Op. 41, No. 3.

In some of this music, particularly in certain passages of Beethoven's quartet, it seemed as if the nuances of expression were sometimes somewhat too highly involved, in such a manner as to affect the vigor and integrity of the music. It is not necessary to melt on every phrase to make it tell. But perhaps it is ungracious to raise an objection where so much is so superlatively fine as it is in the playing of the Flonzaley Quartet. The organization has put the very highest ideals before itself, and has followed them with a devotion, sincerity, and artistic rectitude that cannot be too greatly valued. In the musical season now nearing its close it has been one of the factors giving it its greatest distinction.

The trio by Sammartini has been played here by the Flonzaley Quartet before. It is the work of one of two brothers, whose music had great popularity in England in the eighteenth century, of which the authorship is often difficult to distinguish between the two. It has the agreeable flavor of eighteenth century music, even when it is not of the highest value, especially the first and last movements; and its clarity and vigor, the skillful effect of the two violins and violoncello, make it pleasing. The Flonzaley musicians play such compositions with especial predilection, and their researches in the libraries of Europe have added several of them to their repertory. The audience last evening showed a cordial enthusiasm.

OPERA THRONG AT "TOSCA."

Largest Audience of the Season—Mme. Fremstadt in Title Role.

CHORUS ACTS MUSICAL PLAY.

Stars See Themselves Imitated in "The Honeymoon Express.

There was a complete performance at the Winter Garden yesterday of "The Honeymoon Express," with scenery, music, costumes, audience, and even the train effect, and not one of the regular cast was in his or her rôle. Instead the stars sat in the audience and watched themselves being imitated on the stage by members of the chorus. For the first time that any one there could remember its having been done, a complete cast of understudies performed a spectacular musical comedy in a performance complete in every detail.

The element of applause was not omitted, either. There was an audience of about 200 and all seemed to enjoy it. Yansci Dolly, one of the principals of the play, was cast for the rôle ordinarily played by Gaby Deslys and made a big hit. As she reproduced each familiar trick of gesture or action of that star, a ripple of amusement went through the audience and Gaby herself generally led the applause. Harry Wardell, who plays a small part in the piece, appeared in Al Jolson's guise and was liberally applauded, especially for his singing. Doyle and Dixon, the dancers, had "straight" men's parts to play. The rest of the cast was made up entirely from members of the chorus. They were Mabel Hill, Kelcey Stanton, Marjorie Lane, Frank Holmes, Harry Wilcox, Tobey Lyons, Paul Moore, and Florence Kern.

TERRISS IN DICKENS PLAY.

English Actor Gives "A Tale of Two Cities" at the Union Square.

Tom Terriss, an English actor known in vaudeville here previously for his production of a version of "A Christmas Carol," appeared for the first time yesterday in another adaptation from the same author, when he presented "A Tale of Two Cities" at Keith's Union Square Theatre. The play was in six scenes and required the services of a larger company than is usually employed in a production for vaudeville. The story of the terrors of the French Revolution for those who happened to be "aristocrats" was told with no disposition to leave out gritting of teeth or ferocious howls of angry mobs, but the events moved rapidly through the high spots of the Dickens tale, and the audience seemed to like it. Mr. Terriss made a little curtain speech, in which he dwelt on the gratifying reception Dickens always had met with in this country.

Another act that pleased was the Providence players, members of the Summer stock company at the Keith Theatre in that city, who appeared in a farce called "Who is Brown?" acting with ease and celerity. Chick Sale won his audience by making it part of the action of his new protean sketch, "A Country School Entertainment." Others who appeared were the Ioleen Sisters, Harry Fentelle, and Viola Vallorie, Prof. Kluting's animals, Edison Kinetophone, Frosini, and the Max Welson troupe.

SCHILDKRAUT IN 'NUMBER 37.'

Appears in Drama Adapted from German Into Yiddish at West End.

Rudolf Schildkraut began an engagement of a week at the West End Theatre last night in a drama called "Number 37," which was adapted from the German of Richard Voos into Yiddish by M. Schorr, a name which also appeared opposite one of the principal parts on the programme. The play is one of modern life, and tells the story of a man unjustly convicted of murder. On being released from prison after twenty years he returns to find his wife under the power of a man who runs a cheap restaurant on the east side. She does not recognize him, and in conversation with her he draws forth the fact that she believed him guilty of the murder.

He then decides to leave without revealing himself. But he overhears a violent scene between his wife and her oppressor and is carried away to the point of seizing a hammer and slaying him. Now he has committed a real murder and gives himself up to the District Attorney.

Mr. Schildkraut's characterization was happier after the first act, in which he was called upon to act a young clerk in a mercantile house. May Simon was the leading woman.

PICKS M. J. MULQUEEN FOR SUPREME BENCH

Sulzer Asks Bar Association About Him—Brother Now Sits in General Sessions.

PRESIDENT OF CATHOLIC CLUB

The Governor Leaves His Fate in the Hands of Bar Association's Judiciary Committee.

William D. Guthrie, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the Bar Association, received a letter yesterday from Gov. William Sulzer saying that Gov. Sulzer was considering Michael J. Mulqueen among others to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court bench made by the appointment of Edward E. McCall as Chairman of the Public Service Commission. Mr. Mulqueen is President of the Catholic Club.

It was said yesterday that Gov. Sulzer had assured prominent members of the Bar Association that he would not nominate any lawyer to the Supreme Court bench who had not the approval of its Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Guthrie said that a meeting of the committee would take place within two or three days, at which Mr. Mulqueen's name would be considered. He said he would not make any public statement about his opinion of Mr. Mulqueen's qualifications for judicial honors. The exact time of the meeting has not been fixed.

The Judiciary Committee of the Bar Association consists of William D. Guthrie, Chairman; Robert Grier Monroe, Austen G. Fox, George L. Rives, Charles C. Birmingham, John G. Milburn, John Henry Hammond, James Byrne, and Alton B. Parker. Members of the committee who were interviewed last night declined to give their possible attitude toward Mr. Mulqueen's elevation to the bench. From the tone of some of the answers, however, it appeared that not a few of the committee had definite ideas, which they hesitated to express. One, it was said, had frequently been on the "opposite side of the case" to Mr. Mulqueen. Other members of the committee said that they would listen to testimony as to Mr. Mulqueen's fitness with open minds.

Michael J. Mulqueen is a brother of General Sessions Justice Joseph F. Mulqueen, whose law partner he formerly was. He was born in the old Seventh Ward in 1857 and attended Public School 2. He continued his studies in Cooper Union and the Columbia College Law School. He also read law in the office of ex-Judge A. J. Dittenhoefer.

The law firm of Mulqueen & Mulqueen was particularly known for its specialization in proceedings brought by the city for the condemnation of land for parks, schools and other public building sites, street openings and widenings. Among its clients it had Robert Goelet, the estates of J. B. Cornell and William McKenna, Michael Reilly, the Union Railway Company, Weil & Meyer, Joseph H. Rosen and the Colwell Lead Company.

Michael J. Mulqueen was the attorney of Antoni Rasines, receiver of the Canal Street Bank, who paid depositors more than $400,000, representing 93 per cent. of the amount due to them. With Col. George Moore Smith he was receiver of the T. New Roofing Company, and wound up its affairs to the satisfaction of creditors and stockholders.

In 1894 Michael J. Mulqueen was a delegate to the Constitutional Convention of the State. He was one of the conspicuous orators in several debates. He is a regular Democrat and a member of the Tammany Hall General Committee. In 1892 he married Mary S. Gilroy, daughter of ex-Mayor Gilroy. They have two children, Estelle and Roy.

MISS KILBRETH ENGAGED.

Will Wed James T. Kilbreth, Her Second Cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kilbreth of Woodmere, L. I., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anna Kilbreth, to James T. Kilbreth, a lawyer of this city. Miss Kilbreth and her fiancé are second cousins. Mr. Kilbreth's mother, who died in October at Southampton, was a Miss Sophie Agnus. Her first husband was Mr. Oudin. Mr. Kilbreth is a Harvard graduate, class of '94, and a member of the University and Century Clubs.

"EVERYMAN" IS REVIVED.

Miss Matthison and Ben Greet Again in Old English Morality Play.

"Everyman," the old English morality play, was revived last night at the Children's Theatre, atop the Century, by the Liebler Company, with a cast headed by Edith Wynne Matthison and Ben Greet. The play was last brought out here in 1902, when it was produced by an English company headed by the same actor and actress. It is in an allegorical vein and most of the characters are the embodiment of abstract qualities. On account of the shortness of the play the curtain does not rise until 9 o'clock, and the hour for matinee performances is 3 o'clock.

No precise authorship can be assigned to the play, which, presumably, dates to the period about a century before Shakespeare. The stage is set to represent a cloister yard in a cathedral in Spain, such a place as the miracle and morality were generally performed.

Edith Wynne Matthison appeared in the title rôle and Ben Greet was Doctour, a sort of epilogue. Others in the cast were Beverly Sitgreaves, Charles Francis, Leopold Profeit, Ruth Vivian, George Hare, George Vivian, Leo G. Carroll, and Winifred Fraser.

CROOKS AT THE VICTORIA.

Good Acting by Anne Sutherland and Edwin Arden in "The Stool Pigeon."

The theatrical "wave of crime" which was started by the success of "Within the Law" has overflowed into the vaudeville houses, and yesterday's matinée at the Victoria was the occasion for the production of the latest of the playlets dealing with crooks, police, white slavers, and that highly colorful personage "The Stool Pigeon," who provides the title.

In this particular sketch Miss Anne Sutherland, one of the most accomplished comediennes on the American stage, reveals herself in an auburn wig and a different line of effort, playing with considerable variety and emitional stress a young woman of the lower crust, who first betrays and then helps to save her crooked sweetheart. The incidents leading up to this conclusion wherein the supposed thief and murderer counters on his unscrupulous opponent, a Police Captain, are highly colored, and do not always suggest the extreme of plausibility, but the climaxes are effectively led up to, and there is enough suspense to hold the interest of the vaudeville audience. The final dénouement involving the proof of an alibi which will save the girl's lover from the electric chair is skillfully and interestingly contrived.

The general effect will be improved by a little pulling together in the action and a little more repose in the acting, but these are to come after more repetitions.

Mr. Edwin Arden, acting naturally and forcefully, with a good suggestion of cunning, shared the honors with Miss Sutherland. J. H. Doyle played the Captain with the sort of malevolent suggestion which is popular. The others served.

Of its kind "The Stool Pigeon," by Alice Leal Pollock and Carrington Phelps, is undoubtedly better than the average.

THINKS STEEL TRUST WATCHED FOR T. C. & I.

Government Trying to Show the Panic Deal Was a Long-Sought Opportunity.

GAYLEY URGED IT BEFORE

And Frick Thought Price Too High—Carnegie Dropped Wire Mill Project When Morgan Became "Alarmed."

James Gayley, ex-Vice President of the United States Steel Corporation, continued his testimony yesterday in the Government suit for its dissolution. C. A. Severance, for the Steel Corporation, went on with his cross-examination where he left off on Friday.

Mr. Gayley had testified that he had urged on Henry C. Frick the purchase of the Tennessee Coal and Iron property in 1906, a year before it was acquired in the panic of 1907, which the Government took as evidence that the Steel Corporation had had its eye on it for some time, and was not actuated solely by a desire to stop the panic when it made the purchase.

Under Mr. Severance's questioning Mr. Gayley said that his suggestion to Mr. Frick was made when he happened to meet him in the hall. An examination of the Tennessee property had just been made by engineers, preliminary to a projected merger with the Republic Iron and Steel Company and the Sloss-Sheffield Company, which was never consummated. Mr. Gayley, who was always trying to get the Steel Corporation to buy more ore lands, with little success, told Mr. Frick that the examination had developed great bodies of ore, and that the Steel Corporation ought to buy the property. Mr. Frick, he said, replied that the property could not be bought at a price that would justify the purchase.

This, said Mr. Gayley, was the only discussion he had as to the property until the question of its purchase came up during the panic. Then Judge Gary asked him what he thought could be counted on as the ore reserves of the company. He said he had entire confidence in the report that had been made, and gave Judge Gary the substance of it.

As to the Hill ore leases, Mr. Gayley said the price paid by the Steel Corporation was high, but it needed the reserves. The acquisition of the Union and Sharon Steel Companies was touched on, and Mr. Gayley said he had heard no talk about suppressing competition in connection with it.

Judge J. M. Dickinson, the Government counsel, then took Mr. Gayley back to the events that led up to the formation of the Steel Corporation. The Government theory is that when Andrew Carnegie, who had long disturbed the industry, threatened to build a wire and tube mill at Conneaut, Ohio, thus entering into competition with the Federal Steel Company and the American Steel and Wire Company, J. P. Morgan, who dominated then, decided to form a combination and buy Mr. Carnegie out.

Judge Dickinson asked Mr. Gayley, who was an officer of the Carnegie Steel Company at that time, how the Conneaut project came to be dropped. All Mr. Gayley knew about it was that Mr. Carnegie changed his mind after $1,400,000 had been appropriated for the purpose. The project was laid on the table at a meeting before the Steel Corporation was launched.

Judge Dickinson read from the Carnegie minutes of Nov. 6, 1900, quoting Charles M. Schwab as saying that J. P. Morgan had sent for him. Mr. Schwab didn't go, because he thought the financier wanted to talk about railroads, but later on he saw Charles Steele, J. P. Morgan's chief assistant, and learned from him that the banker was much alarmed at the talk about a new tube plant for the Carnegie Company, and the prospect of a rival million dollar plant was not encouraging. Mr. Steele told Mr. Schwab, according to the minutes, that J. P. Morgan wanted "a definite announcement of our intention." It was not long after this that the Conneaut plan was dropped.

Judge Dickinson next attacked Mr. Gayley's testimony that, instead of the Steel Corporation having a virtual monopoly of ore lands, ore was available in enormous quantities in various parts of this country and outside of it. Taking up the Adirondack region, he obtained an admission that its output was about 300,000 or 400,000 tons, while the Steel Corporation mined 5,000,000 tons in its first year and had been increasing its output ever since. Mr. Gayley's examination will continue to-day.

The Government put in documentary evidence yesterday to show that H. C. Frick owned 37,100 shares in the Cambria Steel Company, which is independent of the Steel Corporation, the implication being that he represented a community of interest between the trust and the independent company.

The proposal of the committee will be considered at a Directors' meeting next Friday.

The Homestake Mining Company reported yesterday a surplus of $2,267,888 for the year ended on Dec. 31, 1912. This amount is equivalent to 10.28 per cent. on the common stock.

MONEY COMMITTEE LIKELY.

Democratic Caucus to Favor Creating New Senate Body.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The Democratic steering committee of the Senate definitely decided to-day to recommend to the Democratic caucus the creation of a new Senate Committee to deal with banking and currency matters, which are now under the jurisdiction of the Senate Finance Committee. The new committee will be designated as the Banking and Currency Committee and it will take over all those duties of the Finance Committee relating to monetary matters and reforms, leaving the Finance Committee with exclusive jurisdiction only over the tariff and the raising of revenue. With the recommendation coming practically unanimously from the steering committee and sentiment in the caucus favorable to the division, the latter is expected to adopt the recommendation without opposition.

The new committee will consist of from thirteen to fifteen members. No member of the Finance Committee will be allowed to serve on it. Senator Stone, who is second ranking member on the Finance Committee, can have the Chairmanship if he is willing to relinquish his place on the Finance Committee. Senator Owen of Oklahoma, who is a banker, and has been a student of financial matters, is making a fight for selection as Chairman of the new committee. Senator Hoke Smith is also a candidate. Senators Gore and Hitchcock are being urged for membership on the committee.

It is not known whether President Wilson will ask the special session to take up currency legislation along with the tariff. Should he do so the new committee will have jurisdiction over that subject after the bill leaves the House. Whether monetary reforms are considered in the extra session or not, the new Banking and Currency Committee is expected to hold a series of hearings during the special session in anticipation of action on President Wilson's banking and currency recommendations.

MAY LIMIT THEIR LIABILITY.

Supreme Court Favors Railroads in Contention Over Household Goods.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—In accordance with the principle that Federal law rather than State law controls contracts for the shipment of goods from one State to another, as laid down recently in an express rate case, the Supreme Court to-day decided that railroad companies carrying household goods from one State to another may make valid contracts to limit their liability in case of loss or damage. More claims for injury to household goods, it is said, are presented to railroad companies than for any other class of freight.

The court decided in another case that the railroad companies may stipulate in bills of lading that suits for loss or damage be brought within ninety days. Both decisions were interpretations of the Hepburn rate law. In the first case Arkansas courts were overruled and the second upset Texas decisions.

The court to-day granted the request of the Government to review the decision of the Federal Courts in New York in the street railway cases, to decide if corporations in the hands of receivers are required to pay the corporation tax.

In another decision to-day the court held that a ticket of admission to a race track may be revoked and admission denied to the holder of the ticket, leaving him as recourse a suit for damages. During the argument of the case it was said the decision would affect the revoking of tickets to theatres and other places of entertainment.

WELCOME FOR McREYNOLDS.

New Attorney General Cordially Greeted by Chief Justice White.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Attorney General James C. McReynolds received a personal welcome to-day when he was introduced formally to the Supreme Court.

"You are no stranger to this court," said Chief Justice White when Solicitor General Bullitt introduced the Attorney General. "In view of the many times you have been of assistance to the court in the presentation of cases to it, it is with pleasure that we add a personal welcome to the official welcome we extend to you."

REBUFFS GRAND TRUNK.

Rhode Island Citizens' Committee Against Guaranteeing Bonds.

PROVIDENCE, March 10.—It appears unlikely that the State will become the second guarantor of the bonds of the Southern New England Railroad. The citizens' committee appointed by Gov. Pothier to consider the proposal voted adversely to-day and refused to hear the railroad officials interested.

The plan was suggested by Mr. Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk Railway, and indorsed by the Governor. Mr. Chamberlin said that with the aid of the State the proposed line from Palmer, Mass., to this city might be completed. Before submitting the matter to the Legislature the Governor sought the advice of the committee, the opinion of which he now says he will accept.

Attorney General Herbert A. Rice told the committee that he thought that the State would be "lowering its dignity to consider any proposition from a railroad that had violated its pledges."

SILVER ESTATE APPRAISED.

Charles A. Silver Left $450,651 to His Widow, Sons, and Granddaughter.

Appraisal of the estate of Charles A. Silver, who died in Brooklyn on March 9, 1912, was filed yesterday in the office of Surrogate Herbert Ketcham and placed its gross value at $450,651.28, and its net value at $437,596.98.

Edward D. Silver, a son, of 902 East Second South Street, Salt Lake City, receives $5,000 cash outright and one-fourth of the residue, his share being worth $70,482.83. Another son, Henry M. Silver, receives $10,000 outright and the widow, Mrs. Helen M. Silver, of 20 Sidney Place, Brooklyn, receives one-third of the estate after the payment of the cash bequests to her two sons, or $140,865.66. Helen J. Silver, a granddaughter of the testator, receives as her share $50,328.

Mr. Silver owned much real estate in Brooklyn and Manhattan, as well as railroad stocks and bonds.

LUGANO IS IN GREAT PERIL.

Ship Still Fast on Ajax Reef with $1,000,000 Cargo.

KEY WEST, March 10.—Every available vessel in the harbor has gone to the assistance of the British steamship Lugano, ashore on Ajax Reef with a cargo of silks, wines, and general merchandise, which it is estimated is worth $1,000,000. According to reports received here to-day, the holds of the steamship are flooded. The wind is high and heavy seas threaten to pound the vessel to pieces.

Despite the plight of the ship, Capt. Penwill and the crew remained aboard. Relief tugs were standing by at a late hour ready to take off the officers and crew.

Civil Rights Bill Passes Assembly.

ALBANY, March 10.—The Levy bill providing against discrimination on account of race, creed or color in place of public resort, was passed by the Assembly to-night. The bill provides that no person connected with a place of public accommodation, shall through any advertisement show discrimination because of race, color or creed.

Honor Surrogate Thomas.

A portrait of Abner C. Thomas, formerly a Surrogate of New York County, by Seymour Thomas, was presented yesterday to the Surrogates' Court by members of the New York bar. Mrs. Thomas and Abel C. Thomas, widow and son of the jurist, attended the ceremony.

American's Rapid Flight in Cuba.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, March 10.—Lieut. J. H. Towers, in charge of the army aviation camp at Guantanamo, made a flight to-day of approximately forty miles in thirty-six minutes. He flew from Fisherman's Point, Guantanamo Bay, to Morro Castle, Santiago.

TENEMENT CLEANERS SWAMP STREET FORCE

In Preparation for Dr. Lederle's Dirt Survey, They Dump Out Tons of Rubbish.

EDWARDS CALLS A HALT

Policemen Sent Around to Warn Householders Not to Clean Their Premises Until Ordered to Do So.

The work of cleaning up the tenements in this city was not begun yesterday, though reports that it would be made much trouble for Health Commissioner Lederle and his assistants and brought about much confusion in the Street Cleaning Department. Commissioner Lederle explained yesterday afternoon what steps must be taken before the actual work of freeing the houses of rubbish could start.

"Before we can begin this work," Dr. Lederle said, "it will be necessary for us to make house-to-house inspections throughout the city, so as to estimate the approximate cost of removing excess material from the tenements. Sixteen Inspectors, detailed by Commissioner Edwards, have been assisting us in this work, which is under the direction of Dr. M. B. McMillan, Assistant Sanitary Superintendent. Before we begin to remove the rubbish we must obtain through the Aldermen a special appropriation for the work. Because of these preliminary inspections thousands of tenement dwellers made the mistake of dumping rubbish in their cellars and on the sidewalks to-day.

"This brought a strong protest from the Street Cleaning Department to Dr. McMillan. The street cleaners were unable to handle the mass of waste material by which they were confronted. They found that tenement dwellers had begun to clean house in advance of orders. Before the day was over Dr. McMillan was obliged to ask for policemen to accompany the Inspectors to warn tenants not to do any more cleaning until the Health Department orders it."

"To my mind," Dr. McMillan said yesterday, "the mistake of the tenement dwellers in cleaning up too early is very encouraging. It shows the difference between a cleanup compaign conducted by a city department and one conducted by private organizations. The moment the city gets behind such a movement the tenement dwellers are overawed.

"This project of Commissioner Lederle's is based entirely upon general sanitary lines. Whenever a general cleaning of any municipality has taken place and has been carried on in a systematic manner and along lines sufficiently wide to accomplish its purpose thoroughly, a direct reduction in the mortality rate has resulted. This reduction is felt the first year after the accomplishment of the work."

This letter was received yesterday by Commissioner Lederle from Water Commissioner Thompson:

> Dear Sir: I have observed in the press that the Mayor believes that, with the co-operation of several departments whose jurisdiction is extended to the inspection of premises, it would be possible to secure a cleaning of cellars and the abatement of nuisances which tend to produce insanitary conditions or fire hazards.
>
> The work of the Inspectors of this department take them to cellars and basements of buildings, and it occurred to me that if your department had planned any campaign in line with the Mayor's views we might be of some assistance in this work. My plan of co-operation would consist of a formal notice advising of the location of the premises where the department Inspectors had observed insanitary conditions or fire hazards. It is not my object to have any detailed report furnished, the location of the premises only being given, and thus serving as an anonymous complaint.
>
> Will you please advise me whether such service rendered by this department would be of any assistance to you in the campaign of cleaning cellars? Yours truly,
>
> HENRY S. THOMPSON,
> Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas, and Electricity.

In addition to employing the Inspectors of the Department of Water Supply, Gas, and Electricity, Commissioner Lederle announced yesterday that he intended to use a special water supply in flushing the streets and sidewalks thoroughly after the cleaning had been accomplished. Commissioner Thompson has assured Mr. Lederle that he can have all the water he needs for this purpose.

"Certain sections of the city will receive such a flushing as they never experienced before," said Dr. Lederle last night. "The principal object of the entire movement is to accomplish the "clean-up" before the hot weather sets in. Filth and dirt foster disease under the heat of our mid-summer, and we expect to prevent this if our plans are carried out." Dr. McMillan said that the proposed flushing would probably exhaust the supply of one reservoir.

Not only has Commissioner Lederle received the support of the Water and Street Cleaning Departments in his proposed campaign, but he has also the support of Fire Commissioner Johnson.

"These accumulations of rubbish in cellars and tenements in the congested districts are the greatest menace to life and property which the fireman encounters," said Commissioner Johnson yesterday. "I am not entirely familiar with the details of Commissioner Lederle's project, but from what facts I have gleaned I should say that it is one which should receive the support of every citizen. It is based upon cold reasoning and good sense."

BABBITT ESTATE IN COURT.

Soap Manufacturer's Granddaughters Object to the Accounting.

Objections to the accounting of Lillie Babbitt Hyde, sole executrix of the estate of Benjamin T. Babbitt, the soap manufacturer, were referred yesterday in the Surrogates' Court to M. J. Egan of 2 Rector Street. The accounting showed the balance of the estate as amounting to $338,901.36.

Elizabeth A. Hyde, Mabel Hyde, and Josephine Hyde Sexton, granddaughters of Mr. Babbitt, have raised the objection. They assert that the amount expended for legal charges is excessive and unreasonable, that the accounting should have been made to Feb. 6, 1913, instead of Dec. 31, 1912, and that the executrix credited herself with commissions for sales of real estate on Long Island amounting to more than $10,000.

SEEKS A DOUBLE PENSION.

Lieut. Mulvey, Retired Twice from the Police, Asks Two Allowances.

Before Supreme Court Justice Kelby in Brooklyn yesterday ex-Lieut. Thomas Mulvey, retired by order of Commissioner Waldo, asked permission to draw from the Police Pension Fund two allowances. He wanted an old pension continued and a new one awarded. The suit is a test case, as some other policemen, with like claims, will be affected by it.

Mulvey was a policeman of the old City of New York, appointed in 1870 and retiring as a Detective Sergeant in 1893 on a pension of $1,000 a year. Moving to the old Town of New Utrecht, in Kings County, he became Captain of the local police force, and drew, besides his pension from the city police fund, a salary from the Town of New Utrecht. When this town was annexed to the old City of Brooklyn Mulvey became a member of the Brooklyn police force, but continued to draw his New York pension.

In January Mulvey was retired for the second time, with the rank of Lieutenant. Now he contends that he is entitled to one pension as Detective Sergeant of the old New York force, and to another as retired Lieutenant of the Greater New York police, amounting in all to $2,175 a year.

As the point raised was a novel one, desiring to look up the law in the matter, Justice Kelby reserved his decision.

SUES FOR AUTO INJURY.

Mrs. Huyler Asks $25,000 for Collision with Car Croker Once Owned.

An action for $25,000 damages brought by Mrs. Juanita Huyler, of 111 West 104th Street, Manhattan, against the City of New York, Frank S. Holly, proprietor of the Holly Tree Inn at Hewletts, L. I., and James D. O'Brien, a former New York policeman, came to trial before Justice Scudder in the Queens County Supreme Court yesterday.

O'Brien bought from Richard Croker, Jr., a car which was said to have been a duplicate of the automobile which killed Frank Croker in Florida in 1905, and while his chauffeur was out with the car on Sept. 26, 1911, it caught fire on the Hoffman Boulevard and was destroyed. It was dragged to the side of the road and, early that morning, Mrs. Huyler engaged Holly to take her to her home near Hewletts. While passing through Hoffman Bouvelard Holly's car collided with the burned machine. Mrs. Huyler was thrown out and had her left leg and ankle broken. Justice Scudder dismissed the suit against the city but the action against O'Brien and Holly went to trial. Mrs. Huyler appeared in court on crutches.

DELICATESSEN STORES OPEN.

2,996 Proprietors Ignore Judge O'Sullivan's Sunday Law Decision.

Despite the recent decision of Judge O'Sullivan in General Sessions that delicatessen stores should be closed after 10 o'clock on Sundays, 2,996 stores, according to reports made to Police Commissioner Waldo, remained open last Sunday after that hour. It is the intention of Commissioner Waldo to refer the matter to the Corporation Counsel and, if a decision is made against the delicatessen store proprietors, those who kept open after 10 o'clock on Sunday will be summoned to court for violations of the law.

The delicatessen store men, several of whom have been fined recently for violations of the law, say that their stores are a necessity to their localities and that they are authorized by the law governing caterers to sell food.

ASKS FOR $200,000 DAMAGES.

Lafayette Theatre Lessee Says House Does Not Conform to Plans.

Henry Martinson, a wholesale liquor dealer of 2,192 Fifth Avenue, and lessee of the Lafayette Theatre in Seventh Avenue, between 131st and 132d Streets, filed suit yesterday against Mayer Jarmulowsky, senior member of M. & L. Jarmulowsky, bankers, to recover more than $200,000 damages, resulting from the construction of the theatre, which, according to the complaint, when completed, did not conform to the plans and specifications as outlined.

Martinson says that the contract, which was made in January, 1912, called for a theatre to conform in all respects to the McKinley Square Theatre, and to be completed on Sept. 1. The plaintiff took a twenty-one year lease at an annual rental of $25,000, but, he says, the building does not conform to the model, and as a result of the failure to comply with the terms of the contract he has been damaged $202,500.

RAGPICKER'S WEALTH TO SON

Proved Relationship to Moynihan in Face of Many Claimants.

ST. LOUIS, March 10.—The litigation over the estate of Jerry Moynihan, known as the "rich ragpicker," which involved more than six hundred claimants, was settled to-day when Probate Judge Holt decided that the estate should go to Benjamin Foster Moynihan of Ottawa, Can.

Judge Holt held that it was established that Benjamin Foster Moynihan was a son of Jerry Moynihan, and that the other claimants of collateral relationship only need not be considered.

Jerry Moynihan died in 1910 at a hotel where he had lived for twelve years. The Public Administrator found he had left an estate of $64,000. As soon as the value of the estate became known claimants began to appear, including several alleged widows and sons.

American Union Fire Company Fails to Meet Department's Demands.

PHILADELPHIA, March 10.—The stockholders of the American Union Fire Insurance Company of this city failed to-day to meet the demands of the Insurance Department by raising $200,000, and the Court of Common Pleas appointed a receiver for the company. The assets are placed at $1,019,954, and the liabilities at $970,098, to which is added $169,000 in unpaid loans. It is alleged that there are outstanding policies amounting to $800,000.

Francis Shunk Brown was appointed temporary receiver. He furnished a bond of $50,000.

CANADA GETS McNAMARA.

Man Wanted in $375,000 Robbery Case Surrendered to Detectives.

After fighting extradition for fourteen months John McNamara, alias Australian Jack, was surrendered yesterday by the Federal authorities to Canadian detectives for transportation to British Columbia. He was arrested here in January last year on an indictment charging him with stealing the automobile which was used by a band of burglars, who on Sept. 14, 1911, gagged the night watchman and robbed the New Westminster branch of the Bank of Montreal. They got away with $375,000 in negotiable notes and gold.

Through George Gordon Battle, his counsel, McNamara has fought hard against extradition. Before Commissioner Shields he set up an alibi, asserting that he was living in Fort Lee, N. J., at the time of the burglary. George Fox, counsel for the British Government, however, demolished that defense, and then Mr. Battle fought the order of Commissioner Shields for extradition in the Supreme Court. He was defeated and had recourse to the State Department. One of the last acts of Secretary Knox was to sign the order handing the man over to the Canadian authorities.

Since McNamara was captured, five others who are alleged to have taken part in the burglary have been arrested in Southern and Western cities. They are now in New Westminster, and when McNamara arrives their trial will begin. Of the loot from the bank $30,000 in gold was discovered buried in a field near the

MEN DISOWN STRIKE LEADER.

Only a Dozen New Haven Electricians Affected by Breen's Agitation.

Maurice Breen, who asserted that he represented the men engaged in electrifying the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad System, between the Harlem River and Stamford, yesterday served notice on the officials at New Haven that the electricians wanted an increase of wages and the eight-hour day, and if their demands were not complied with by March 18 a walkout would follow.

Electricians employed in the yards of the road at the Harlem River Station denied last night that they were a party to these demands or that a strike was intended. They did not know Breen or how many of the men he represented. At the offices of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company here this statement was made:

> "Mr. Breen is a volunteer walking delegate. Investigation by the company's officials after he announced his demands, showed that he had succeeded in interesting only about a dozen of the men, if that many. The others are contented and will not strike. The company will not comply with his demands, which approximates a 28 per cent. increase in wages."

The New Haven officials stated last night that they did not anticipate any serious trouble as a result of Breen's action.

NEW SUITS AGAINST WALTER.

Shuberts Want $50,000 Because "Fine Feathers" Went to Frazee.

Two new suits were filed yesterday in the Supreme Court against Eugene Walter, the playwright, against whom a suit is already pending to compel him to acknowledge Walter Hackett as co-author in the play "Fine Feathers." One of the suits is brought by Lee Shubert to recover $50,000 damages for turning "Fine Feathers" over to Harry H. Frazee for production, and the other action is brought by Lew Fields and Felix Isman to effect a dissolution of their partnership with Walter in the production three years ago of "Boots and Saddles."

According to Mr. Shubert's complaint he contracted with Walter to pay 10 per cent. royalties on "Fine Feathers," which was then called "Homeward Bound." Mr. Walter withdrew the play for revision and then, Shubert asserts, gave the production to Frazee. The manager says that in the contract Hackett was to be billed as co-author.

In the suit over "Boots and Saddles" the plaintiffs are seeking to force Walter, the author of the piece, to pay a share of the losses attending the production. Fields and Isman say that the losses were $6,000.

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

Wheat Higher—Corn and Oats Inactive—Cotton Steady.

The wheat market ruled steady to firm during the day, closing near the top at a net advance of ¼c to ⅝c. Trading in corn and oats was not active, and final prices were net unchanged to ⅛c higher. Cotton trading was irregular, with the close generally 1 to 3 points net higher.

WHEAT.

While traders in the wheat market were inclined to anticipate a bearish Government report on farm reserves, the market during the day ruled steady to firm and closed near the top with a net advance of ¼ to ⅝c. The volume of business was not large, but sellers were timid, and there appeared to be a disposition to cover. The foreign markets were steadier than expected, and the uneasiness in foreign political circles as well as in the financial markets appeared to exert a sustaining influence on values. Cash markets in the Northwest were very steady, with reports of some improvement in the milling demand, but while there was said to be a good inquiry from abroad for Manitoba wheat bids were out of line, and no actual business was reported. The weather over the West was favorable for the growing crop, and crop advices generally were very promising. World's exports for the week were 13,776,000 bushels, compared with 14,352,000 last week and 9,168,000 last year. The visible supply in the United States showed a decrease of 535,000 bushels, compared with an increase last week of 31,000 and a decrease last year of 1,332,000. The Government report, published after the close of the market, made farm reserves on March 1 156,483,000 bushels, or 21.4 per cent. of the crop, as compared with 122,025,000 bushels last year. This with the visible supply made total supplies of 220,260,000, compared with 179,102,000 a year ago, and 202,575,000 two years ago. Private estimates on the reserves have ranged from 135,000,000 to 171,000,000, and the figures were about in line with general expectations. Northwestern receipts were larger and stocks at Minneapolis showed an increase of 70,000 bushels for two days. In the local cash market No. 2 red Winter wheat was quoted at $1.08½, elevator, and $1.10, free on board, afloat; No. 1 Northern Duluth, 99⅝c, free on board, afloat.

CORN.

Operations in the corn market were inactive and price changes were narrow, closing net unchanged to ⅛c net higher. Further buying by strong interests discouraged selling, although underlying sentiment appeared in favor of the bear side. World's shipments for the week were 4,035,000 bushels, compared with 4,710,000 bushels last week and 4,085,000 bushels last year. The visible supply increased 3,187,000 bushels, against an increase last year of 898,000 bushels. The Government report made the amount in farmers' hands 1,289,650,000 bushels, compared with private estimates ranging from 1,240,000,000 to 1,400,000,000 bushels, and with the Government figures last year of 898,525,000 bushels. With the visible supply this indicated total supplies of 403,000,000 bushels more than last year. Export corn was quoted at 57c, free on board, afloat.

The market was very inactive, and values showed comparatively little change, closing net unchanged to ⅛c higher. The visible supply increased 748,000 bushels, compared with a decrease last year of 131,000. The Government report on farm reserves was 604,216,000 bushels, compared with 289,988,500 last year, and the available supplies were 816,550,000 bushels, or only about 300,000,000 bushels less than the entire crop last year. The local spot market was barely steady, standard white quoted at 38½c. No. 3, 38c; No. 4, 37@37½c; natural white, 37@38½c; white clipped, 37@40½c, all track.

COTTON.

While the bearish sentiment which became so pronounced in the cotton market toward the close of last week was still in evidence yesterday, and the talk around the ring was almost all against prices, the market was nervous and unsettled rather than weak. It looked as though the heavy rains reported in the Eastern belt were emphasizing the fact that the new crop had not yet been planted, although bearish sentiment has been largely based on favorable prospects, and the complaints of too much moisture probably tended to offset continued claims of a weakening spot situation, particularly as Southern spot markets are still well above a parity with futures. At any rate, while the market was irregular, it showed considerable absorbing power, recovered an early decline, and closed steady, net 1 point lower on March, but generally 1 to 3 points net higher.

The opening was barely steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 7 points. Old crop positions sold 6 to 8 points net lower right after the call, while the new crop eased off 2 or 3 points. Offerings were well absorbed around 11.75 for May and 11.35 for October. There was foreign buying, supposedly on arbitrage account, as Liverpool was relatively steady, while there was some trade buying of May to fix prices, and of the new crop of a hedge against forward business. This was sufficient to steady the market and start rather active Wall Street covering or profit taking, on which the market rallied from the lowest during the middle of the day. After the close of Liverpool business slackened, and prices which, which had shown net gains of 4 or 5 points, eased off somewhat from the best. Shorts seemed cautious enough to take profits on every dip, however, and the market was fairly steady in the late trading.

The planting season, according to some of the private wires, is just about to begin in Georgia, and during a normal season the great bulk of the crop is planted between the middle of March and the middle of May. Advices received yesterday continue to indicate that preliminary preparation pointed to a good start, but the weather during the next two months will be a factor of great importance in this connection, and there were several wires in the market yesterday complaining of excessive rainfall. The situation in this respect probably accounted chiefly for the tendency of shorts to take moderate profits rather than to follow the market down in accordance with the bearish opinions expressed around the ring. Wires from Memphis again claimed sales at declines of ¼c to ⅜c, but the official quotations for Memphis showed a decline of only 1-16c. Otherwise the markets were unchanged to ⅛c lower, generally unchanged.

The local market for spot cotton was quiet and 10 points lower at 12.40 for middling upland; sales nil; delivered on contract, 3,800 bales.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was easier throughout the greater part of the day owing to liquidation prompted by much larger receipts of hogs than expected. On the decline, however, there was renewed buying, and at the close the market was steady at the best of the day. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 70,000, estimated for Tuesday 24,000, Kansas City received 6,000, and Omaha 7,700.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The early decline in the lard market, arising from the large receipts of hogs, caused a slightly easier feeling in cottonseed oil, but late in the day commission houses were fairly active buyers, and the market closed steady at unchanged to 2 points higher. Shares in March were fair buyers, but the demand was readily supplied by traders who bought last week, and, on the whole, the market was a narrow one. Crude oil was steady, and while offerings were fairly liberal sellers refused to take concessions.

COFFEE.

Underlying sentiment was nervous. Values started 1 to 5 points higher. March offerings were readily absorbed, and during the afternoon the market hardened further, closing steady at about top at a net gain of 10 to 14 points. Total sales of 103,250 bags included many Exchanges. Rio and Santos were unchanged. Havre market declined ¾@1f, and Hamburg was unchanged to ¼ pfennig lower.

Spot coffee, Rio 7, 12⅝c.

Total warehouse deliveries in the United States last week were 107,752 bags, against 155,9[illegible] bags last week, and 1[illegible] bags last year; of the former amount New York had 52,931 bags.

Receipts at Rio and Santos were 107,000 bags, against 89,000 bags last week, 120,000 bags last year, and 57,000 bags two years ago.

JAMES R. GRAY
President and Editor

Atlanta, March 7, 1913.

To the Assistant General Passenger Agent, Southern Railway.

Dear Sir: In addition to the public acknowledgment of our obligation which I am making editorially today, I desire to personally thank you, and through you, every official of the Southern Railway, as well as the employes who handled the special train for the Journal Boys to Washington, for the uniform courtesy and generous consideration which has been shown at every stage of this trip. It seems that every official of the Southern Railway, high and low, manifested a special personal interest in the success of this trip and the happiness of the Journal's Young Friends who were its guests.

This interest resulted in a service that was absolutely perfect. Every detail of the trip was arranged in advance and every wish of our party seems to have been anticipated. The company did much more than it promised. The train was beyond criticism, the dining car facilities were of the best, and the courtesies shown by every person connected with the Company was the subject of general remark.

I feel that we owe to you, and other officials of the Company, a debt of gratitude for the great success of this trip, and it gives me more than ordinary pleasure to thus acknowledge it.

With kindest personal regards, and best wishes, I am,
Sincerely yours,
J. R. GRAY, President.

NEW MOTOR LAWS FURTHER OPPOSED

Charles T. Terry Replies to Secretary of State May—Other Motoring Happenings.

In reply to the statement of Secretary of State May in regard to the proposed changes in the motor vehicle law, published yesterday, Charles T. Terry, counsel for the American Automobile Association, the Automobile Dealers' Association, and the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers, issued a lengthy statement last night supporting the view of those bodies that most of the new legislation would be inimical to the automobile industry. Mr. Terry asserted that the Secretary of State had not conducted a broad enough investigation to warrant his assertion that most of the proposed measures had been put in effect without damage in other States. He also took exception to the assumption that the automobile was a device dangerous to life, limb, and property, and to the statement that "since the Callan law went into effect in 1910 the toll of automobiles in deaths and damage shocks us." Other statements with which Mr. Terry did not agree, alleging either errors of facts or errors of interpretation, included the following:

That the moral character of an applicant for a chauffeur's license was at present scarcely investigated. (A section of the present law was quoted to show that the issuance of such a license was at the discretion of the Secretary of State.)

That some 90 per cent. of motor-car accidents were caused by persons other than chauffeurs or owners.

That it was at present too difficult for the victims of an automobile accident to recover damages.

That the proposed increase in license fees for both pleasure cars and trucks amounted to a "trifle."

That the Secretary of State should have the power to suspend or revoke a license without a hearing.

That only registered owners, members of owners' families, "in case the owner agreed to be responsible," and licensed chauffeurs be permitted to operate a car.

In a new highway bill under consideration in Iowa provision is made for the creation of a State highway fund from the proceeds of automobile and motor cycle taxes, and it is specified that the State pay one-third of the cost of all permanent improvements on State-aid roads, the counties in which the work is done to pay the other two-thirds.

They are chuckling along "Automobile Row" these days over a practical joke on George H. Townsend, 3d, who was one of the founders of the Yale Automobile Club and has also done a good deal of amateur racing. Recently Townsend invaded the row with a new accessory device to indicate the exact temperature of one's motor. Still more recently he sailed for Bermuda for the double purpose of having a vacation and introducing his accessory there. In fact, he took a case of the instruments along. None of his friends saw fit to reveal to him the fact that there were no automobiles in Bermuda, and that, therefore, the device might prove a bit superfluous. On the contrary, one and all encouraged the idea. Now they are waiting eagerly to learn how the discovery of the true state of affairs affected him.

In spite of the effect of the revolution three passenger automobiles and two motor trucks have been imported into Northeast Sonora, Mexico, within the last two months.

Two bills in the Delaware Legislature are of interest to motorists. One would require all vehicles on the roads and streets, including, of course, those that were horse drawn, to carry lights at night. The other provides for the issuance of fractional licenses.

On the subject of "Manufacture of Wood Paving Blocks," A. W. Dow, a chemical and consulting paving engineer, will lecture at Columbia University tonight, in connection with the graduate course on highway engineering.

SCHEME TO SELL COAL LANDS

Plan in Alaska, Says Attorney, Was to Deal with Guggenheims.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Identification of the original applications for coal land entries in Alaska was the first task today in opening the Alaska land fraud trials in the United States Court here. F. A. Boyle, receiver for the United States Land Office in Juneau, Alaska, identified the original documents, including applications by George A. Ball, one of the five defendants, and W. C. Ball. Sixty-seven persons, it is alleged by the Government, permitted their names to be used in obtaining coal land locations.

"It was the purpose of the coal land locaters to sell their combined holdings to the Guggenheims of New York," said Special Assistant Attorney General B. D. Townsend. "Actual correspondence with the Guggenheims took place. The Guggenheims have valuable mining property in Alaska."

Nathaniel C. Sears, of counsel for Albert C. Frost and his four co-defendants, denied in detail the charges of Mr. Townsend in his opening statement.

"The defense will show that there was no conspiracy to defraud the Government," he said. "The locations were honestly made and there was no intention at any time to commit a crime or evade the law."

CROP PRICES STILL LOWER.

Returns Realized by Producers 21.7 Per Cent. Lower Than Year Ago.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Prices received by producers for staple crops in the United States averaged about 21.7 per cent. lower on March 1 than on that date a year ago; 3.9 per cent. lower than in 1911; 19.0 per cent. lower than in 1910 and 10.3 per cent. lower than in 1909 on the same date.

The average of prices increased six-tenths of one per cent. from Feb. 1 to March 1. This compares with an increase of 3.2 per cent. in the same period a year ago and an average increase of 1.9 per cent. in February for last five years.

AGENT DEFENDS HARVESTER.

OMAHA, March 10.—State Senator Joseph Mattes of Iowa testified to-day that he sold harvesting machinery made by the International Harvester Company almost exclusively, but bought freely of their competitors in other lines. This was the beginning of the second week of the defense of the International Harvester Company in the Government suit charging violation of the Serman Anti-trust law.

The International Company at no time, Mr. Mattes said, had tried to force him to give up the sale of competitors' goods, "and if it should I would tell the company to get another agent." His experience showed that the farmer was never better treated by the harvesting machinery trade than at present.

PRINTCLOTH DEMAND UNEVEN.

There were a few bright spots in yesterday's activities in the local printcloth market, but on the whole trading was far from active. Despite the dullness, prices continued firm, and there was little disposition shown to shade prices to stimulate buying. There was a fair call for narrow goods, and some 38½-inch, 60-48s, and 39-inch, 68-72s, were also disposed of at 4½ and 5¾ cents, respectively. Some nice trading was reported in fine-yarn goods by one of the leading houses in the market, and sateens were also well taken for nearby delivery where they could be found. The day's quotations follow:

THE BUSINESS WORLD

SECURITIES MARKET WATCHED

Albert Ulmann Says They Bear Heavily on the Trend of Trade.

Commenting on the trend of trade in The Manufacturing Jeweler, Albert Ulmann, of J. H. Sulzbacher & So., says:

"The market for securities has reached a stage where it is being watched with peculiar interest by all who observe and study financial phenomena in their relation to commercial tendencies. During the early part of last week the market broke with considerable violence, and a number of standard stocks touched not only the lowest level for this year, but that of 1912. In other words, for some reason a decided pressure to sell stocks developed. The reason offered in some quarters to account for this performance was that it emanated from a sort of hysterical state of mind brought about by a variety of fears. Be that as it may, the downward motion was effectually checked, a recovery took place during which a substantial portion of the decrease was made up and the market then became calm.

"At present prices many of the standard securities yield approximately 6 per cent. Hesitation on the part of substantial investors to purchase in these circumstances would indicate grave uncertainty. A steady and maintained advance will register the return of confidence and forecast a general improvement."

PILE FABRICS ACTIVE.

Local and Export Business in Them Good—Popular Kinds and Colors.

Local manufacturers of pile fabrics report excellent current business and the placing of large Fall orders. The better materials are most wanted, although there is also a good call for cheaper grades. Exports to Canada are growing extensively.

For dress fabrics iridescent velvets, velvet serges and the new thin "wet-cat" material, which drapes like chiffon velvet, are the most wanted this Spring. Bulgarian and arc-en-ciel effects are being used for trimming. For Fall cloakings, a heavy demand for velvet relief effects, in imitation brocade, is apparent. This will, no doubt, be used for hat trimming also. Featured colors are cerise, tan shades, dark, slate-colored grays and those resembling furs.

A considerable lowering of tariff on these goods is expected. The present uncertainty has hurt business, according to a well-known member of the trade. It was said yesterday that if only the date when the change would go into effect could be learned, there would be a more confident feeling shown.

SHOE ORDERS ARE LIGHT.

Wholesalers Now Waiting the Results of the Easter Demand.

Aside from filling-in orders received in the mails, the business booked by the local shoe wholesalers in the last week did not amount to much. Weather conditions have not yet been favorable to the movement of Spring shoes with the retailers, but, with Easter less than two weeks off, active sale of these goods is expected shortly. The business booked so far by leading houses shows substantial gains over that of last year, and, barring unfavorable weather in the next few months, an excellent season will be had generally. Tariff fears have so far done little to upset the trade.

A rather peculiar condition has arisen in the hide market of late. The grades that have been weak for the last few weeks have been getting steadily weaker, while the balance of the market shows added strength. From all accounts, it is some time since such a condition has existed. Continued strength features the shoe leather end of that market, with upper leather about in the same position as last week. The balance of the market shows little feature.

MORE COAL AT TIDEWATER.

Although Much Less Was Shipped in February from Mines.

Notwithstanding the fact that shipments of coal from the anthracite regions in February of this year amounted to more than 200,000 tons less than in the same month in 1912, the coal at tidewater shipping ports increased nearly 110,000 tons during the four weeks ended Feb. 28. Shipments in the past month amounted to 5,674,169, against 5,875,968 tons in the corresponding period a year ago. The stocks on hand at tidewater points advanced from 375,566 tons on Jan. 31 to 484,270 tons on March 1.

The Philadelphia & Reading Railroad led in the quantity of anthracite transported during the month, having carried 1,165,449 tons. The Lehigh Valley road was second, with 1,062,129 tons, and the Lackawanna was third with 763,571. The other roads carrying hard coal showed the following tonnages: Central Railroad of New Jersey, 761,070; the Erie, 655,919; the Delaware & Hudson, 567,371; the Pennsylvania, 491,062, and the New York, Ontario & Western, 207,598.

COMMODITY PRICES DOWN.

Declines in Wholesale Markets Nearly Triple the Advances.

The declines shown in Dun's list of wholesale commodity prices quoted in the New York and nearby markets last week nearly tripled the advances. No less than forty downward revisions were shown, against fourteen rises. Nearly half of the week's changes were confined to foodstuffs, thirteen declines and nine advances being shown in this field alone. Drugs, chemicals and oils together contributed twelve changes, with ten of them declines. The only market shown to have advances exceeding the declines was metals, where the changes were two and one, respectively. The wool and tobacco markets showed weakness, no advances being indicated there, against, respectively, five and three declines. The other changes were shown in grain, hides, hops, rubber and turpentine. Fourteen of the changes, ten of them declines, were quoted at levels lower than those which prevailed in the corresponding week in 1912.

One of the peculiar features of the list was the fact that while in all other branches foodstuff declines exceeded the advances, provisions took a solid step ahead. Of the prices quoted at Chicago practically all were higher than in the previous week.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

Montagnacs are coming well to the front in the popular cloakings for Fall. In some quarters of the trade they are looked on more favorably than chinchillas, this feeling being particularly true of the better grades.

Aside from the call for the better grades, sheer hosiery is not much in demand in this market at the present time. Nearly all the buyers are now after cheaper and heavier goods.

An increasing call for Bulgarian prints in the local silk market is reported. Some very weird color combinations are shown, and the weirder they are the more they seem to be wanted.

The strike in Paterson is held responsible for the rapid diminution of stocks of crepe weaves in this market. Charmeuse is being taken by some buyers where crepes cannot be supplied, but these fabrics, especially blacks, are also scarce.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

The Port Elizabeth, Cape Colony, consular district showed a decided increase in both imports and exports during 1912 over the preceding year. While figures as to total imports are only obtainable for the first eleven months of 1912, the increase at Port Elizabeth during that time amounted to $717,000 and at East London $368,000.

The Mayor of Lyons, France, has officially informed the United States Consulate that there will be held in that city during 1914 an International Urban Exposition, comprising every phase of activity that has to do with the progress of modern cities, such as hygiene, public works, and city government. The exposition, divided into forty-two general sections with 200 subdivisions, will be scientific, economic, social, industrial, and commercial.

During 1912, forty-four motor cars, valued at $62,438, were imported into Trinidad, of which twenty-nine, valued at $41,505, came from the United States. Extensive improvements in the road system promise to make the demand for cars a large one in the present year.

FARMS STORE MORE GRAIN.

Had More Wheat, Corn, Oats, and Barley on March 1 Than Last Year.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Grain stocks remaining on farms on March 1, according to reports of the Department of Agriculture issued to-day, were much larger than on the same date last year.

The department's Bureau of Statistics, from reports of its correspondents and agents throughout the country, estimates the amount of wheat, corn, oats, and barley on farms, with comparisons for preceding years, the proportion of each crop which will be shipped out of the counties where grown, and the percentage of the 1912 corn crop which was of merchantable quality, as follows:

Wheat.—About 156,483,000 bushels, or 21.4 per cent., of the 1912 crop remained on farms on March 1, 1913, compared with 122,025,000 bushels, or 19.6 per cent., of the 1911 crop in 1912; 162,705,000 bushels, or 25.6 per cent., of the 1910 crop in 1911, and 160,214,000 bushels, or 23.4 per cent., of the 1909 crop in 1910.

About 61.6 per cent. of the 1912 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 56.1 per cent. of the 1911 crop so shipped; 55.6 per cent. of the 1910 crop so shipped, and 61.1 per cent. of the 1909 crop so shipped.

CORN.—About 1,289,655,000 bushels, or 41.3 per cent., of the 1912 crop remained on farms March 1, 1913, compared with 884,069,000 bushels, or 34.9 per cent., of the 1911 crop in 1912; 1,165,378,000 bushels, or 40.4 per cent., of the 1910 crop in 1911, and 977,561,000 bushels, or 38.3 per cent., of the 1909 crop in 1910.

About 21.8 per cent. of the 1912 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 20.5 per cent. of the 1911 crop so shipped; 22.9 per cent. of the 1910 crop so shipped, and 24.9 per cent. of the 1909 crop so shipped.

The proportion of the 1912 crop which is merchantable is about 85 per cent., compared with 80.1 per cent. of the 1911 crop, 86.4 per cent. of the 1910 crop, and 82.5 per cent. of the 1909 crop.

OATS.—About 604,216,000 bushels, or 42.6 per cent. of the 1912 crop, remained on farms, March 1, 1913, compared with 289,988,000 bushels, or 31.4 per cent. of the 1911 crop, in 1912; 442,665,000 bushels, or 37.3 per cent. of the 1910 crop, in 1911, and 365,432,000 bushels, or 36.3 per cent. of the 1909 crop, in 1910.

About 30.9 per cent. of the 1912 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 28.8 per cent. of the 1911 crop so shipped; 30.6 per cent. of the 1910 crop so shipped, and 32.7 per cent. of the 1909 crop so shipped.

BARLEY.—About 62,283,000 bushels, or 27.8 per cent., of the 1912 crop remained on farms March 1, 1913, compared with 24,760,000 bushels, or 15.5 per cent., of the 1911 crop in 1912; 33,498,000 bushels, or 19.3 per cent., of the 1910 crop in 1911, and 42,602,000 bushels, or 24.6 per cent., of the 1909 crop in 1910.

About 53.7 per cent. of the 1912 crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 57.2 per cent. of the 1911 crop so shipped, 50 per cent. of the 1910 crop so shipped, and 52.5 per cent. of the 1909 crop so shipped.

COLLARS AND SHIRTS STRONG

Little Change in Styles—White Pique Bosoms for Dress Shirts.

Good business is reported by local collar and shirt manufacturers. Spring and Summer styles are little changed. A collar 1¾ inches high, with a wide front space, is expected to be much worn. The prevailing style at the moment is a low collar, of very light weight, having long, pointed edges, which extend over the vest. A popular material is self-striped damask. Soft collars will probably be seen in about the usual numbers for country wear.

For negligee shirts, silk, madras, and light printed mercerized goods seem to be the most wanted, and there is a strong call for crêpes. The soft French cuff will again be worn for Summer. Shirts meant for semi-dress wear tend toward tucked and plaited bosoms, and the mushroom bosom is still in vogue. For full dress those with piqué bosoms of neat plain designs, and the plain bosom seem to be the only ones shown.

LIGGETT & MYERS GAINING.

4% Added to 12% Common Dividend—Earnings 28%.

The Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, which was withdrawn from the American Tobacco Company when the latter was dissolved, reported yesterday for the year ended on Dec. 31 a balance of $6,092,000 after the payment of fixed charges and preferred dividends. This was equivalent to 28 per cent. on the common stock. The Directors declared an extra payment from the surplus of 4 per cent. on the $21,496,000 outstanding common stock, payable on April 1 to shareholders of record on March 21.

Total net profits from operations amounted to $8,575,192. Interest on the company's bonds required $1,858,000, and preferred dividends took $1,076,866. The usual common dividend of 12 per cent. was paid.

President C. C. Dula announced after the meeting of Directors yesterday that whatever dividends beyond the rate called for by the common shares on the present basis should be paid in the future, would not be declared until the end of each year.

"The declaration of so-called extra dividends at regularly recurrent periods," he said, "soon comes to be regarded as so much of a matter of course that it is looked forward to as confidently as a regular dividend; hence arises a disinclination on the part of Boards of Directors to discontinue such dividends by reason of the disappointment occasioned to stockholders. A further objection arises from the fact that these recurrent extra dividends are made, as a general rule, without any exact knowledge on the part of stockholders of the earnings of the company.

"All these objectionable features will be obviated by the course which your Directors propose to adopt. They fix, in the first instance, a reasonable regular dividend which they believe the company will be justified in making. Any further distribution of profits is deferred until the business year is fully completed, and the accounts made up and the results ascertained and publicly made known to the stockholders, and then at the end of each year, if the earnings of the company in such year and the requirements of the business permit it, a further distribution may be made."

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Importers Gain by Weigher's Omission—Olives in Olive Oil Reduced.

The Board of United States General Appraisers decided yesterday that when Government weighers failed to make reports of their official actions, importers' protests must be sustained even if the protestants' testimony is not wholly convincing. The cases before the board stood in the names of George S. Bush & Co. and The Broderick & Bascom Rope Company. The importers asserted that duty had been collected on an excessive weight of wire subject to ad valorem rates. As the weigher failed to make any return the liquidating officer was unable to strike a basis for proper assessment.

The board partly sustained Sahadi Brothers and corrected Collector Loeb's assessment on olives packed in olive oil. The collector held that there was such a commingling of the two commodities that duty should be taken on the whole at the highest rate applicable to either, or 50 cents a gallon under paragraph 38, as olive oil. The board granted duty at 15 cents a gallon for 52 gallons of olives and 40 cents a gallon on 10½ gallons of olive oil.

Veit, Son & Co. gained lower duty on Manila hemp plaits returned as colored, while the importers said they were not stained. Judge McClelland sustained them and allowed entry at 15 per cent. ad valorem under paragraph 422.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Prominent Issues Make New Low Records—Foreign Troubles Still Predominate.

The downward course, which was being followed by the stock market when last week came to a close, was taken up yesterday with declines that wiped out nearly the last of the recovery in prices made after the slump which culminated on Feb. 25. Railroad stocks at the close yesterday were only about a quarter point on the average above their lowest price so far in 1913; the industrials had a slightly wider gain to their credit. Most of the active security issues, however, have not sold so low before in months. Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Reading, Steel, and Canadian Pacific were among the standard railroad shares which fell to a new low level in yesterday's slump.

There was both good and bad news in the day's domestic and international developments, but few factors other than the European financial stringency exercised a direct bearing on the general market. Announcement of an engagement here of another quarter-million dollars of gold for Berlin, and of the shipment of $1,500,000 from London to Berlin aroused speculation as to the probable amount of gold which this country has yet to export before the requirements of settlement day at Berlin, the first of April, are cared for. It is the general opinion among leading bankers at this centre that Germany's present situation, while serious, is not critical, and that it must be relieved by curtailment of her industrial enterprises until money for commercial uses becomes more plentiful.

Within a few minutes after the close of New York's market word was received of Turkey's agreement to submit her Balkan claims to arbitration. This and an advance of one-eighth cent in the price of copper were the principal favorable developments from the financial viewpoint. The Supreme Court let still another decision day go by without making known its findings in the Minnesota rate case, and, with only five days remaining before the expiration date of the Harriman underwriting syndicate agreement, it was not apparent yesterday that any material progress had been made in forming a new Union Pacific-Southern Pacific plan. The Union Pacific Directors meet to-day, and Judge Lovett, who has been giving all of his time to the problem since the California Commission overturned the original dissolution plan, may have a report which will pave the way to an early settlement of one vexing situation. Union Pacific sold down to 146⅞ yesterday, but recovered one point and closed with a loss of 2¼. Unusually heavy selling of Canadian Pacific, which was credited to London and Berlin holders, broke the price of that issue to 220, a loss for the day of 5⅞, and a new low mark for two years.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 2½@4½ per cent., with the last loan at 2½ per cent. Most of the day's business was done at 4½ per cent.

Time money rates were 5½ per cent. for sixty days, 5⅛ per cent. for ninety days, and 5 per cent. for four to six months.

Commercial paper was quoted at 5½ per cent. for best names.

Clearing House exchanges, $216,910,288; balances, $9,906,212; Sub-Treasury credit balance, $351,036.

The local banks have lost $1,536,000 on their Sub-Treasury operations since Friday.

FOREIGN RATES.

Discount rates abroad yesterday were: London, 4 15-16@5 per cent. for short bills and 4¾@4⅞ per cent. for three months' bills; Paris, 3⅞ per cent., and Berlin, 5⅞@6 per cent. Money was 4¾ per cent. in London and 6 per cent. in Berlin.

The Paris check rate on London was 25 francs 25½ centimes, and the Berlin check rate on London was 20 marks 45½ pfennigs.

Foreign exchange rates at the points noted were quoted as follows at the close of business yesterday:

CABLE AND SIGHT RATES.

London—Cable, $4.8865; demand, $4.8790.
Paris—Cable, 5.16⅞; check, 5.17½.

London—Commercial, 60 days, $4.83⅛; 90 days, $4.81⅝.

Bank Officers Sued for $1,400,000.

ST. LOUIS, March 10.—Suit for $1,400,000 was filed in the United States District Court here to-day against Ben F. Edwards, President of the National Bank of Commerce, and George Lane Edwards, former Director of the bank, for alleged losses incurred by the bank when it absorbed the Fourth National Bank [illegible]

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Brokers Cheered Mildly.

The news that Gov. Sulzer had withdrawn the proposed $4 stock Transfer Tax bill was received on the floor of the Stock Exchange yesterday with cheers, but the demonstration was not prolonged nor especially enthusiastic. The brokers were relieved but not surprised, for the determined opposition to it presented by Exchange and realty men had previously imparted a feeling of confidence to Wall Street that the bill would not become a law. The statement by Gov. Sulzer that a factor in persuading him to call back the bill was apprehension lest opposition to it might be extended to other legislation in view for regulating Stock Exchanges gave food for thought to the brokers and helped to dampen their satisfaction over their victory. They remembered that the plan at Albany to incorporate the Exchange was only less popular than the Transfer Tax bill.

Canadian Pacific's Decline.

Canadian Pacific has not sold so low as it did yesterday since September, 1911. The stock at that time had just got under way in its long swing forward, which met with no setback worthy of mention until the high record figure of 283 was touched in August of last year. Starting from a bottom price of 195⅝ in 1911, Canadian Pacific got a powerful impetus through the increase of the dividend rate from 7 to 10 per cent., although the additional 3 per cent. was apparently not so highly considered in itself by investors here and abroad as the source from which it was derived. The Directors took it from the proceeds of land sales. In the four previous years a smaller part of the dividend had been supplied by profits from land sales, but the road's great resources in farm and timber land holdings had not been impressed upon the mind of the investing public so vividly as it was by the 3 per cent. return to stockholders. The tide of immigration from the United States into Western Canada was rapidly rising in 1911. Tales of expanding land values went abroad. The valuable equity of Canadian Pacific stock in the millions of acres remaining was appreciated as it had never been before, and the shares climbed buoyantly upward.

Heavy Sales of Canadian.

Most of Canadian Pacific's $200,000,000 common stock is held in Europe, and over there, as well as in this country, it is in the hands of investors of the larger order. The inference of Wall Street that a great part of yesterday's sales was of foreign origin was, therefore, entirely natural. Owing to Canadian Pacific's excellent standing in Berlin and the tightened state of money at that centre, it was taken for granted that the German banks were especially active in pressing the stock for sale to strengthen their cash position for the April settlement. The Berlin Börse was closed on account of a holiday, which did not affect other financial institutions, but local brokers in touch with the daily round of transactions in Canadian Pacific said that a great deal of selling occurred on direct orders from the German capital. It was estimated that from 7,000 to 10,000 of the 24,000 shares traded in were for Berlin account.

Copper Looking Up.

The placing of extensive foreign orders for copper metal on Saturday resulted in a slight hardening of the price yesterday and a more cheerful feeling in the trade. All the larger selling agencies were reported to have advanced their quotations to 15⅛ cents, a rise of nearly half a cent a pound from the recent low level.

⁂

A Popular Scapegoat.

A prominent international banker with better facilities for keeping himself informed than are open to the average citizen answered a question as to the trouble with American security markets yesterday in this wise: "The cause is, first, the European disturbance and its train of consequences; and, second, our own uneasiness induced by the troubles abroad. Business is good here, or would be if we were let alone. If there were no other serious troubles our markets would not be paying much attention to politics and the tariff agitation. It is a popular habit to ascribe pronounced market movements to politics, but in many years I have not seen party politics the primary cause for any big swing up or down. A change in the Administration, free silver as an issue, or the ever-present tariff will accentuate a movement which is brought about by deeper causes, but they do not initiate it."

⁂

Taxes Here and Abroad.

Germany's proposal to help defray her enormous military expenses by a one-time tax of from 4 to 5 per cent. on the personal fortunes of wealthy men would cost some American residents with large interests abroad a heavy assessment, amounting, as one of them pointed out yesterday, practically to one year's income. The Government has the right to examine all the books and records of a subject who was sworn to a statement of his finances, and perjury is punished. "We pay big taxes," said a German banker, "but we get our money's worth. You can see in the condition of the streets, the hospitals, army, charities, &c., that your money is being put to a good use."

Curb Trading Steady—Standard Oil Shows Partial Recovery.

Transactions in unlisted securities yesterday were in moderate amount, with final prices barely steady. Standard Oil of New Jersey proved an exception and partially recovered the heavy loss sustained last week. The rally extended to 14 points over Saturday's final price of 335, half of which was lost, however, at the close. United Cigar Stores opened weak at 98 to 97¾, but later advanced to 100½ on heavy trading. The close was at 98¾, a decline of ¾ of a point.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Slump in Canadian Pacific and Some American Rails Due to Berlin Liquidation.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 11.—The Times says in its City article to-day:

"In Lombard Street yesterday the inquiry for money was rather increased. The Bank of England did a large business in short bills. The India Council raised its rate for monthly loans by one-quarter per cent.

"Discount rates rose slightly, bills being rather more offered. There was a Continental, believed to be chiefly German, demand for bar gold. It is uncertain whether the Bank of England will receive any metal this week.

"The outstanding feature of the stock markets was the heavy selling of Canadian Pacific Railway shares from the Continent. This depressed the American market, but prices closed rather above the worst, on some support from Wall Street.

"Home Government and home railway stocks showed a general decline, and foreign railway securities were flat. Peninsular and Oriental stock fell 10.

"The mining markets were comparatively steady, though prices were lower."

LONDON, March 10.—Dearer money, together with the purchase by Germany of most of the $4,500,000 new gold, offered in the open market caused firmer discount rates to-day.

The stock market was still influenced by dearer money and Berlin liquidation. The latter was responsible for a slump in Canadian Pacific and some American rails to-day, while tight money induced local dealers to reduce their commitments prior to the settlement. Mining and shipping shares and Mexican rails suffered the most and consols fell an eighth, but the market closed a shade steadier.

American securities were weak during the forenoon. Dear money and a lack of buyers to absorb the offerings, which were heavy in Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific, caused declines running from ¼ to 2½ points. Prices continued to sag in the early afternoon, but New York buying orders were received and a fair recovery followed their execution. The closing tone was steadier.

PARIS, March 10.—Prices were quiet on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 89 francs 10 centimes for the account.

BERLIN, March 10.—There was a holiday on the Boerse to-day.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Prices on the Consolidated Stock Exchange again gave way, with particularly heavy losses in the cases of Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific. An indication of the course of the market was given as early as 9:30 o'clock, when the sales on the opening call reflected general declines compared with Saturday's closings. Reading on the call was down a full point, while Amalgamated Copper was down ⅝. Smelting down ½, and United States Steel and Union Pacific each down ⅜. When it was announced later on that Gov. Sulzer would not press the bill to increase the stock transfer tax, the market rallied sharply, but the improvement did not hold. The lowest levels of the day were touched in the later trading. The dominant market influence appeared to be the disturbed European financial situation.

DIVIDENDS.

NEW YORK TRANSIT COMPANY.

New York, February 25, 1913.

A dividend of Ten Dollars per share has been declared on the Capital Stock of this Company, payable April 15, 1913, to stockholders of record at the close of business March 25, 1913.

All communications regarding payment or change of address should be sent to Mr. J. R. Fast, Assistant Secretary, not later than April 1, 1913. GEORGE CHESEBRO', Secretary.

BETHLEHEM PAYS DIVIDENDS.

Resumed with Declaration of 5 Per Cent. Rate on Preferred.

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation has resumed dividends on its $14,908,000 outstanding preferred stock with a 5 per cent. payment to be distributed in quarterly instalments in 1913. The Directors voted yesterday to make the first return to stockholders of ¼ per cent. on April 25.

The corporation discontinued dividends in February, 1907, after President Charles M. Schwab had begun to round out his policy of putting all the available earnings after the payment of interest charges into extensions and betterments. The stock is a 7 per cent. non-cumulative issue, but the full rate was paid in only one year after the corporation was incorporated in 1904.

Earnings of the Bethlehem Company have been on a high scale for the last three years. In this period the average yearly surplus applicable to dividends has amounted to about 7 per cent. on both the preferred and common stock. Since Jan. 1 it is estimated that net income has been equal to the full rate on the preferred and nearly 20 per cent. on the $14,860,000 common capitalization.

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation is the largest independent steel plant in the country, employing between 20,000 and 25,000 men. Until the manufacture of structural steel and rails was developed in recent years the company made a specialty of ordnance work.

UNFILLED ORDERS FALL OFF.

Steel Tonnage Lower in February, but Ahead of the Month Last Year.

The monthly report of unfilled orders on the books of the United States Steel Corporation, issued yesterday, showed a decline of 170,654 tons at the end of February below the January record. The total tonnage of forward business on Feb. 28 was 7,656,714 tons, in comparison with 7,827,368 tons on Jan. 31, 7,932,164 tons on Dec. 31, 7,852,883 tons at the close of November and 7,594,381 tons at the end of October. A year ago unfilled orders amounted to 5,454,200 tons, and the year before that 3,400,543 tons.

The corporation's advance business has been on a decline since last October. In that month bookings amounted to about 80,000 tons a day. January orders averaged no more than 38,000 tons daily and, in February about 35,000 tons were placed a day. It is estimated that the mills still have enough business contracted for to keep them in operation nearly at capacity until past mid-Summer.

MORE GOLD FOR BERLIN.

Speyer & Co. Say Stringency There Is Due to Industrial Expansion.

The Guaranty Trust Company will ship $250,000 gold to Europe to-day, presumably destined for Berlin. This was the only engagement for export announced in the financial district yesterday, but it is expected that Paris and Berlin will make extensive gold purchases in this city before the end of the week to aid in relieving the financial stringency abroad.

In regard to Germany's monetary situation, Speyer & Co. said yesterday that it would seem that an unnecessary alarm existed in some quarters here over the rates for money being paid in Berlin for the April settlement. A statement issued by the banking house discussed the matter in this way:

"It is a well-known fact that money rates are high all over the world, which is partly due to large expenditures for the Italian-Turkish and the Balkan wars, which have not yet been permanently financed. The Balkan situation, with its continuing uncertainties, has also resulted in a good deal of hoarding by the European public, and in a general desire of European banks to strengthen their gold reserves.

"Germany feels the general tightness of money more acutely because, as is well well known, German industry has been extremely active, and the German people have been doing a very large business compared to their capital. In order to do this large and profitable business they have relied during the last few years largely on foreign capital, a great deal, if not all, of which has gradually been withdrawn, for the reasons stated above.

"According to advices received from our Berlin friends, there is no overspeculation in stocks or real estate, and all the great banks are sound. The stringency in the money market is partly caused by industrial expansion, which, however, in a comparatively short time, should rectify itself. In fact, the whole financial situation in Germany will gradually readjust itself, especially if the political uncertainties connected with the Balkan situation disappear."

JERSEY ASSEMBLY TRICKED FOR FIELDER

Indorses Governor Unanimously "Not for a Brief Period, but for the Full Term."

LAST LINE WAS THE JOKER

The Governor Renames All the Men Wilson Appointed in Order to Insure Legality.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, March 10.—With the joker hidden in the last sentence, the Assembly this evening unanimously adopted a resolution practically indorsing the candidacy of Acting Gov. James F. Fielder for the Democratic nomination for Governor and then voted that the resolution be engrossed and sent to him.

Assemblyman A. F. McGrath of Hudson County offered the resolution, which was read by the clerk in the usual perfunctory manner. Little attention was paid to it and it was some time before the Wittpenn and Katzenbach supporters, as well as the Republican minority, realized that they had gone on record as wishing the Acting Governor well, "not for a brief period, but for the full term of the office."

This is the resolution:

> Whereas, Hon. James F. Fielder of Hudson County, President of the Senate of New Jersey, has been inaugurated and is now Governor of our great State, succeeding to the unexpired term of Hon. Woodrow Wilson, now President of the United States, and
>
> Whereas, we deem such an event one of particular importance in the history of our State, and believing as Governor Wilson himself stated in his last message to the Legislature that the duties of the Governor in the hands of Senator Fielder are in the hands of a "man of proved character, capacity, fidelity and devotion to the public service, a man of a type to which the people of the State desire their public men to conform," therefore be it
>
> Resolved, That the members of the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, in regular session assembled, congratulate the people of New Jersey upon having as their Chief Executive this man of courage who, as Gov. Wilson said in handing him the great Seal of State, will serve with conscience and not expediency and we extend our warmest greetings to Gov. James F. Fielder, wishing for him a full measure of happiness and health and strength to make use of those splendid talents and those admirable qualities of mind and heart he possesses, in giving to the people of our sovereign State, not for a brief period, but for the full term of the office, what we predict will be a most successful administration.

The Legislature did a lot of business tonight. Nine new appointments were sent to the Senate by Gov. Fielder, and all of those made by President Wilson for offices, the commissions to which were not to become effective until after he resigned, were sent in again by his successor to insure their legality.

> To be a member of the County Tax Board for the County of Cumberland—Edward H. Corson, re-appointed.
>
> To be a member of the State Board for the Equalization of Taxes—George H. Bouton of the County of Hudson, to succeed George M. McCarthy.
>
> To be a member of the County Tax Board for the County of Camden—Howard L. Miller, to succeed Irving Buckles.
>
> To be Judge of the District of the Second Judicial District of the County of Monmouth—Jacob Steinbach, Jr.
>
> To be members of the Board of Tenement House Supervision—Michael Le Brun of the County of Essex, to succeed Edwin West, Jr.; Miles W. Beemer of the County of Hudson, to succeed John Edlestein, resigned.
>
> To be Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the County of Passaic—Abram Klenert, to succeed William Hughes, resigned.
>
> To be Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the County of Morris—Joseph Hinchman, to succeed Alfred Elmer Mills.
>
> To be a member of the County Tax Board for the County of Morris—Charles A. Baker, re-appointed.

In the Senate also a resolution was adopted calling for an investigation of the untidy appearance of the New Jersey militia at the inaugural parade. The soldiers wore overcoats of different colors, and this lack of uniformity created much unfavorable comment. On some sides the Quartermaster General, C. Edward Murray, is being blamed, and a Senate Committee was named to ascertain the facts. The committee consists of Ramsay of Middlesex, Low of Ocean, Slocum of Monmouth, Edge of Atlantic, and Read of Camden. At a hearing by the Appropriations Committee the Militia Committee asked for $70,000 to buy new overcoats for the troops.

The Senate Judiciary Committee gave a hearing this afternoon on the Assembly bill forbidding restraining orders of court between employers and employes, unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property or property rights. It would make the injunction useless in the time of strike.

The principal speaker against the bill was James A. Emery of Washington, of the National Association of Manufacturers. He was introduced by J. William Foster of the New Jersey Manufacturers' Association. He said that the measure would place the manufacturers at the mercy of labor.

Mr. Kirkpatrick's hatpin bill, prohibiting a person wearing any kind of a pin or other thing in a hat which might hit, scratch, or injure a person, was lost after some merriment.

A distinct victory for the cause of the State highway system was the passage in the Senate of the Wheaton measure, allowing the building of the great bridge connecting the Ocean Boulevard from Atlantic to Cape May Counties over the Inlet.

Senator Edge of Atlantic voted for the bill. This is one of the bridges which Col. Stevens, State Road Commissioner, has approved, and its construction will continue the ocean boulevard down the coast to Cape May City without the detour inland to May's Landing and thence back to the coast.

Mr. Kerwin's bill, abolishing the State school tax heretofore annually assessed and collected upon taxable real and personal property was lost.

PLANS $1,500,000 TEMPLE.

Pittsburgh Masons to Erect Costly Modern Structure.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—The Pittsburgh Masonic bodies have announced their plans for the construction of a new $1,500,000 temple to be erected in outer Fifth Avenue, between Tennyson and Lyton Avenues. The new home for the Masonic fraternity will be, according to the architect's plans, a triumph in Grecian architecture. During the past ten years this has grown to be one of the most beautiful sections of Pittsburgh.

The new temple will be four stories in height and will be built entirely of Indiana limestone. One of the features will be a huge gymnasium, a bowling alley and a billiard parlor occupying the entire basement floor. The Blue Lodge room, which will take up the entire third floor, will be arranged like a modern theatre, thereby making it easier for the members to hear and witness the ceremonies.

The old Fifth Avenue Temple, which is to be abandoned as soon as the new home is completed, has been the home of Pittsburgh Masons since 1858.

JOHNSON SEEKS EARLY TRIAL

CHICAGO, March 10.—After three weeks' illness Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist, appeared at the Federal Building to-day to urge that his trial on a charge of smuggling a $5,000 diamond necklace into the country be set for an early date.

After this case is disposed of the prizefighter will be tried for alleged violations of the Mann act.

Robbery Near Brooklyn Headquarters

Cigar Stores Company at Jay and Fulton Street burglars early yesterday morning stole property valued at $500. The thieves rolled a safe from the store into a rear room, where they forced it open and took from it the cash receipts of the day before. They also took with them several gold watches displayed in a case with other premiums. The store is but two blocks from the Brooklyn Police Headquarters.

PATIENT GIVES FIRE ALARM.

Har Moriah Nurses, Forming Brigade, Put Out Blaze.

While lying on a cot in the surgical ward of the Har Moriah Hospital, at 138 Second Street, yesterday morning, William Watson, a patient, saw smoke coming out from beneath the door of a storeroom across the hallway.

Watson gave the alarm, and for a few minutes there was considerable excitement among the patients, not only in the surgical ward, which is on the third floor, but in two wards on the floors lower down. Nurses and hospital attendants ran among the patients, quieting and assuring them that the fire was under control, while other nurses, forming a brigade, sought to put the fire out with hand extinguishers. Policeman Arthur Cruise of the Fifth Street Station turned in an alarm and then joined the fire-fighting force that had been hastily recruited within the hospital.

Buckets of water, in addition to hand extinguishers, put the fire out before the firemen reached the hospital. A large crowd of people who saw the smoke coming out of the storeroom windows collected outside, thinking that the patients were in danger of being burned to death. The blaze, which caused a loss of $200, was caused by defective insulation in an electric wire passing through the storeroom.

HARRIET TUBMAN DYING.

Negro Woman Who Aided Hundreds of Fleeing Slaves Is 95 Years Old.

AUBURN, N. Y., March 10.—Harriet Tubman, a negro woman 95 years old, who knew Abraham Lincoln and William H. Seward and was associated with John Brown in anti-slavery work, is dying here from pneumonia. She is in the Harriet Tubman Home for Aged Negroes, which she founded with aid of Secretary Seward.

Harriet Tubman was connected with the "underground railroad" system, by which slaves were aided in fleeing the South. She is said to have piloted more than 300 slaves into Canada.

Delegation on Way to Japan Tells of the Work It Did in Honolulu.

MANY CONFERENCES HELD

Islanders Instructed in Methods of Awakening Interest in Church Activities Throughout Hawaii.

Special Correspondence THE NEW YORK TIMES.

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 10.—Interesting passengers on the Manchuria during the voyage out from Honolulu have been Fred B. Smith and Raymond Robins, and the International Quartet, who are making a 'round-the-world tour in the interest of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, in which so many prominent New York men are interested. This commission, or delegation, after a hurried tour across the continent, sailed from San Francisco on Jan. 17, and spent the week before the arrival of the Manchuria in an active campaign—the island being regarded as a sort of outpost of Christian work.

With Messrs. Smith and Robins are Paul J. Gilbert, P. H. Metcalf, C. M. Keeler, and E. W. Peck, who constitute the International Quartet, and each of whom, besides singing, has some actual work to do. James E. Lathrop is the Secretary. Lathrop's typewriter, it may be mentioned, has been working steadily during the voyage. Mr. Smith and Mr. Robins have taken an active part in the sports that have been held, and Mr. Smith was the anchor in the married men's team in the tug-of-war, which, unfortunately, lost because the bachelors wore rubber-soled shoes, and simply walked up the deck with their heavier opponents. The leaders have held meetings at which they have told about their work, and the quartet has contributed not a little to the entertainment of the ship's company.

Mr. Smith was chatting the other day about the work of the delegation in Honolulu. He professes to be much encouraged over the results. As the method employed in Honolulu is characteristic of the work the men expect to do in the journey which will take them, after short stops in Japanese cities, to Shanghai and Hongkong, and thence to Australian cities and those of South Africa before they go to London, Mr. Smith's account of what they have done is interesting.

"In Honolulu we held about fifty meetings and conferences, of which about half were educational in character," he said.

"Every afternoon we conducted a sort of school, at which the attendance was never less than 144 men, and sometimes ran up to 100 more. They simply came to sit down and study methods, and we taught with charts and diagrams.

"Of the entire work we did, about half was with the English-speaking community. A good deal of what we did in English was reproduced in Japanese, part in Korean, and part in Hawaiian.

"One of the three forms of work that we got people to commit themselves specifically to was a united campaign for boys. Much settlement work is being done in Honolulu, and we have got these various efforts to unite on one social service programme, which, I think, will be put through with tremendous effect. The big communities of Japanese, Chinese, and Portuguese have to be approached first through settlement work.

"In the second place, we inaugurated an interdenominational federation, with Bishop Resterick of the Protestant Episcopal Church at the head, which proposes to make annually a study of moral, religious, and social conditions in the City of Honolulu. A united campaign will be made, based on scientific study of what the needs are. It is true that often a lot of religious energy goes up in enthusiasm because it is not based upon data. I think there is no doubt that not another church will be built in Honolulu except by the advice of this federation This will prevent the overlapping of churches where there is no need for new ones.

"The last day in Honolulu we devoted to a sort of round-up. From noon until 2 o'clock we had a crowd of the business and professional men together for a review of the work and for a consultation as to the efforts that were to be put forth after our departure. Of course, we have dealt directly with Honolulu alone, but indirectly we have covered the Hawaiian Island. Last year we took seventy-six cities in the United States and sent teams to each. We said to one of the smaller cities like Cedar Rapids, say:

"'You should reproduce our work in the communities about you.' As a result, we have records of campaigns being conducted in 1,544 cities. Before we went to Honolulu, we wrote to those in active sympathy with the movement asking them to bring in picked men from the islands. Before leaving Honolulu I spent three hours with ten men who were starting out to reproduce our campaigns in all the towns of the Hawaiian Islands.

"Coming across the Continent, our work mainly was directed toward getting some idea of the results of our campaigns of last year—to feel the pulse, as it were. We were interested in learning what had lived. We found that in every city we visited this time, some sort of united work was being done for boys, of the kind that cannot successfully be carried on by purely denominational means. Then we found that everywhere church organizations had adopted social service and welfare work as a definite part of their curricula. There was not a city in which a vigorous form of definite welfare work was not being done by the churches. This partly has led me to a conviction that the time is not far distant when it shall be regarded as a scandal for a church to do no more of Christian work than to hold preaching and prayers.

"The time will come, in my opinion, when a big church edifice will not be permitted to remain empty and idle, as so many do in New York, for the greater part of the week. Great church properties where millions are invested will be required to give some return to the community. If they don't get into active service they'll be smoked out.

"What surprised me most, in my trip across to San Francisco, is that, so far as we could make an estimate, Bible study for men and boys practically has doubled in twelve months. I had been contending that every church ought to have a strongly organized Bible study department, and I was interested to know whether my advice would be taken seriously. One difficulty all along in getting men and boys interested in Bible study is that the book has not been taught with masculine emphasis. When this is done, then it is not difficult to get men and boys interested."

TEAR DOWN QUEENS SIGNS.

Objectionable Advertising Removed by Highways Protective Society.

The National Highways Protective Society announced yesterday that the Borough of Queens had been cleared of highway advertising that defaced many trees and spoiled the scenic effect of the highways. Hundreds of signs were torn down by the police.

Secretary Edward C. Cornell said that the society would next clean up Suffolk and Nassau Counties. Westchester County was nearly clear of all highway advertising, of an unlawful kind, he asserted.

Associate City Superintendent Stevens, at the meeting of the Board of Superintendents on Thursday, will probably name his choice for successor to the late Harry Towle, as Principal of Curtis High School, New Brighton, S. I. The person thus named will, in all probability, be nominated for that position by the Board of Superintendents.

The second annual luncheon of the association of assistants to principals will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria at 1 P. M. on March 29. Among the invited guests are City Superintendent Maxwell, District Superintendent Grace C. Strachan, Senator James A. Foley, President Thomas W. Church, all of the Board of Education, and Assemblyman Ralph McKee.

The Parents' Association of the Glenwood Road School will hold a meeting in the auditorium of the school this evening.

A reception will be tendered to District Superintendent Grace C. Strachan by the Association of Women Principals of Public Schools at the Hotel St. Regis on the evening of March 29.

The Interborough Association of Women Teachers will be well represented at the Joint Cities Committees' hearing on the McKee bills at Albany this evening. # THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Otto Kahn Sells Plot to Dr. James on 70th Street Near Fifth Avenue—Liberty Street Deal—$800,000 Mortgage on Gallatin House—Buyers for Tenements.

Otto H. Kahn has sold the 41-foot plot forming the Seventieth Street frontage of the large lot he bought some time ago in the old Lenox Library block. It has been purchased by Dr. Walter B. James, who now lives at 17 West Fifty-fourth Street, and the new owner intends to erect a fine residence on the property, which will be the largest dwelling on an inside lot thus far built in the block. Henry D. Winans & May were the brokers.

The plot acquired by Dr. James is 200 feet east of Fifth Avenue, on the north side of Seventieth Street. It adjoins on the west the residence of Mrs. Marion P. Brookman, which adjoins the large Henry C. Frick plot embracing the entire Fifth Avenue frontage and on which Mr. Frick's new residence is now being erected. The asking price for this 41-foot lot has been $250,000. It abuts Mr. Kahn's 50-foot lot on the south side of Seventy-first Street adjoining the Frick holdings.

The Lenox Library plot contains some of the handsomest modern residences in the city. Recently renewed activity has been directed to this desirable residential block. A few weeks ago one of the Luyster houses on the south side of Seventy-first Street was sold to Julius Kayser, and last Saturday Winans & May sold the vacant lot, 22.6 feet front, adjoining the Chesebrough house on the southwest corner of Madison Avenue and Seventy-first Street.

The brokers announced yesterday that the same buyer has bought the adjoining lot to the west, also 22.6 feet, giving him a 45-foot lot on which he is about to erect a large residence from plans by C. P. H. Gilbert.

Liberty Street Purchase.

A Liberty Street purchase, which furnished the chief element of activity in the lower downtown section, was made yesterday by the Andrew C. Zabriskie estate, which acquired the property at 133 Liberty Street, adjoining the northeast corner of Washington and Liberty Streets, owned by the same estate. With this latest acquisition the Zabriskie corner now fronts 90.2 on Liberty Street and 51 on Washington Street.

The transaction was the result of two quick sales. It was first sold by the Henry T. Coe estate to Mrs. Mary T. Denovan, who immediately resold it to the Zabriskie estate. The lot fronts 25.6 feet on Liberty Street and has an irregular depth and line, being 94.9. It is covered with a four-story building.

$800,000 Mortgage on Gallatin Corner.

Michael Dreicer, who took title in the name of the Dreicer Realty Company yesterday to the old Gallatin home on the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third Street, gave back to Mrs. Almy G. Gallatin a mortgage of $800,000. It is to run to April 8, 1918, at 4½ per cent. The plot is 50.5 by 100, and is to be improved by two six-story commercial structures.

The Private Dwelling Market.

The estate of John L. Rogers has sold to William Brown 123 West 131st Street, a three-story dwelling on a lot 18 by 99.11.

Mrs. M. Walther has purchased through Goodwin & Goodwin 395 Manhattan Avenue, a three-story private dwelling on a lot 18 by 50 by 100.

Kurz & Uren, Incorporated, have sold for Thomas H. Roff the northwest corner of 127th Street and Madison Avenue, a four-story and basement private dwelling.

F. M. Jencks has sold to Albert G. Ropes 45 West Seventy-fifth Street, a four-story dwelling on a lot 21 by 102.2 feet. Hugh L. Mooney was the broker.

Tenement Properties Sold.

The D. H. Jackson Company has sold to Charles B. Van Vallen 342 West Eighteenth Street, a five-story double flat on lot 25 by 92, and has also sold to the same buyer 446 and 448 West Nineteenth Street, two four-story double flats, with stores, on plot 50 by 92. CALIFORNIA—FOR SALE. CALIFORNIA—FOR SALE.

Make Big Profits in CALIFORNIA

In the fertile Sacramento Valley in California is the most productive soil on the continent. One acre there has the productive value of ten Eastern acres. Everything grows—as soon as one crop is harvested, the ground is ready for another—several different crops a year being the rule.

Nowhere else is there land like this.

Here the Kuhn Interests, of Pittsburgh, have recently opened up one of their largest irrigation enterprises. This is the land for you. The climate rivals that of Southern Italy. Oranges and other fruits ripen weeks earlier than in Los Angeles r Riverside.

You can secure one of these farms on remarkably easy terms. Make your home where fortunes are being made from small fruit farms—where every man is his own boss—where frosts, droughts, ice and snow are unknown—where the sunshine makes the oranges, figs, lemons and berries grow almost every day of the year. Where alfalfa produces from 8 to 10 tons per acre.

This is where the land works for you. This is your opportunity to win. A handsome illustrated book entitled "California, Now or Never," which tells all about it, and of the success won by others in this very district, will be sent you. Send for this book to-day or call and see us.

ARBITRATORS BEGIN WITH FIREMEN'S SIDE

Rates of Pay on Western Roads Offered as a Basis for Increase on Eastern Lines.

OPPOSING PARTIES FRIENDLY

First Witness Tells of His Work on Twentieth Century Limited from Elkhart, Ind., to Chicago.

Arbitration of the demands of the 30,000 firemen on the fifty-four Eastern railroads, which the railroad officials say would add more than $10,000,000 a year to their payrolls, was begun yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria. The arbitration is under the Erdman act and differs in several respects from that of the engineers' demands last Summer by the board headed by Oscar S. Straus.

It was the insistence of the firemen on this different procedure that all but caused a strike, as both sides were willing to arbitrate, but the railroads held out till the last minute for a similar commission. They argued that the Straus Board, made up of five laymen and one representative each of the roads and the men, was better qualified to consider the interests of the public, which ultimately pays the freight, than a board of three, as provided by the Erdman act, only one of whom represents the public.

The employes contended it was important that witnesses should be examined under oath, as some of the statistics presented by the roads in the engineers' case were seriously questioned. When a strike had been voted and the time limit had nearly expired the railroads yielded.

Another difference between the present arbitration and that in the engineers' case is that under the Erdman act the board must report within thirty days, which time will be up on April 2, while the Straus Board spent several months in hearing witnesses, reaching its conclusion and making its report.

The board that met yesterday at the Waldorf consists of W. W. Atterbury, Vice President of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Albert A. Phillips, Vice-President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and William L. Chambers, formerly Chief Justice of the International Court in Samoa and a member of the Spanish Claims Commission. Messrs. Atterbury and Phillips, representing the two parties to the dispute, were unable to agree on the third member of the board and Judge Chambers was appointed by the Chief Justice of the Commerce Court and the Commissioner of Labor.

W. S. Carter, President of the brotherhood, began the presentation of the case for the men, and Elisha Lee, assistant to the General Manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad and Chairman of the Conference Committee of Managers, will act in a similar capacity for the roads. They represented the two parties in the negotiations the failure of which made arbitration necessary, but their friendly attitude toward each other yesterday led Judge Chambers to remark that he hoped the same good feeling would prevail throughout the proceedings.

"Down in Georgia," he said, "where blood runs hot, I once had to suspend a hearing in an arbitration proceeding."

"Neither of us carries a gun," said Mr. Carter.

"I have observed that where they carry guns they are more careful what they say," said Judge Chambers.

The plan is for each side to complete its case in one week, and matters moved expeditiously yesterday. Mr. Carter, in opening, spoke briefly. He said neither he nor his associates pretended to any legal knowledge. He referred to the men's demands as "requests" throughout, and said they had been put at a minimum.

"What we are asking," he said, "we believe to be just, and we shall present our claims, not as a basis for a compromise, but as the least we are entitled to."

Rely on Western Rates.

Samuel E. Steinberger, chief clerk in the central office of the brotherhood at Peoria, was the first witness. He had made up an exhibit comparing the rates and rules asked by the firemen with those now in force on roads in the Eastern district and in the Western district. It was made apparent as the hearing proceeded that the firemen relied chiefly on the Western rates to justify their demands in the East.

Each phase of the demands was taken up with Mr. Steinberger, and he was asked to show on what Eastern roads they were already in force and then to compare them with Western schedules. His tables showed that wages on the Western roads were practically all higher than in the East, that most of the Western roads paid the same for miscellaneous service as for through freight work, and that overtime was paid in the West after eight hours, instead of ten hours, as in the East. Several Eastern roads and many Western roads, he said, paid on the basis of five hours for a day's work instead of ten, which is not asked for in the present demands. The same was true of pay for time after fifteen hours that a man is held away from his home terminal, which is asked for. The Western roads, he said, relieved the firemen of cleaning engines in 1907, but most of the Eastern roads required it. Roads in both districts had relieved them of putting supplies on engines and filling lubricators, which the men want made universal.

"Then, in respect to practically every request made," said Mr. Carter, "you find it already in force on some of the roads, with the exception of double overtime for initial and terminal delay."

Mr. Steinberger said this was the case. The terminal delay rule is proposed not with a view to obtaining more pay, but to induce the railroads to arrange matters to prevent such delay.

Mr. Steinberger figured out averages of the pay received by firemen on different classes of engines, according to weight on drivers, in both the East and the West, and against this Mr. Carter set the demands now made, showing that they were based on the Western rates, but were a little lower. The figures were as follows:

PASSENGER SERVICE

| Size of engine. | Eastern wages. | Western wages. | Wages asked. |
|---|---|---|---|
| From 80,000 to 100,000... | 2.34 | 2.67 | 2.65 |
| From 100,000 to 140,000... | 2.38 | 2.83 | 2.80 |
| From 140,000 to 170,000... | 2.44 | 3.03 | 3.00 |
| From 170,000 to 200,000... | .. | 3.21 | 3.20 |
| From 200,000 to 250,000... | .. | 3.48 | 3.35 |
| From 250,000 to 300,000... | .. | 3.90 | 3.60 |
| From 300,000 to 350,000... | .. | 3.90 | 3.80 |
| From 350,000 to 400,000... | .. | 4.00 | 4.00 |

FREIGHT SERVICE.

| Size of engine. | Eastern wages. | Western wages. | Wages asked. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Under 80,000 pounds ..... | $2.67 | $3.04 | $2.80 |
| From 80,000 to 100,000... | 2.73 | 3.05 | 3.00 |
| From 100,000 to 140,000... | 2.79 | 3.21 | 3.20 |
| From 140,000 to 170,000... | 2.87 | 3.38 | 3.35 |
| From 170,000 to 200,000... | 2.93 | 3.53 | 3.50 |
| From 200,000 to 250,000... | 3.00 | 3.66 | .. |
| From 250,000 to 300,000... | 3.31 | 3.92 | .. |

In the passenger table no Eastern wages are given for the largest engines. They are seldom used in passenger service and no rates are fixed in Eastern schedules, but Western schedules provide for them. No rate is given in the schedule asked for the largest engines in freight service, as on these the demand is for two firemen, each to receive $3.50 a day.

Mr. Steinberger said these averages had been made up without information as to the proportion of small and large engines on each road, but as the same basis had been used for both East and West he believed they were substantially accurate as showing the relative difference. Mr. Lee, in cross-examining him, emphasized this admitted defect of entire accuracy and said the railroads would put in an exhibit based on the actual number of engines of different sizes used.

Twentieth Century Run.

James Walter Locke of Elkhart, Ind., now an engineer on the Lake Shore, but formerly a fireman, was called to testify as to the conditions under which firemen worked. It developed that for eight months he had been fireman on the Twentieth Century Limited between Elkhart and Chicago.

"Firemen are called," he said, "two hours in freight service and three hours in passenger service before the time for the departure of the train. For freight service they are required to report for duty one hour before the leaving time. This time is needed for them to put on their wearing apparel for the engine, draw supplies, oil cans, tools, signal appliances, and lanterns, and to fill the lubricators and gauge lights.

"Trains, however, do not start at the time scheduled, and there is usually a delay of from half an hour to four hours. It will average two hours or three hours from the time of reporting for duty. For this time there is no pay if the trip is completed within ten hours, including this delay. If there was rule requiring the road to pay a penalty for this delay I believe firemen would be relieved of this sort of work. It would be done by cheaper men, such as the roundhouse helpers."

"Then the only reason the firemen do it is because they do it for nothing?" asked Mr. Carter.

"That is my belief."

Mr. Locke told of the duties of a fireman after beginning the run, seeing that the boiler had water, watching for signals and shoveling coal to an extent that he described as "almost a continuous performance." On the Twentieth Century run from Elkhart to Chicago, consuming about two hours, he shoveled between 7 and 8 tons of coal, he said. From the time he reported for duty until he was relieved the average time was five hours. On a freight train the fireman shoveled from 1 to 1¼ tons an hour. In a period of 33 hours, the fireman was away from home 23 hours, including running time. He had to pay for a room and four meals at an expense of about $2 out of $7.66 received for the run both ways. After a round trip he was almost physically exhausted.

The hearings will continue at 9:30 this morning.

LAST CALL OUT FOR SUBWAY OPPONENTS

Board of Estimate Will Listen To-day to All Objections to the New Contracts.

MORE THIRD-TRACKING DELAY

Board Won't Act on Agreement Until Manhattan-Interborough Squabble Has Been Worked Out.

The last opportunity of those who oppose the dual subway system will be afforded to-day at the public hearing on the contracts and certificates before the Board of Estimate. It will begin at 10:30 o'clock and will be continued till all who desire to speak have been heard, but it is not intended that the board shall take action immediately, as the new certificate for the third-tracking of the elevated roads in Manhattan and the Bronx by the Interborough has not yet been passed upon by the Public Service Commission and the city authorities are not disposed to consider the subway settlement with one of its links missing.

A public hearing on the Interborough's application for the certificate has been set for Saturday, when any objections on legal or other grounds may be suggested, and till that has been done and the Public Service Commission has approved the certificate the Board of Estimate will not vote on any part of the agreement.

This will mean that a meeting of the board will be called for one of the days at the beginning of next week, perhaps Monday, to finally adopt the dual subway system. There is no doubt that there will be a majority for the contracts, and there will then only remain the formal execution of the contracts and certificates with the companies.

One week's delay on the part of the Board of Estimate, it was gathered yesterday, was not dictated merely by a scruple. There was more in the refusal to act on the proposed agreement with the third tracking certificate missing than the desire to have all the documents in the case in hand at one time. There were possibilities in the dispute between the Manhattan Railway Company and the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, which the city wished to see eliminated before it puts its own seal to the bargain.

So far there has been little progress made in the attempt of Mr. Gould and the Manhattan Directors to obtain some concession from Mr. Shonts and the Interborough on account of the third tracking of the elevated railroads. Negotiations have been proceeding actively between Mr. Shonts and the committee appointed by the Manhattan Board, but they have not yet reached a progressive stage. The Interborough, it is known, is in no position to buy up the 85,000 Manhattan shares held by the Gould interests at 175 or any other figure, but it is believed that Mr. Gould would be willing to reverse his policy of withholding the assent of the Manhattan to the action of the Interborough if he could get $500,000 or some other share of the profits of the third tracks passed on to the Manhattan. Mr. Shonts is not likely to agree to any revision of the lease of the elevated railroad without a great deal of persuasion.

The city has, of course, no interest in the terms of the arrangement between the Manhattan and the Interborough, but it does consider the third tracking of the elevated as an essential part of the subway arrangement. So it will hold off to give the companies time to work out a compromise between themselves. Next week public hearings before the commission will have been held on both the third-tracking agreement for the Manhattan and for the Interborough, and either of them could be taken up and made part of the settlement, as might at that time seem advisable.

Moreover, it was pointed out yesterday that even if it is the Interborough's certificate which is approved finally, it does not follow that if a compromise with the Manhattan is struck later, that company will be cut out of the arrangement with the city. A clause will be inserted in the certificate by which the Interborough may assign, with the permission of the city, its rights to some other organization, so that if the Interborough should default, the possibility to which the objections of the Manhattan had especial reference, Mr. Gould's company would find itself entitled to all the privileges, which its lessee enjoys from the city.

The Board of Estimate is steeling itself to listen this morning to the storm of protests which were heard by the Public Service Commission two or three weeks ago. It is not, however, likely that the objectors will have everything their own way. President McAneny and other members feel that sufficient publicity has been given to wild statements without any attempt to answer them, and it is probable that any one who makes an exaggerated assault on the subway settlement will be called promptly and sharply to book and will be asked to prove on the spot that his statements have anything more than rhetoric and prejudice to back them up.

NEW WOMEN'S STRIKE STARTS WITH 10,000

Dressmakers Drawn Into Fight to Force One Standard for All Cities.

TO SPREAD UNION IDEA

Flying Brigade of Organizers to Travel from One City to Another, Wherever Garments Are Made.

With the University Settlement in Rivington Street as one of the headquarters and the Labor Temple in Fourteenth Street as another, about 10,000 of the 20,000 girls and women employed in the children's dressmaking trade went out on strike yesterday. The strike order was issued by the Children's and Misses' Dressmakers' Union with the sanction of the International Garment Workers' Union, with which the local body had recently become affiliated.

The strike was frankly declared by its leaders to be a propagandist one, stirred up by professional agitators for the purpose of spreading the union idea.

It was expected that all of the 20,000 workers, among whom the union organizers began to work a month ago, would heed the call for a general strike. While there was disappointment that only half of the workers responded, it was asserted that squads of pickets, who would go on duty this morning, would bring out 5,000 more and that by the end of the week the remaining 5,000 workers would be out. The girls who quit left their shops an hour before closing time.

To their employers' inquiries why they were striking and what demands they were making the girls replied that the employers would have to see the organizers. All they knew, they said, was that a general strike order had come and they were quitting work to obey it.

The employers, of whom there are about 200 in lower Manhattan and Brooklyn, with fifty more scattered through Harlem and the Bronx, were not prepared for the strike. After their employes had marched to the headquarters at the Labor Temple and the University Settlement, the employers held a meeting. They formed an organization and named a committee to treat with the union leaders.

Saul Elstein, organizer of the industry, assembled those who came to the Labor Temple in the main auditorium, where he harangued them for an hour as to their duties to the newly formed union. He urged those on strike to insist, especially when on picket duty, on "picking no quarrels, doing no violence, and behaving in a peaceable and non-provoking manner."

The great strikes of the past two years among garment workers, Elstein said, had resulted in a general improvement in the large cities. There were joint sanitary boards of control, a union wage scale, union recognition, and abolition of tenement work.

The result of this condition, he said, was that a great hardship had been inflicted upon the employers, who were affected by the agreements. Competitors in the smaller centres were able to go ahead under the old conditions, he said, and so they could fatten at the cost of the more liberal manufacturers.

"We could easily see," said Elstein, "that it was only a question of time when we had to standardize conditions in every city or lose all we had won in the cities we have standardized. What does that mean? It means that to-day the workers are striking here in the only needle industry where tenement work, sub-contracting, work in foul factory buildings, and other evils persist. It means that to-morrow the same flying brigade of trained and experienced organizers who worked up this strike will go to work in Philadelphia or Boston or San Francisco. It means [illegible] set of demands for the [illegible] strike in every part of the Nation will be called until all parts reach the common standard we demand."

Many charges were made against the Factory Commissioner by strike leaders. They insisted that if they could force an investigation they would be able to prove that Factory Inspectors had grossly neglected their duties and permitted the manufacture of children's clothes in dark tenements and in mere hovels passing under the name of factories.

Among the demands formulated by the union leaders are a fifty-hour week, a 20 per cent. increase in wages, the abolition of sub-contracting, union recognition, and the abolition of tenement work. The union leaders promised the strikers that they would be sure of a victory by Saturday. Representatives of the employers said they felt sure that the disposition of the employers would be to hold conferences looking to mediation or arbitration.

3,000 CLOAKMAKERS BACK.

One-Quarter of Boston Garment Strikers Agree with Employers.

BOSTON, March 10.—The differences between the cloak and skirt manufacturers and their striking employes were adjusted to-day. These strikers, who number about 3,000, or about one-quarter of of all the garment workers now on strike, are expected to return to the shops to-morrow.

The basis for the settlement is the preferential union shop and joint board of sanitary control plan. Twenty-eight of the largest cloak and skirt manufacturers in Boston belong to the Manufacturers' Association that signed the settlement agreement.

Arrest 29 Striking Garment Workers

Twenty-nine striking garment workers were arrested in front of Smith, Gray & Co.'s factory and store at Broadway and Bedford Avenue, Williamsburg, yesterday morning. The strikers stood in front of the factory and hooted and jeered the strike breakers until the firm telephoned to the police. All were arraigned in the Manhattan Avenue Court before Magistrate Naumer, charged with being public nuisances. They were held for a hearing.

SUIT AGAINST UNIONS UP.

Charges of Damaging Postal Wires in Strike Filed by Government.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Detailed charges of damages caused by the cutting of cables and by other methods were made in affidavits of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company of Illinois, filed with Federal Judge Carpenter this morning in the Government's suit against local unions Nos. 9 and 134, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. The papers were filed in support of a motion by District Attorney Wilkerson for a temporary injunction. Arguments on this motion were deferred until to-morrow.

President Edgar Collins of the Illinois corporation in his affidavit recites the strike which took place in October and subsequent threats of warfare made by leaders of the unions. He said the union men "injected acid into the cables and cut holes in lead casings, allowing water to penetrate and do great damage to the property of the company."

Other affidavits were filed by Edwin S. Williams, Superintendent; Thomas N. Powers, chief operator, and Fred P. Phillips, general foreman.

Over 100 specific cases of damaged telegraph wires and cables were set forth.

TO MOVE ELEVATED TRACKS.

Plan to Take Structure from Alongside Brooklyn Borough Hall.

A plan is on foot for the removal of the elevated railroad tracks alongside the Borough Hall in Fulton Street, Brooklyn. To accommodate the traffic which now uses these lines, it is proposed to widen Adams Street enough to take in four railroad lines.

Ex-Public Service Commissioner Edward M. Bassett, Borough President Steers, Public Works Commissioner Pounds and Major J. W. Tunbridge of Brooklyn called yesterday on Borough President McAneny as Chairman of the Board of Estimate's Transit Committee to discuss the proposal with him.

LODI WORKERS FEAR HAYWOOD'S THREATS

He Called Last Saturday on the Silk Workers to Force the Dyers to Go Out on Strike.

FACTORIES ARE GUARDED

Detectives and Deputies Patrol the Nearby Streets—Paterson Newspapers Denounced.

Sixty special detectives patroled the main streets between Garfield and Lodi, N. J., yesterday, and a large number of Deputy Sheriffs was marshaled at the United Pierce Dye Works in Lodi to guard against trouble should the silk strikers of Paterson follow the advice of William Haywood, chief organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, in a speech which he made to 10,000 strikers at Haledon Park, near Paterson, on Saturday.

"We will have a new flag, an international flag," Haywood said. "We will take the flags of every nation, dip them in a common dye pot and take them out together. Then you will get a flag of one color—the red flag, the color of the workingman's blood. Under that we will march.

"We will form one big parade, march to Lodi, and call out all those dyers still at work. We will have one international hymn, the Italian hymn, and, headed by a German band and an American fife and drum corps, we will go to Lodi and get those workers out to keep the red flag of Socialism flying."

The Lodi dyers, it is said, do not want to strike, and will be forced from their jobs only by intimidation. Under Sheriff Heath and Deputy Sheriff Conklin visited the plants at Lodi and Dundee Lake yesterday, and saw to it that arrangements were perfected to give the Paterson strikers a warm reception should they march on the towns.

In Paterson everything was quiet yesterday, though most of the mill hands had gone on strike on Saturday. Strikers visited the big department stores, the street railway men, and other workers, striving to work up sympathetic strikes. They met with no success, however. Patrick Quinlan, a labor leader now out on bail, on the charge of having incited a riot, addressed a large body of strikers in Turn Hall, Paterson, yesterday, and advised them to boycott the newspapers and their advertisers. The local newspapers were unfair to the strikers, he said, and did not deserve support.

In Trenton 100 men went on strike in the Monument Pottery and thirty girls quit work at the Trent Tile Company plant. Other walkouts are feared.

IN NEW JERSEY.

NEWARK.—Alene Trainor, 18 months old of 446 Central Avenue, fell from a third story window and was injured. She struck a ledge over a window on the first floor and bounded onto some muddy earth.

NEWARK.—Because the jury panel was not to his liking, County Prosecutor Mott, moved before Judge Martin, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, the postponement until March 24 of the trial of Antonio Fiore, indicted as an accomplice of Madeleine Ciccone, who is under sentence of death for the murder of her husband, Leonardo Ciccone.

HACKENSACK.—Fifteen children were rescued from a burning home on Hackensack Avenue. The families were those of Rev. J. W. Adamson and Mrs. Lottie Martin, both colored. William Wilson, a member of the Fairmount Chemical Company, fell while trying to jump on the apparatus and the engine passed over him. He was removed to the Hackensack Hospital with an injury to his spine.

SPRINGFIELD.—Workmen excavating for a new house here, near the cemetery where the soldiers who fell in the battle of Springfield in the Revolution [illegible] skulls.

CARUSO AGAIN ON STAND.

Blackmailing Letters Written by Another, Antonio Cincotto's Defense.

Enrico Caruso, the singer, again testified yesterday at the trial of Antonio Cincotto before Judge Fawcett, in the County Court, Brooklyn, one of the two Italians indicted for sending blackmailing letters to the opera star and trying to extort $15,000 from him. Mr. Caruso was the first witness called, and the line of defense taken by Thomas C. Whitlock, counsel for Cincotto, was that the letters the defendant was accused of sending to the singer were sent by another.

The attorney tried to bring out an admission from Mr. Caruso that the trial of a man in Milan for extortion, which occurred some time after the singer received the threatening letters in this city in March, 1910, was the outcome of a threat made to Mr. Caruso while he was in Manhattan, and before he went to Europe in April, 1910. Questions relating to what Mr. Caruso did in the Milan case were ruled out by Judge Fawcett. Mr. Caruso was not permitted to say whether he knew in New York in March, 1910, the man he afterward prosecuted in Milan, or whether he had a conversation with this man about March, 1910.

"Did you talk with a man in New York shortly prior to the receipt of the letters here in evidence in which he made certain demands upon you, and told you that if his demands were not complied with he would make trouble for you?" asked Mr. Whitlock.

"I did not speak personally to a man, but some lawyer wrote to me, saying I should pay money to a man," replied Mr. Caruso.

"Was this letter from the lawyer received shortly prior to the letters offered here in evidence?"

"Yes, about fifteen days before," answered the singer.

Before court closed for the day Assistant District Attorney Caldwell and Mr. Whitlock summed up. Judge Fawcett will charge the jury when court opens this morning, and the jury will probably reach a verdict in the afternoon.

PICKPOCKET SCARE ON TRAIN.

Passenger Misses His Watch and a Fight Follows.

Pickpockets working on a crowded elevated train on Broadway, Williamsburg, yesterday morning caused great excitement among the passengers. Several women in the car fainted and Dr. Faske, from the Eastern District Hospital, was called to revive them.

Just as the train was pulling into the Marcy Avenue station, Joseph Onimus of 415 West Fifth Street, Manhattan, discovered his watch, which he valued at $40, was missing. He shouted that pickpockets were on the train, and seized two men who were trying to crowd out of the car. Women screamed when the men fought back, and the motorman blew his whistle for assistance.

Detective Comiskey, who was in the neighborhood, boarded the train and locked up the two men on Onimus's complaint. The men said they were Louis Flax, a cabinet maker, of 672 New Jersey Avenue, and Isadore Delmer, a tailor, of 165 Norfolk Street. The watch was not found, but the two men were held by Magistrate Naumer in the Manhattan Avenue Court.
